Annual Hayden Library Spring Book Sale

— Friends of The Community Library Network —

The annual Friends of the Community Library Network Spring Book Sale will be held at the Hayden Library on Friday, April 26th from 3pm-7pm and Saturday, April 27th from 10am to 3pm.

A wide variety of genres will be available. Fact, fiction, history, literature, cooking, etc. In addition, this sale will offer a large inventory of Native American history and culture, railroad, aircraft, sailing, home improvement, photography, equine, quilting and special, rare collectible books. We have recently received sets of "Great Courses" and "Great Books." All books are in excellent, clean condition.

The Friends support children, teen and adult programs at local libraries in the Community Library Network. We thank library patrons who have donated books throughout the years to support library programs.

Please drop by, browse, buy and support our libraries.

Purchasing a Portable AC? Keep These Tips in Mind

— Statepoint —

(StatePoint) With scorching summer temperatures here, a cautionary tale unfolds for those in search of a portable AC unit to beat the heat. Enticing promises and clever marketing tactics make it easy to fall prey to the pitfalls that await unsuspecting buyers. Here's how to be a savvy shopper:

- Ratings: Be aware that a higher advertised BTU rating doesn't always guarantee a cooler paradise. Crafty sellers may advertise more BTUs than the product's actual performance, but buyers beware. The truth lies in making sure you are matching the Department of Energy's (DOE) BTU rating to your room's square footage according to the DOE guidelines. When shopping online or in-store, be sure to check the fine print for the certified DOE rated BTU level for correct coverage – and if you don't see this information listed, stay away! A free online BTU calculator can help you choose wisely.
- Certification: Manufacturers are quick to parade their products with proclamations of excellence. Don't let smooth talkers lure you in with mere claims and great prices. Insist on reviewing the product's energy guide for the actual BTU rating. Also, make sure the portable AC you are interested in is authenticated by credible third-party organizations. This indicates it has met or exceeded performance standards.
- Type: Before making a decision between window ACs or portable units, determine which type best suits your needs and the room before making a purchase. As a general rule, portable units can be easier to install and more versatile.
- Noise: Whether you're sensitive to noise or simply don't prefer to hear the sound of a motor running, check the unit's decibel (dB) rating. It's one easy-to-ignore specification that can make a huge difference. The good news? Cool interiors and ultra-quiet performance can co-exist, if you shop around.

In addition to purchasing a great portable AC unit, proper maintenance can help ensure it runs smoothly and efficiently. Periodically remove the filter from the unit and dust it, and clean debris from inside the unit with compressed air. A few lifestyle changes can also contribute to a cooler, more comfortable home. These changes include avoiding the stove and oven on super-hot days, planting shade-bearing trees or bushes outside windows, and swapping out incandescent bulbs for energy efficient LEDs.

Navigating a sea of misleading product claims can be exhausting, particularly when it comes to buying the equipment you need to keep your home and family comfortable in extreme weather. However, when it comes to a cool home, you don't have to sweat it. A bit of research can help you achieve optimal comfort this summer.

$20,000 REWARD FOR missing Bible text to anyone who can find where in the King James Bible it tells anyone to observe Sunday as God's appointed day of rest, or worship. According to God, and your calendar, Sunday is the 1st day of the week. It is the first day of work, just like Monday, Tuesday, etc. God blessed and made Holy only one day of the week, for the rest of worship, and that day is Saturday, the 7th day Sabbath (Genesis 2:2, 3). Yes, Jesus Christ's resurrection happened on Sunday, but He never told anyone to honor that day, nor did any of the 12 apostles did, either. In fact, there is absolutely no one in all the Bible that observed Sunday, in honor of Christ's resurrection. And when people study the Bible, they will find Satan set up Sunday to be observed as his day of rest and worship, in opposition because the 7th day Sabbath (Saturday) is God's appointed sign of loyalty (Ezekiel 20:12, 20), while Sunday is Satan's sign of loyalty. ## Learn CPR as a Life-Saving Skill

- Family Features -

While many Americans agree Conventional CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) or Hands-Only CPR (HOCPR) significantly improve a person's chance of survival from cardiac arrest, less than half are confident they can perform either Conventional CPR or HOCPR in an emergency.

Black or Hispanic adults who experience cardiac arrest outside a hospital setting are substantially less likely to receive lifesaving care from a bystander. In spite of these survey results, the American Heart Association is working to change this by empowering members of these communities to learn lifesaving CPR, and a growing segment of respondents are willing to act in an emergency.

The American Heart Association's 2023 survey also revealed that as a result of the organization's efforts to change attitudes about performing CPR, which can lead to lifesaving results, more than half of African Americans said they would be willing to perform CPR in an emergency compared to 37% two years ago. Additionally, Hispanic and Latino respondents are more confident in their abilities to perform CPR.

Committed to turning a nation of bystanders into lifesavers, the American Heart Association's multiyear initiative, Nation of Lifesavers, helps teens and adults learn how to perform CPR and use an automated external defibrillator (AED); share that knowledge with friends and family; and engage employers, policymakers, philanthropists and others to create support for a nation of lifesavers.

"Each of us has the power in our own hands to respond to a sudden cardiac arrest," said Anezi Uzen-du, M.D., American Heart Association expert volunteer. "We simply need to know what to do and have the confidence to act."

The long-term goal: to ensure that in the face of a cardiac emergency, anyone, anywhere is prepared and empowered to perform CPR and become a vital link in the chain of survival, aiming to double the survival rate of cardiac arrest victims by 2030. It takes just 90 seconds to learn how to save a life using HOCPR, which can be equally as effective as traditional CPR in the first few minutes of cardiac arrest.

Nationally supported by the Elevance Health Foundation, the American Heart Association's HOCPR campaign is focused on chest compression-only CPR. If a teen or adult suddenly collapses due to a cardiac event, you can take two steps to save a life: immediately call emergency services and use these tips to begin performing HOCPR.

1. Position yourself directly over the victim.
2. Put the heel of one hand in the center of the chest and put your other hand on top of the first.
3. Push hard and fast in the center of the chest at a rate of 100-120 beats per minute, which is about the same tempo as the song "Stayin' Alive" by the Bee Gees, and at a depth of approximately 2 inches.
4. Continue compressions and use an AED, if available, until emergency help arrives.

To learn more about how you could be the difference between life and death for someone experiencing a cardiac event, visit Heart.org/nation.

Draw Results Available For Spring Turkey Controlled Hunts

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

Spring turkey controlled hunt draw results are available now.

The results have been posted through Fish and Game's licensing system, GoOutdoorsIdaho.com. Hunters can check their GoOutdoorsIdaho account to view their controlled hunt tags draw results for spring turkey. Email notifications will be sent to those who provided an email address on their profile.

Hunters who were successful in the draw can purchase the controlled hunt tag through their GoOutdoorsIdaho customer account, at any Fish and Game regional office location, at any license vendor location or by calling 1-800-554-8685. Tags purchased online or over the phone will include an additional convenience fee and will be mailed to the mailing address on file. Any exchanges of tags must be completed at a Fish and Game office.

It is the responsibility of hunters to find out their draw results for hunts. Those with a valid email address on file will receive an email with their results status.

The new 2024-25 turkey seasons and bag limits are available online. Please refer to the online brochure for all current spring controlled hunts, seasons and bag limits.

Additional spring turkey hunting opportunities

For those who didn't draw a controlled hunt tag, there are still turkey hunting opportunities to be had in many areas of the state, including the spring youth turkey hunt and the general spring season.

Hunters may also participate in the tag sale for any leftover spring turkey controlled hunt tags on March 25, at 10 a.m. MDT.

4 Savvy Steps Toward Grocery Store Savings

— Family Features —

Whether you live alone or have multiple mouths to feed each day, grocery bills can add up. It's an inevitable expense for everyone, but there are tried-and-true ways to limit your spending and put money back in your pocket.

It all starts by considering the number of meals you need to make each week and creating a flexible menu. Ask family members to help brainstorm recipe ideas for the week then take inventory of ingredients you already have on hand. When it's time to head to the store, consider these financially savvy tips to avoid overspending.

Stick to Your List

It may sound obvious, but avoiding impulse purchases is one of the easiest ways to save at the store. Creating a menu and buying only what you need keeps the bill lower when you head to the checkout counter. As an added bonus, this helps limit food waste at home by avoiding buying more than what your family can actually eat.

Sign Up for Loyalty Programs

Many grocery stores and chains offer the opportunity to join free loyalty programs. Oftentimes, these programs include savings provided only to members without having to sift through coupons. Alternately, some provide cash back rewards or additional savings once you accrue a certain level of points, while others include partnerships with other retailers, like gas stations, that provide savings at the pump based on your grocery spending.

Shop for Seasonal Produce

While it's easy to get caught up buying specific items for specific recipes, remember to keep seasonality in mind. Oftentimes, in-season produce is more readily available and, therefore, cheaper. Take fall for example, when Envy Apples - a cross between Braeburn and Royal Gala apples - can help your favorite autumnal recipes pop and allow you take full advantage of the best nature has to offer. Enjoy seasonal classics like apple pies, crumbles and tarts, and consider adding this Baked Apples with Coconut and Crumble Topping recipe to your dessert rotation.

Saving additional money this year can be as simple as scanning your Walmart receipt using the Fetch app, where you can accrue points with every purchase of Envy Apples. It's as easy as snapping your receipt, earning points to shop available offers then redeeming those points for rewards like gift cards.

Stretch Your Meals at Home

While it may not show a direct impact on your receipt, taking recipes further at home can limit how often you head to the store. For example, leftovers from one evening's rotisserie chicken dinner can be repurposed for the following day's lunches. Or you can turn steak night scraps into a memorable weekend steak-and-egg brunch. When you cook a large meal for guests, don't let all the extra food go to waste; freeze portions separately then enjoy them later as a family dinner.

Find more fall recipe inspiration that helps you stretch your grocery budget at EnvyApple.com.

Baked Apples with Coconut and Crumble Topping

Servings: 8

- 6 Envy Apples
- 3/4 cup dark chocolate
- 1/2 cup chopped roasted hazelnuts
- 1 cup instant or rolled oats
- 1/2 cup dried coconut
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/3 cup butter
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- maple syrup or honey, for serving

1. Core apples then score skin around apple a few times. Cut small slice from top and bottom to make apple more stable and give room for crumble topping.
2. Finely chop chocolate and combine with hazelnuts.
3. Arrange apple slices in lined baking dish.
4. Fill center of each apple generously with chocolate and hazelnut mixture (reserve about 2 tablespoons for topping).
5. Preheat oven to 350 F.
6. Combine oats, coconut, flour, butter and brown sugar; mix well.
7. Top each apple generously with crumble mixture, creating small mound on top of each apple; sprinkle with reserved chocolate and hazelnut mixture.
8. Bake apples 20-25 minutes, or until crumble is golden and apples start to soften.
9. Serve with drizzle of maple syrup or honey.

Rate 4.99%*, APR 7.052%, 30 Year Fixed Rate. Rate for Conventional Loan! Call for rate for First-time Buyer with $0 Down. That's not all! Get a lower, more affordable interest rate for the first two years of your loan. With a buydown program the rate would be 2% LESS for the first year, and 1% LESS for the second. Guild Mortgage | 208-664-1925

Randy Cox, 208-699-1424 • Coldwell Banker Schneidmiller Realty

The advertised loan is a conventional 30-year fixed loan with a 30-year fully amortizing term with 2-1 seller, builder, or lender paid buy down. A portion of each monthly payment for the first 24 months will be prepaid by the seller and held by the lender to supplement the buyer's required monthly payment. The buyer required monthly payment is calculated using an interest rate 2% below the note rate for the first 12 months and 1% below the note rate for the subsequent 12 months. Savings are calculated as the difference between the Note Rate Principal & Interest Payment and the Reduced Principal & Interest Payment for the first 24 months. Based on an example loan amount of $69,200 the initial monthly principal and interest payment will be $3,320.22 for the first 12 months, and $3,708.44 the subsequent 12 months. After the initial 24-month period, the payment will be calculated using the full note rate of 6.99% resulting in a monthly principal and interest payment of $4,135.40 for the remaining 28-year term. This example is based on an 80% loan-to-value (LTV). The Annual Percentage Rate (APR) is 7.052%. There is no prepayment penalty. The actual interest rate, APR and payment may vary based on the specific terms of the loan selected, verification of information, your credit history, the location and type of property, and other factors as determined by Lender. Payments shown do not include taxes and insurance, actual payment obligations will be greater. Conditions and restrictions apply. Not all applicants will qualify. Not available in all states. Rates and terms effective 10/23/2023 and are subject to change. Corp NMLS #3113 Equal Housing Lender | MAC HERE

How's Kokanee Fishing? It's A Tricky Question That Relies On Sound Management And Help From Mother Nature

Part 1 of 3

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

No two waters are exactly the same when it comes to managing kokanee populations

Kokanee salmon are prized by Idaho anglers. In good years, stocking and management by Idaho Fish and Game, along with good environmental conditions, can create banner kokanee fishing. But within a few years, those same fisheries can turn belly up, which can be confusing – and frustrating – for anglers and fisheries managers because they value stable, reliable fishing.

There's a fairly complex, but important, backstory that helps explain the wild swings in kokanee fishing. Fish and Game biologists are constantly working with anglers to provide good kokanee fishing within the limitations of the fish's life cycle and environmental conditions that drive them.

"Idaho traditionally has good kokanee fishing, and we expect that to continue in the future," said Joe Kozfkay, Fish and Game's State Fish Manager. "But we're also facing some challenges that we want anglers to understand so they have realistic expectations about what we can provide."

Spoiler alert: the egg came first

To get a successful kokanee fishery, biologists take eggs from spawning fish, raise them to fingerlings, then plant those young fish in a suitable body of water where they can grow large enough for anglers to catch. Often, it's that simple and works as expected.

But let's step back and better understand what actually drives kokanee populations.

As most anglers know, kokanee are landlocked sockeye salmon. Unlike most salmon, sockeye (kokanee) are largely plankton eaters. Plankton are small, aquatic organisms barely visible to the human eye. Plankton abundance (or scarcity) is largely driven by environmental conditions, which vary from year to year. When plankton thrives, kokanee thrive, and the reverse is also true.

Like their fellow salmon, kokanee are a "one-and-done" species that live about 3 to 5 years and die after spawning, so their populations are relatively short-lived and cyclical.

Playing poker with an unknown number of chips

Since most Idaho waters have no connection to the ocean, most kokanee were originally stocked and thereafter became a self-sustaining population, or more likely, kokanee are restocked annually, or periodically, so managers can provide sustainable and fishable populations.

In any kokanee water, biologists face a classic management question: Do anglers prefer fewer big fish, or more smaller fish?

There's never unlimited food in a body of water, so it's always a tradeoff. Consistently achieving that balance is difficult because biologists don't know how much food will be available from year to year.

Water management is another important factor. Kokanee are often stocked in irrigation and flood-control reservoirs, and rates of entrainment (fish lost through dams) can be high during high flows in the spring, or during irrigation drawdowns in the summer. Biologists can adjust the timing and locations of stocking to avoid entrainment, but they have no control over what happens to fish already in the reservoir.

To add complexity, biologists are uncertain each year how many young fish will be available for future stocking because they rely on a fluctuating number of adults from key waters to produce the next generation of fingerlings. Biologists, along with hatchery managers, can usually meet demand, but there are no guarantees, so sometimes managing kokanee is like playing poker when you don't know how many chips you have.

"We don't want to give anglers the impression that we're making excuses, and everything is in Mother Nature's hands," Kozfkay said. "Our fisheries managers have produced many, many successful years of kokanee fishing; but our early run broodstock populations aren't where we'd like them to be, and this is going to negatively affect statewide stocking numbers until we can rebuild them."

How's Kokanee Fishing? It's A Tricky Question That Relies On Sound Management And Help From Mother Nature

Part 2 of 3

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

It's not just an Idaho challenge

Kokanee are notoriously challenging wherever they swim, whether in Colorado, Wyoming or British Columbia, but the factors for fluctuating populations are generally the same in Idaho, including stocking numbers, young fish survival, food production and predators.

Unfortunately, there's rarely a "one size fits all" management approach for a successful kokanee fishery because each body of water has its own personality. Even reservoirs within the same watershed can behave differently, and they can all change over time.

Let's look at some examples around Idaho.

Lake Pend Oreille

In the early 2000s, the kokanee population crashed in Idaho's largest lake, and with it, a once thriving and popular kokanee and trophy rainbow trout fishery. Rather than a lack of food for kokanee, biologists identified the problem was too many predatory fish, primarily lake trout and the lake's prized trophy rainbows.

It was another case of biologists and anglers facing hard choices, and anglers making short-term sacrifices to improve fishing over the long term.

In order to recover kokanee, the balance between predators and prey had to be restored. This required removing large numbers of lake trout and rainbow trout. What followed was a large-scale management project that included Fish and Game paying anglers to harvest lake trout and rainbow trout, as well as netting lake trout to reduce their population.

After seven years of predator removal, kokanee returned to fishable numbers, and angler effort followed. That allowed Fish and Game to resume trophy management of rainbow trout, and those prized rainbows not only returned, the fish are reaching sizes that haven't been seen since the early 1990s.

Lake trout netting and incentivized angler harvest continues to keep predation in balance with kokanee populations. Predation management has proven to be very effective to sustain kokanee, and it will be an important part of managing the Lake Pend Oreille fishery into the future.

Deadwood Reservoir

Remember how we mentioned the classic tradeoff between fewer big fish or more small fish? Fisheries managers have been wrestling with that for decades at Deadwood Reservoir. They've tried to find a happy medium for what is not only a popular, high-country kokanee fishing destination, since 1986, Deadwood also served as the primary egg source for early run kokanee.

Deadwood's history of having prolific natural kokanee production in its tributaries, and an overabundance of smaller kokanee, made it an ideal egg source for early run kokanee. Limiting the natural spawning not only helped fill Fish and Game's hatcheries with early run kokanee fingerlings that supplied up to 20 other waters, it also made Deadwood a more desirable kokanee fishery because it raised the average size of the fish.

Around 2019, something changed at Deadwood. Fish and Game surveys detected a steep decline in kokanee numbers coming up the Deadwood River to spawn. Biologists also found that despite low numbers of kokanee, fish sizes were smaller than expected — bucking the typical pattern of larger kokanee when there's a smaller population.

In the years since, biologists have ramped up monitoring the fishery, and kokanee sizes and densities have both remained low.

"We've taken a look at many factors that might contribute to decreased kokanee numbers without a concurrent increase in sizes — including predation, food limitations and water quality — and we haven't found a smoking gun, yet," said Regional Fisheries Biologist Tim D'Amico.

Although the answer to "why" remains elusive, fisheries managers have worked to help kokanee rebound at Deadwood by foregoing egg take from the reservoir for the last two years to maximize natural production, and even stocking additional kokanee fingerlings (sourced from eggs taken at Payette Lake) to give the fishery a boost.

Payette Lake

This deep, clear lake is fed mostly by snowmelt from granite mountains, which means limited food available for other fish. Those conditions can provide good habitat for plankton-eating kokanee because they have few competitors.

In the mid-1990s, kokanee thrived in the lake, and during fall, the North Fork of the Payette River above the lake ran red with thousands of spawning kokanee. In the early 2000s, lake trout population increased substantially, which in turn crashed the kokanee population, and the wave of spawning redfish slowed to a trickle.

Taking a page from Lake Pend Oreille's playbook, biologists in 2014 began significantly reducing lake trout numbers, and in 2020, they started boosting kokanee by heavily stocking fingerlings. The results were almost instant.

By 2022, anglers were enjoying good kokanee fishing during summer, and in 2023, anglers harvested about 8,000 kokanee with another 3,000 spawning adults swimming up the North Fork and providing eggs for future stockings.

This is a short-term success, and time will tell if the upswing is sustainable, or part of a boom-and-bust cycle, but things are looking promising for Payette Lake's previously dormant kokanee fishery.

Draw Results Available For Spring Black Bear Controlled Hunts

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

Most controlled hunts begin April 1

Spring black bear controlled hunt draw results are now available.

The results have been posted through Idaho Fish and Game's licensing system. Hunters can check their account at GoOutdoorsIdaho.com to see if they drew controlled hunt tags for spring black bear. Email notifications will be sent to those who provided an email address on their profile.

Hunters who were successful in the draw can purchase the controlled hunt tag through their GoOutdoorsIdaho customer account, at any Fish and Game regional office location, at any license vendor location or by calling 1-800-554-8685. Tags purchased online or over the phone will include an additional convenience fee and will be mailed to the mailing address on file.

Hunters who were successful in the draw will still receive a notification card by mail by early March, however, it is the responsibility of hunters to find out whether their names were drawn in these hunts. Those who do not have access to the internet can either wait to receive their notification card or visit a Fish and Game license vendor to determine draw status.

Hunters who already have a general season black bear tag may exchange their general season black bear tag for the appropriate controlled hunt tag. Alternatively, they may keep their general season black bear tag and purchase a controlled hunt black bear tag.

Any exchanges of tags must be completed at an Idaho Fish and Game office, and reduced priced tags or second black bear tags cannot be exchanged for a controlled hunt tag.

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

- On April 22, 2000, 6-year-old Elián Gonzalez, who was the sole survivor of an abortive attempt by 13 other Cuban citizens to enter America as illegal immigrants, was taken by a S.W.A.T. team from his Miami relatives. Following a number of court battles, the child was returned to his father, Juan Miguel Gonzalez.
- On April 23, 1898, Spain declared war on the U.S. after rejecting its ultimatum to withdraw from Cuba. Following the declaration, the American Asiatic Squadron, under Commodore George Dewey, engaged the Spanish Pacific squadron under Admiral Patricio Montojo y Pasarón in the Philippines' Manila Bay, and decimated the Spanish squadron.
- On April 24, 1942, singer/actress/film producer Barbra Joan Streisand was born in Brooklyn, N.Y. Considered "the girl on the block with the good voice" in her youth, and determined to be a star, her breakthrough came with the lead role in the 1964 Broadway musical "Funny Girl." In 1968, the movie version of the role earned her an Academy Award for Best Actress. To date, Streisand has sold more than 140 million albums and won 10 Grammys.
- On April 25, 2006, Iran's Ayatollah Ali Khomeini said that his country was happy to share its nuclear technology with other nations, during a meeting with the visiting Sudanese president. U.S. Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice condemned the comments, and Iran's top nuclear negotiator threatened to suspend its cooperation with the U.N.'s nuclear watchdog if the country was threatened with sanctions.
- On April 26, 1928, Filipino immigrant Pedro Flores opened the Yo-yo Manufacturing Company in Santa Barbara, CA. By November 1929, he was operating two additional factories in Los Angeles and Hollywood, which together produced 300,000 yo-yos daily.
- On April 27, 1971, eight members of the Welsh Language Society were accused of conspiring to damage, remove or destroy English-language road signs in Wales.
- On April 28, 1789, Fletcher Christian led a mutiny against William Bligh aboard the HMS Bounty and set him and 18 loyal crew members adrift in a 23-foot open boat, but the men survived a 47-day voyage to the Dutch East Indies and returned to England to report the mutiny. Christian and the rest of the crew eventually settled on Pitcairn Island and Tahiti.

"Roman Catholic Popes"

Jorge Mario Bergoglio became the 266th pope in the history of the Roman Catholic Church when he was elected as Pope Francis in 2013. Popes serve as spiritual leaders of Roman Catholicism. Each is a successor to St. Peter, the first pope of Rome, whose tomb lies beneath St. Peter's Basilica.

Idaho Fish And Game Debuts New Podcast, 'Hook And Bulletin'

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

Idaho Fish and Game's Hook and Bulletin podcast is a weekly news roundup of hunting, fishing, trapping and conservation stories from around the Gem State.

Introducing, the brand-new podcast from Idaho Fish and Game—Hook and Bulletin.

The Hook and Bulletin podcast is a weekly news roundup of hunting, fishing, trapping and conservation stories from around the Gem State. More specifically, this weekly podcast will give Idaho's sportsmen and women a quick, digestible overview of recent Fish and Game stories.

Fish and Game encourages folks to tune in on whatever podcast platform they choose. The goal is to give sportsmen and women a chance to download and listen at their leisure—whether it's at the office, heading out on a weekend hunt or fishing trip or sitting around the campfire.

The Hook and Bulletin is hosted by Public Information Specialist Connor Jay Liess, and will also occasionally feature in-depth interviews with Fish and Game's staff, co-hosted by regional communications staff.

Fish and Game also encourages listeners to write in to podcast@idfg.idaho.gov if they're interested in specific topics or have questions related to fish and game matters.

Those interested can listen to the Hook and Bulletin on its official podcast page, Podbean (idfg.podbean.com), on Fish and Game's YouTube channel or any other podcast listening site you prefer.

Soil Preparation

— Dr. Steve Love, University of Idaho Extension —

Most plants' nutritional needs are supplied by the soil. Therefore, proper soil preparation will go a long way toward achieving a successful garden.

The ideal garden soil is deep, friable, well-drained and high in organic matter. Soil preparation provides the basis for good seed germination and growth of plants. Managing soils for optimal plant growth is an ongoing process that consists of proper tillage, adding amendments, and proper fertilization and irrigation.

Gerald Holmes, Strawberry Center, Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, Bugwood.org

In either location, soils can vary in texture from sand to clay. Sandy soils need constant addition of organic matter, frequent and light applications of water, and constant fertilization. Clay soils may need to be amended with organic matter and/or soil amendments to improve water penetration. It is important to know the characteristics of your soil in order to design an appropriate management plan.

Andrew Koeser, International Society of Arboriculture, Bugwood.org

Improving soils

No matter the soil type, careful use of various amendments can improve soil and provide the best possible starting situation for your plants. The best amendments provide organic matter: manures, com-posts, peat moss, crop residues, grass clippings, green manures, bark, wood chips, straw, or any number of other materials. Choose the type of amendment according to availability and cost.

Before fertilizing or tilling, it is best to get the soil tested for nutrients, pH and organic matter. Several labs, both university and private, will test your soil for a fee. (Contact your UI Extension county office for a recommendation.) Once you determine fertilizer needs, broadcast fertilizer evenly on the soil surface and till it in. Make sure the soil is not too wet during cultivation to avoid compaction.

Regional and textural variation

Soils in Idaho vary widely due to topography, climate, and origin. In southern Idaho, most soils have a high pH (alkaline) and contain very little organic matter. These soils may need extra applications of phosphorus and micronutrient fertilizers and should never be amended with lime or wood ash. Northern Idaho soils can have a relatively low pH (acidic) and contain plenty of organic matter. Some of these soils may need the pH adjusted upward with lime.

NOXIOUS WEED CONTROL PROGRAMS FOR NORTH IDAHO PANHANDLE

Noxious Weed Control Departments in Benewah, Kootenai and Shoshone Counties offer a variety of services, including weed identification, site visits, publications, herbicide advice, and other land management information, all free of charge. Each county offers slightly different programs, loan-out equipment, and information. Listed below are the highlights from each program, as well as contact information.

FREE EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOPS are offered to the public throughout the year, call your local weed office (below) for more information.

BENEWAH COUNTY PROGRAMS: Educational publications are available at the Benewah County Cooperative Extension office 208-245-2422. For more information, contact the Benewah County Auditor's Office at 208-245-3212.

KOOTENAI COUNTY PROGRAMS: The Noxious Weed Control department Equipment Loan Out Program has backpack sprayers, ATV sprayers, fertilizer spreaders, rotary seed spreaders, Weed Wrenches, Knotweed Injectors, and small harrows at no charge. In addition to the state listed noxious weeds, Kootenai County Noxious Weeds considers Common Bugloss and Kochia to be noxious. Please contact the Noxious Weed Control Department, 10905 N Ramsey Road, Hayden, Idaho 83835, by phone 208-446-1290, at our website www.kcweeds.com or email kcnoxioussweeds@kcgov.us with any questions.

SHOSHONE COUNTY PROGRAMS: Equipment Loan Program: various equipment is available for loan at no charge. Two additional weed species designated noxious by Shoshone County Ordinance No. 2001-08 are common Tansy and Sulfur Cinquefoil. Shoshone County would like information on sightings of Poison Hemlock, Tansy Ragwort, Rush Skeletonweed and Leafy Spurge. Everyone is welcome to join the Shoshone County Weed Advisory Committee. For further information, contact Shelby Heiderman, Weed Superintendent, 700 Bank Street, Ste 35., Wallace, ID 83873, Phone: 208-753-5475, website: www.shoshonecounty.org or email: sheiderman@co.shoshone.id.us.

IDAHO WEED LAW: The Idaho Weed Law (Idaho Code Title 22, Chapter 24) Places the responsibility for controlling noxious weeds on the person who owns or manages the land. Any person with noxious weeds on their property is obligated to control those weeds.

STATEWIDE CONTAINMENT NOXIOUS WEED LIST

Weeds listed in the containment noxious weeds list are known to exist in various populations throughout the state. Weed control efforts may be directed at reducing or eliminating new or expanding weed populations while known and established weed populations may be managed by any approved weed control methodology, as determined by the weed control authority:

- Canada Thistle
- Curlyleaf Pondweed
- Dalmatian Toadflax
- Diffuse Knapweed
- Field Bindweed
- Flowering Rush
- Hoary Alyssum
- Houndstongue

The Garden Bug Sweet Alyssum BY BRENDA WEAVER

This low-growing annual displays a delicate carpet of tiny, sweet-scented flowers for much of the growing season. It is very easy to grow from plant or seed and can be set out in early spring. It loves full sun, but it does not like long dry periods; in-ground plantings will need weekly watering and those in containers or baskets will need it even more frequently.

Attract Backyard Birds with the Right Seeds

— Family Features —

While almost all bird seed may look pretty much the same to you, it doesn't to the birds you're feeding. Knowing what kinds of seeds different birds like can help you attract a variety of fine feathered friends to your feeders.

Consider these popular seed types and the common backyard birds they attract:

- Sunflower – Black sunflower seeds attract blue jays, goldfinches, woodpeckers, purple finches, chickadees, titmice and nuthatches. Striped sunflower seeds appeal to chickadees, doves, grosbeaks, northern cardinals, nuthatches, titmice and woodpeckers. Sunflower hearts (also known as "hulled sunflower" and "sunflower chips") attract chickadees, common redpolls, juncos, doves, finches, goldfinches, grosbeaks, nuthatches, pine siskins, titmice and woodpeckers.

- Nyjer – These lightweight, tiny seeds are a favorite of goldfinches. Put nyjer seeds in a hanging feeder with tiny holes so the small seeds won't get blown away. Nyjer also attracts redpolls, juncos, doves, indigo bunting and pine siskin.

- Safflower – These white seeds are slightly smaller than black sunflower seeds. Because they are bitter, grackles, blue jays, starlings – and squirrels – don't like them. However, they do attract doves, purple finches, chickadees, titmice and downy woodpeckers.

- White millet – Good for scattering on the ground, white millet attracts ground feeders such as juncos, sparrows, indigo buntings, towhees and mourning doves.

- Cracked corn – Popular with ground feeders, cracked corn appeals to doves, crows, jays, sparrows, juncos and towhees. Avoid getting finely cracked corn as it's vulnerable to rot and can quickly turn to mush.

When choosing a bird seed mix, pay attention to the ingredients list on the package. Bird seed is required by law to list ingredients in order of content. Some cheaper mixes have filler seeds such as wheat, red milo, red millet or "assorted grain products." Most backyard birds won't eat those, and your seed mix could end up wasted on the ground.

4 Steps To Save Water And Have A Healthier Lawn

— Lena Allen, Master Gardener, and Ron Patterson, University of Idaho Extension Educator —

#1 Maintain your sprinkler system

- Regularly check that all heads are functioning well—no tipped, buried, or sunken heads.
- Use all the same types of heads on one station for even coverage. Head-to-head spray pattern gives more even coverage.
- Know your precipitation rate and don't over-water.

#2 Irrigate properly

- Train the roots to go deep in the spring. Water really well once, then wait for your lawn to tell you when it needs water again.
- If only a few dry spots appear, water those with a hose. When the whole lawn tells you it needs water, turn on the system.

- Water the same amount each time you irrigate, then change the days between irrigation as the season changes (1– 1.5" a week depending on soil type). Sandy soils require more frequent irrigation with less water applied each time.

- This method encourages roots to dig deep becoming more drought tolerant and healthier.

- Very wet spots may indicate a broken head or water line.

#3 Fertilize properly

- Apply 3–4 lbs. nitrogen (N) per 1000 square feet throughout the growing season.

- Apply 1 lb. at spring green-up, 1 lb. around Memorial Day, 1 lb. around Labor Day and .5–1 lb. after the last mowing.

#4 Mow properly

- Sharpen mower blades regularly.

- Mow frequently so that no more than 1/3 of the grass blade is removed at each mowing.

- Mow grass higher—the longer the grass blade, the deeper the root. Deeper-rooted grass is more drought resistant.

- Mulch, rather than bag, lawn clippings. This holds in moisture and reduces fertilizer requirements.

- Thatch build-up decreases water and oxygen in the root zone— aerate when needed.

Extra Tips:

- Hydro-zoning: Group plants according to water needs.

- Water specially for trees once a month.

Preliminary Proposals For 2025-2026 Fishing Regulations Available For Review

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

If you're interested in providing input on how Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks is crafting fishing regulations for the next two years, now is your chance. FWP is taking public comment and asking for ideas on initial proposals for the 2025-2026 Fishing Regulations.

The initial 64 proposals are online now and available for review and comment. Just go to fwp.mt.gov/aboutfwp/public-comment-opportunities/fishing-regulations.

FWP is also looking for ideas for regulation changes that aren't captured in these initial proposals. To answer questions and get feedback on fishing regulations, FWP is hosting public meetings around the state. Staff will use the input to refine the regulation proposals that will go before the Fish and Wildlife Commission in October. The fishing regulations proposals that will be considered by commission will be available for public comment in August. The commission will adopt, amend or reject the proposals at its October meeting.

Montana's fishing regulations are split into three districts – west, central and east. Each district has standard regulations. Many of the proposals remove exceptions to district standards that are no longer biologically relevant. Others are intended to increase fishing opportunity, enhance conservation efforts for some species, reduce confusion or improve enforceability. All regulation changes are based on criteria or objectives outlined in the Statewide Fisheries Management Plan (see fwp.mt.gov/conservation/fisheries-management/statewide-fisheries-management).

Specific statewide proposals include improving definitions of different types of hooks and adjusting regulations for cleaning and transporting fish.

In the Western Fishing District, proposals include adjusting northern pike possession limits, adjusting bag limits on the Blackfoot River and many tributaries, implementing gear restrictions on the Kootenai River below Libby Dam, and removing a lake trout slot limit on Whitefish Lake.

In the Central Fishing District, proposals include allowing spearing for northern pike on Hauser and Holter reservoirs, removing spearing for burbot at Tiber Reservoir and Lake Frances, removing exceptions for walleye in the Missouri River from Toston to Canyon Ferry and reducing walleye bag limits from Holter Dam to Black Eagle Dam.

For the Eastern Fishing District, proposals include clarification of paddlefish regulations because of the new fish bypass channel at Intake, the addition of a tag for paddlefish snagging opportunities in the Missouri River below Fort Peck Dam, regulations to conserve shortnose gar, and conservative crappie limits on Tongue River Reservoir.

Fishing regulations are now under a process like hunting regulations, going through a comprehensive public review every two years. Fishing regulations are printed during odd numbered years.

The meeting schedule is as follows:

- Region 1: March 19, 6 p.m., Kalispell, 490 North Meridian Road
- Region 2: April 10, 6:30 p.m., Missoula, 201 Spurgin Road
- Region 3: March 28, 6 p.m., Bozeman, 1400 South 19th St.
- Region 4: April 4, 6 p.m., Great Falls, 4600 Giant Springs Road
- Region 5: March 14, 6:30 p.m., Billings, 2300 Lake Elmo Drive
- Region 6: March 13, 6 p.m., Glasgow, 1 Airport Road
- Region 7: March 21, 6:30 p.m., Miles City, 352 I-94 Business Loop

FWP will be collecting comments through April 26. The department will also host at least one virtual meeting during this comment period.

5 Steps to Get Your Yard Ready for Spring

— Family Features —

As the weather begins to warm and days get longer, it's important to begin preparing your yard for a healthy growing season. While factors like climate, soil type and grass type can all impact how your yard grows, there are a few steps you can take during the spring months to help your lawn thrive.

From dethatching and aerating to fertilizing and mowing, tackling these simple chores can help ensure your yard looks its best and is prepared to fight off seasonal weeds, disease and drought.

Tune Your Mower

Before it's time for the first mowing of the season, inspect your mower and perform any routine maintenance necessary. That goes beyond sharpening, or replacing, the blade, and includes changing the oil, spark plugs and filter as well as filling with a fresh tank of gas.

Loosen the Thatch Layer

While it's important to avoid working on your lawn until after the final freeze to avoid damaging the grass, raking your yard with a spring tine rake to loosen thatch - the layer of leaves, roots and dead grass that builds up between live grass and soil - before the first mow is equally important. Be sure to rake when the soil is dry; if it's too soft or muddy, you may pull up healthy grass crowns.

Combat Compacted Soil

If your soil has become compacted - likely the effect of heavy foot traffic - and is too dense for water, air and other nutrients to reach the roots of your grass, aerating can help break it up and reduce thatch. A core, or plug, aerator can introduce tiny holes into your soil by removing plugs of grass and soil, which lets nutrients more easily reach the roots. An added bonus, the plugs can decompose on top of your grass, supplying more nutrients.

Fill in Bare Spots

If your lawn is looking sparse, overseeding, which involves spreading grass seed over your existing lawn, can help fill in bare spots. Be sure to choose the right type of seed for your climate and soil type to ensure proper growth. Applying a slow-release nitrogen fertilizer at the same time can provide additional nutrients that are important for promoting healthy growth.

Start Seasonal Mowing

When the ground is dry enough and your grass is long enough to require cutting, begin seasonal mowing. Be sure to use proper techniques, including varying your mowing direction each time to avoid creating patterns or ruts, and avoid cutting grass too low, which can make the lawn more susceptible to weeds and drought stress. In general, never remove more than one-third of the grass blade at a time.

5 Tips for Choosing Gardening Essentials

— Family Features —

Whether you're a new homeowner ready to tackle the landscaping for the first time or a seasoned gardener looking to do some updating, when it comes to gardening, you simply need the right tools to do the job well.

Consider these tips when purchasing essentials for your tool shed.

- Shovel: A shovel with a pointed blade is a good all-around choice for digging, mixing and moving soil. Conversely, a flat-bladed shovel should be used for "cutting" tasks such as straight-side trenches and edging. After narrowing down which style of shovel best meets your needs, check the metal to ensure it's well-constructed and won't bend or break easily. Check fittings such as bolts and screws to ensure the blade and handle are strongly connected and can withstand reasonable pressure. Finally, spend a few minutes testing out the tool to ensure it fits well in your hand.

- Rake: With numerous materials and shapes to choose from, finding the right rake can be intimidating. A basic fan-shaped rake with metal fingers is a universally accepted, long-lasting option. Select a model with plenty of give in the fingers if you'll be raking large areas and don't want to damage the ground below. A rake made of firmer metal allows you to work and smooth soil. Purchasing the broadest width you can comfortably handle allows you to cover more ground, which means less work.

Depending on the space you'll be tending, you may also consider purchasing a garden fork, which has fewer tines than a traditional rake and is ideal for aerating, weeding and turning small sections of soil.

- Hoe: Whether flat or pointed, a hoe is essential for a weed-free garden. Flat versions can also be useful for breaking up clumps and hard spots on the surface while pointed hoes make quick work of rows and mounds to protect and irrigate your plantings.

- Shears: A variety of shears are available to accomplish a wide range of garden tasks. Larger shears are ideal for big jobs such as shaping hedges, while smaller pruning shears are meant for snips and sprucing. Quality metal and sharp blades are important features. Be sure to choose a model with a safety latch to lock blades when not in use.

- Gloves: Even if you eagerly embrace the chance to get your hands dirty, no tool shed is complete without a sturdy pair of gloves. Choose a material tough enough to protect from thorns but pliable enough to allow for free movement. Proper fit is key to avoiding blisters.

South Fork Clearwater River Anglers Advised That Camping Is Not Allowed On ITD Properties

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

As anglers make plans to fish the South Fork Clearwater River this year for steelhead, they should be aware of an Idaho law that prohibits camping on certain state-owned property (see statute below). This law applies to Idaho Transportation Department property (ITD) which includes many of the pull offs along the South Fork Clearwater River. This means if somebody is camping on one of ITD's pull-outs/right of ways along the South Fork of the Clearwater River (see picture above as an example) they could be cited for an infraction. This regulation is not exclusive to the South Fork Clearwater (Hwy 13 & 14) and includes state-owned properties as defined in the statute below.

Contact the regional office for more information (208) 799-5010.

Idaho Statutes –Title 67-14 states, “No person shall camp on or in any state-owned or leased property or facility including, but not limited to, the capitol mall, except those that are designated as a recreational camping ground, area or facility. The provisions of this section shall not apply or affect policies, rules, statutes or leases on endowment lands, department of parks and recreation lands or department of fish and game lands. For the purposes of this section, the term “camp” or “camping” means to use as a temporary or permanent place of dwelling, lodging or living accommodation, and which indicia of camping may include, but are not limited to, storing personal belongings, using tents or other temporary structures for storing personal belongings or for sleeping, carrying on cooking activities, laying out bedding or making any fire. Any person who violates the provisions of this section shall be guilty of an infraction. Such persons shall be required to remove all their personal property from the state-owned or leased property.”
