National Teddy Bear Day

September 9th

— National Day Calendar —

Michtom wrote President Roosevelt to ask permission to name the new toy a “Teddy Bear.”

A teddy bear does not depend on mechanics to give him the semblance of life. He is loved – and therefore, he lives. ~ Pam Brown

Since the advent of the Teddy Bear, a parade of famous characters followed.

Big Bird from Sesame Street named his Teddy Bear Radar. The lasagna loving cat celebrated on Garfield the Cat Day armed himself with Pooky, his lovable scapegoat. The British invasion of Teddy Bears includes Winnie-the-Pooh and Paddington. In 1981, the Care Bears first became greeting cards. Not long after, they launched into television and toy history.

And let’s not forget the Muppet character Fozzie Bear. Let the lovable and comedic bear endlessly perseveres with one-liners, slapstick and musical comedy.

How To Observe National Teddy Bear Day

Share some of your favorite Teddy Bear characters from a time gone by. Are they recent interpretations of the lovable creature? Or do you have an affinity for the classic Teddy Bear? Other ways to celebrate include:

- Giving a Teddy Bear to someone you love.
- Donate Teddy Bears to a local organization for children.
- Host a Teddy Bear tea party with your children.
- Download, print and color the Teddy Bear coloring page.
- Share your memories of Teddy Bears using #NationalTeddyBearDay to post on social media.

National Teddy Bear Day History

We were unable to identify the creator of National Teddy Bear Day.

On September 9th, National Teddy Bear Day honors the history of one of childhood’s favorite toys. We have all had a special cuddly teddy as a child. Some of us still have our teddy bear from our childhood. No matter what kind of teddy bear you had, the day is a perfect time to celebrate your childhood friend!

In 1902, American President Theodore Roosevelt refused to shoot a bear cub while hunting in Mississippi. The incident made national news. Clifford Berryman published a cartoon of the event in the Washington Post on November 16th, 1902, and the caricature became an instant classic.

The Berryman cartoon of Teddy Roosevelt and the cub inspired New York store owner Morris Michtom. He created a new toy and even had a name in mind.

Patriot Day And National Day Of Service And Remembrance September 11th

— National Day Calendar —

Patriot Day on September 11th honors the memory of the nearly 3,000 innocent victims who died in the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks. Each year Americans dedicate this day to remembering those who died and the first responders who risked their own lives to save others.

We Remember

For many, September 11, 2001, began like any other weekday. We made our way to work. Children attended school. We shopped, had coffee, waited in line at a drive-thru. Those of us who weren't in New York City heard the first reports on the radio or television. A friend or neighbor alerted us to a plane flying into one of the Twin Towers. We felt disbelief. An accident, perhaps, a miscalculation. Then, a second plane flew into the second tower. Our disbelief turned into uncertainty and concern.

Those on the ground faced terror and obstacles they had never known. But, then, as a set of coordinated suicide attacks organized by the militant group Al Qaeda targeted the World Trade Center, the rest of the nation witnessed the unbelievable. And then a third plane crashed into The Pentagon. And yet another crashed into a field in Shanksville, PA.

Memorial

Every year since that fateful day, the United States comes together to remember the fallen. We remember the first responders and those who made difficult decisions. Since that day, memorials have risen from the ashes.

How To Observe Patriot Day

- Attend Patriot Day ceremonies.
- Observe moments of silence:
  - 8:46 AM EDT – American Airlines Flight #11 collides into the World Trade Center
  - 9:03 AM EDT – United Airlines Flight #175 collides into the World Trade Center South Tower
  - 9:37 AM EDT – American Airlines Flight #77 crashes into the Pentagon

Large Tracts Program Land Closures Announced Due To Excessive Fire Danger

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

Large Tracts Program partners have announced fire-related closures on some of their lands effective Aug. 23

North Idaho Timber Group, a partner in the Large Tracts Program, just announced a closure of their lands in response to extreme fire danger. The closure is effective Aug. 23, 2023.

The press release below is from North Idaho Timber Group. Additional information will be released as it becomes available.

For Immediate Release

August 22, 2023- In response to extreme fire danger and strained fire suppression resources in North Idaho, Idaho Fish and Game's corporate partners have implemented fire-related closures or restrictions on private lands enrolled in the Large Tracts Access Program.

The North Idaho Timber Group, which includes Manulife Investment Management Timberland and Agriculture, Molpus Woodlands Group, and Stimson Lumber Company lands in North Idaho, will close all public roads and walk-in access on August 23, 2023, until further notice.

"While this type of restriction is not necessary during most fire seasons, this year is extraordinary in terms of wildfire risk for Idaho and all neighboring western states," Peter Stegner said in a statement on behalf of the North Idaho Timber Group. "This precautionary closure is in the best interests of the community and the environment, and we appreciate everyone's cooperation with this request during these highly unusual times."

According to the contracts between Fish and Game and Large Tracts Program participants, private land managers reserve the right to temporarily close specific lands for management purposes like active forestry operations, high fire danger, or other management needs. When access has to be restricted for a period of time, the lease payments to program participants are adjusted accordingly.

Will Large Tracts Program closures affect access for hunters in the fall?

The only Large Tracts Program closure imminent is for lands under the North Idaho Timber Group umbrella. Of course, that could change as the fire season continues, and hunters and anglers can stay abreast of current restrictions and closures on Large Tracts properties by visiting Fish and Game's Fire Information webpage.

In regard to the North Idaho Timber Group announcement, it is impossible to say at this point in the middle of a volatile fire season when the closure may end. Hunters and anglers need to remember that these are private, working timberlands, and that managers need to consider not only their business assets, but also public safety when making a determination on closures and when they are lifted.

"The situation will be evaluated on an ongoing basis, but we anticipate the closure will last until wetting rains reduce the hazard later in the season," Stegner said in the statement.

Fish and Game resources for fire information

While Fish and Game's Fire Information webpage is not the official fire information resource for wildfires in Idaho, the agency's communications staff provide it as a tool to help Fish and Game customers in decision making.

To assist in your hunting, angling and outdoor adventures in summer and fall, Idaho Fish and Game will be working with the Forest Service, BLM, IDL and other resource agencies and Wildfire Teams to keep you up to date on fire closures as they are announced.

A number of Fish and Game regions have recently announced various levels of fire restrictions on department-owned property, including Wildlife Management Areas. The restrictions commonly reflect those on neighboring public lands managed by other federal and state agencies. Regional Fish and Game staff have and will continue to post updates on fire restrictions for department-owned lands to the Fire Information Page.

Fish and Game staff are compiling the latest fire activity and closures from InciWeb and making them available as real-time maps and downloads on our website. As more information becomes available, this page will be updated.

Check out "<https://idfg.idaho.gov/press/hunters-anglers-and-other-recreationists-guide-wild-fire-season>" for useful information on fire restrictions and other tips, rules and guidelines people should be aware of to help prevent human-caused wildfires during fire season.

National Video Games Day September 12th — National Day Calendar —

On September 12th, National Video Games Day celebrates all the ways we enjoy a good video game challenge.

Video game players across the United States enjoy this day with much enthusiasm. From their very earliest days, video games have been a blend of art form and industry.

On July 25, 1983, Walter Day and the Twin Galaxies Intergalactic Scoreboard out of Ottumwa, Iowa founded the United States National Video Game Team. Their early games used interactive electronic devices with various display formats. Thomas T. Goldsmith Jr. and Estle Ray Mann filed the first patent for an interactive electronic device in 1947. It was called the “Cathode ray tube amusement Device.”

Some other early examples include:

- The Nimrod computer at the Festival of Britain (1951)
- OXO – a tic-tac-toe computer game by Alexander S. Douglas for the EDSAC (1952)
- Tennis For Two – An electronic interactive game engineered by William Higinbotham (1958)
- Spacewar (1961)

Each game used a different means of display. Some used a panel of lights or graphical display. Yet others featured an oscilloscope or the DEC PDP-1 vector display.

- It became the first commercially sold

- coin-operated video game.
- Magnavox Odyssey launched the first home console in 1972.
- Atari’s Pong followed with an arcade version in 1972 and a home version in 1975.

“The commercial success of Pong led numerous other companies to develop Pong clones and their own systems, spawning the video game industry.”

How To Observe National Video Games Day

Let the video game challenges begin! Whether you invite friends to join you in the newest video game or go it alone, be sure you get a game in. You also need to make sure you have plenty of snacks.

- Arcade galleries are making a comeback. If there is one near you, give them a shout-out!
- Introduce your favorite video game to your kids. Have them share their favorites with you.
- Host a video game tournament.
- Post your high scores.
- Are you stuck on a tough level? Seek out tips and hacks to get you through.

National Video Games Day History

Our research was unable to find the creator of National Video Games Day.

Q. Do video arcades still exist?

A. Yes, they do. Though they declined in the 1990s, it’s not game over for video arcades. Arcades across the United States have evolved through the years. Some are tucked into themed restaurants and bowling alleys. Others target the retro-loving crowd. And still, others spotlight the arcade with delicious food and beverage options available for a more adult crowd.

Q. Do people get paid to play video games?

A. Yes. First, there are the people hired to test and demonstrate video games. Then there are those who compete worldwide in tournaments for cash and prizes. Many gamers stream their games for profit – the more people who watch them play, the more opportunity for a payday. Some games pay players with coupons and other prizes.

An illustration on a dark green background. On the left, the text "Smokey Bear is within us all." is written in a bold, yellow, sans-serif font. On the right, a man in a green long-sleeved shirt, blue pants, and a red fedora-style hat is shown from the side, holding a black brush and tending to a black charcoal grill. In the background, a white SUV is parked. On the rear window of the SUV, Smokey Bear is depicted wearing a tan hat with "SMOKEY" on it and blue overalls, holding a black brush as if painting. In the top left corner, there are three logos: "ad COUNCIL", the "National Fire Protection Association" seal, and the "U.S. Forest Service" shield logo. In the bottom left corner, white text reads: "For wildfire prevention tips, visit SmokeyBear.com".

Small Dog's Aggression Is a Worry

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I have a small, mixed-breed, mostly terrier named Cookie. He's a darling to me and my son, but to anyone else, he's a terror. He is a rescue, so I don't know what his early life was like or if he was properly socialized. But I'm worried about having company over because he will bark ferociously at any strangers. What can I do to stop this? – Janice L., Trenton, New Jersey

DEAR JANICE: A lack of socialization or an abusive home could be factors in Cookie's aggression. Genetics can also be at play: Some dog breeds were developed to be guard dogs or hunters and may be more aggressive if not trained well.

However, Cookie has accepted you and your son as family, and that is a positive sign. Follow these tips as you begin the process of reducing his aggression.

- Never force Cookie to meet new visitors or strangers on the street. Let him approach visitors on his own, with you supervising.
- Ask visitors (and people on the street) not to approach Cookie or try to pet him.
- Create a safe space where you can put Cookie when visitors arrive. A kennel cage with water, soft bed and favorite toys is ideal.
- If Cookie is physically aggressive (charging or snapping), he must stay in his kennel when visitors come, and should always be leashed and wear a muzzle when walking outdoors.

Next, talk to Cookie's veterinarian about a combination of anti-anxiety medication along with a training routine. I recommend working with a trainer so you can implement effective training methods as quickly as possible. With love, training and care, Cookie can become a confident, less aggressive dog.

Send your tips, comments or questions to ask@pawscorner.com.

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

- On Sept. 18, 1769, John Harris, a spinet and harpsichord maker from Boston, completed the first spinet piano to be made in America. Upon its debut, the Boston Gazette averred that the instrument "in every respect does honour to that artist."
- On Sept. 19, 1676, Nathaniel Bacon and an army of rebel followers made up of farmers, slaves and indentured servants, set fire to Jamestown, the capital of the Virginia colony, in what came to be known as Bacon's Rebellion, a civil war that pitted Bacon against Virginia governor Sir William Berkeley.
- On Sept. 20, 1942, as part of the British war effort to conserve fuel, citizens were requested to bathe in no more than 5 inches of water. The royal family even painted black lines on all the household bathtubs at said depth, and put up posters around the palace with reminders of the need to conserve energy.
- On Sept. 21, 2012, David Villalobos jumped from the Wild Asia monorail train into a tiger den at the Bronx Zoo and was mauled by a 400-pound Siberian tiger named Bachuta. Quick-thinking employees chased the animal away using a fire extinguisher, and Villalobos, though injured, was able to roll under a wire to safety and survived.
- On Sept. 22, 1999, Saudi Arabia joined other Arab countries in a threat to boycott the Walt Disney entertainment company as a protest against the Israeli exhibit at the millennium show in Florida, which portrayed Jerusalem as the capital of Israel.
- On Sept. 23, 1989, foggy conditions led to one of the worst days for accidents on the German Autobahn, with five vehicular pileups involving 256 cars and a large number of serious injuries. The Autobahns in Germany have no speed limits, and cars sometimes travel as fast as 140 mph.
- On Sept. 24, 1906, Devil's Tower (also called Grizzly Bear Lodge) in northeastern Wyoming was named America's first national monument. The tower is a sacred site for many Plains Indians, and also a popular site for rock climbing.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Lucie Winborne

- In 2014, there was a school in Turin, Italy, that had just one teacher and one student. Though the latter admitted to being lonely, officials decided to keep the school open as long as at least one pupil was enrolled.
- Altocalciphilia is the medical term for a shoe addiction.
- Embryonic bats go through a stage called "peek-a-boo," when their wings grow to cover their eyes.
- Muhammad Ali's star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame is the only star that is not on the sidewalk, but on the wall of the Kodak Theatre, to honor the boxing champ's request that he "did not want to be walked on."
- Pennies are used to adjust the time in London's famous Big Ben clock tower. A single cent can change the pendulum's center of mass and alter the time by 0.4 seconds per day.
- Michael Bay filmed Megan Fox washing his Ferrari as her audition for "Transformers."
- Halley's Comet has two correct pronunciations. It can rhyme with "daily" or "valley" since its discoverer, Edmond Halley, spelled his name six different ways during his lifetime.
- The 2003 invasion of Iraq was originally dubbed "Operation Iraqi Liberation" but quickly changed due to the fact its acronym spelled out "oil."
- After learning that her husband had been killed in World War II, Mariya Oktyabrskaya sold everything she owned to donate a tank to the Soviet Red Army, with the condition that she be allowed to drive it. When the tank was hit by gunfire, she would not only risk her own life to jump out and repair it, but ended up becoming the first female tanker to receive the Hero of the Soviet Union award.

Good Housekeeping

Glazed Pork Tenderloin with Grilled Pineapple

When choosing a pineapple, pick one that is slightly soft with a deep, sweet fragrance. Pineapples are harvested ripe and will not get any sweeter with time.

- 1/4 cup hoisin sauce
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1 tablespoon grated fresh peeled ginger
- 1 teaspoon Asian sesame oil
- 1 whole (1 1/4 pounds) pork tenderloin
- 1/2 medium pineapple, untrimmed
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar

1. Prepare outdoor grill for covered direct grilling over medium heat. In small bowl, combine hoisin, honey, ginger and oil.

2. Place pork on hot grill rack. Cover grill and cook pork 18 to 20 minutes, turning occasionally.

3. With serrated knife, cut pineapple half into 4 wedges. Rub cut sides of pineapple with brown sugar.

4. Grill pineapple 10 minutes or until browned on both sides, turning over once. While pineapple is grilling, brush pork with hoisin-honey glaze and turn frequently until temperature on instant-read thermometer reaches 155 F.

5. Transfer pork to cutting board; let stand 10 minutes. Transfer pineapple to platter.

6. Thinly slice pork and serve with pineapple wedge. Serves 4.

- When I need to dust the ceiling, I don't have a fancy contraption; I just use my broom. If you have popcorn ceilings, you can rubber band a feather duster to the end of your broom. Look around your house, and maybe you'll find a sneaky cleaning purpose for everyday items.
- Dirty candles can be cleaned up quickly with a leg of panty hose. Slip the candle in the hose, rub the outside of the candle and release.
- "Rub banana on CDs with scratches. Wipe the excess off with a soft towel and make sure all of the banana is gone before you put it in your player. It usually does the trick for me." – E. in Maine
- You can use a coffee filter to clean the screen of your television. It's not scratchy and non-static. Be sure not to press down hard into today's screens. And use only approved cleaners for your flat-screen and plasma television sets.
- "I purchased a medium-size colander with a handle at the dollar store. I have it hanging on a hook in the kids' bathtub. It's much easier for them to scoop toys out of the water, and more fun too, I think." – A.C. in Nebraska
- Need to clean your iron? Scrub the face with salt. Then heat it and run the iron over the salt. I pour the salt on foil for even more heat effect.

Make a Family-Style Salade Nicoise

It's market time! On weekend mornings, I like to saunter through our neighborhood farmers market amid the crowds of people in shorts and sandals, who, like me, are attracted to the "picked at their peak" vegetables, flowers, eggs, honey and jams in colorful stalls. Adults and kids alike visit with vendors, while friends happily bump into one another for a chat.

Since produce is overflowing at markets and grocery stores, there's no better time to make a fresh, easy-to-prepare dish that the whole family will love. I was once inspired by my friend, Ann Francois, to make a big salade nicoise for the centerpiece of her dining table at a gathering of our friends.

While I have vivid memories of traveling in southern France and feasting on this country salad typically composed of tomatoes, tuna, hard-boiled-egg halves and anchovies on a bed of lettuce dressed with a vinaigrette, Ann's version featured the addition of locally sourced new potatoes and mounds of green beans. Each ingredient was artfully arranged on a platter and served with crusty French bread.

Make this healthy salad with your kids for a light, simple-to-prepare, end-of-summer main course. What makes it so family-friendly is that you can tweak it to suit everyone's tastes. Add artichoke hearts, capers or grilled red peppers. Don't like anchovies? Skip them!

SALADE NICOISE

Serves 6

- 1/2 cup extra-virgin olive oil
- 2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

- 1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Freshly ground black pepper
- 1 head Boston lettuce, separated into leaves, washed and dried
- 1 pound firm green beans, preferably French string beans (haricot verts), cooked just beyond the tender-crisp stage and chilled
- 1 pound new potatoes, cooked and halved
- 2-3 (5 or 6 ounce) cans albacore solid white tuna, drained and flaked, or grilled fresh tuna, cut into chunks
- 3 large vine-ripe tomatoes, sliced into wedges
- 3 hard-boiled eggs, halved lengthwise
- 1 cup pitted black olives
- 1 (2 ounce) can anchovy fillets rinsed and patted dry (optional)

Make the Vinaigrette: In a jar, let kids combine the oil, vinegar, lemon juice, mustard, garlic, salt and pepper. Shake vigorously, then set aside.

Assemble the Salad: Working together with your kids, arrange the lettuce over a large serving platter. Top with mounds of the green beans, potatoes, tuna, tomatoes, eggs and olives. Drape the anchovy fillets (if using) over potatoes.

Drizzle vinaigrette over the salad. Serve.

Summer Water Safety and Hypothermia

— USCG Auxiliary District 13 Flotilla Boise —

While boating or catching some rays at the end of this summer and you're going for a swim, don't forget to check the water temperature before jumping in. This often overlooked preparation is very important for safety. Even if the weather forecasts are predicting sunny hot days, the water temperature most likely won't match the warmth of the surrounding air. Swimming in cold water can be unpleasant and is dangerous.

Hypothermia is your body's reaction to cold temperatures which can reduce your survival. The risk of hypothermia in the summer is greatest for activities in and around very cold water, especially when swimming. You may think that you get hypothermia in icy winter temperatures, but cold water can have the same effect, when the temperature isn't nearly as low.

Lastly, remember to always wear a life jacket when in or near water. When selecting a life jacket, you should check that it is U.S. Coast Guard approved, appropriate for the specific water activity and fits properly. With that in mind, the best life jacket is the one you will wear.

Let's all look forward to a fun, safe time on and in the water as we wrap up this summer season. For more information about the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla Boise, please visit <http://wow.uscgauaux.info/content.php?unit=130-11-04> and for water temperatures in your area: <https://waterdata.usgs.gov/id/nwis/current/?type=quality>

FWP To Work With Partners To Determine Cause Of Trout Declines On Rivers In Southwest Montana

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

Studies to focus on fish mortality, origins and health

HELENA – Dead trout. Sick trout. Trout with fungus on their skin. What is going on with the fish of the Big Hole, Beaverhead and Ruby Rivers?

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks in partnership with the Montana Cooperative Fishery Research Unit (MCFRU) at Montana State University wants to find out. Together, they are launching three studies to determine what is affecting fish abundance in these streams. A fourth study, conducted by FWP, will look at fish health and building capacity to sample fish for diseases.

“Those who work and recreate on these rivers are troubled by what they see happening to the trout populations,” said FWP Director Dustin Temple. “FWP is troubled, too, and staff have a plan in place to figure out what’s driving the decline in trout health and abundance. FWP along with private and public partners have a long history of effective conservation work on these rivers. This plan is the first next step towards understanding how those same partners can turn the current circumstance around.”

FWP fisheries staff in southwest Montana and MCFRU are finalizing how best to tackle this challenge. While the details are new, this collaborative is a familiar one. The research unit is a long-standing collaboration among FWP, MSU, U.S. Geological Survey and the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service. Its mission is to conduct fisheries research, educate future fishery professionals and provide technical assistance to fisheries biologists working for state and federal agencies, nonprofits and industry.

“We’ve worked with FWP on hundreds of projects since our inception in 1963,” said Dr. Al Zale, the leader of MCFRU and a professor at MSU.

Those projects included native species restoration, fish diseases – especially whirling disease, catch-and-release mortality, predation, Missouri and Yellowstone river fisheries and much more.

FWP’s Region 3 fisheries manager Mike Duncan and his staff are comparing notes with MCFRU.

“We all met several times to come up with a plan of what knowledge gaps to fill,” Duncan said.

The three studies with MCFRU will focus on adult mortality, juvenile origins and survival and fish diseases.

Since 2011, trout numbers in these rivers have steadily declined and are now near historic lows. While those declines can be linked to low flows and warm water temperatures, the research projects will take a more in-depth look at other factors that may be affecting these fisheries.

The adult mortality study will involve tagging and tracking fish, Duncan said. FWP staff will capture and tag fish on the Big Hole, Beaverhead and Ruby rivers, along with the Madison River. The project will assess how flows, water temperatures, angling and disease influence survival.

As part of the study, fish biologists Matt Jaeger and Jim Olsen are developing adaptive management plans that will inform fishing regulations on the Big Hole, Beaverhead and Ruby rivers. “This could include spawning closures and catch-and-release as examples,” Duncan said.

The juvenile study will look at where fish are born and their spawning and rearing habitat. “We’ll mainly be looking in tributaries,” Duncan said. Biologists will sample the fish’s otolith, or ear bone, to determine where the fish has lived and traveled during its life. This work will help focus and direct potential habitat projects.

The third project will examine the level that disease is impacting trout populations on these three rivers. It will include testing for novel pathogens and help determine better ways to routinely sample fish for disease in the future.

Some of these projects will involve recruiting graduate students to work with MCFRU. “These usually take four or five years in fisheries science because of the seasonal cycles that regulate nature,” Zale said.

To accompany these projects, FWP will increase fish health monitoring and reporting resources. “We want to get a better handle on environment triggers and how pathogens are affecting the fisheries,” Duncan said.

The public can participate in fish health monitoring by reporting dead and sick-looking fish on the new web portal fwp.mt.gov/sickfish.

For more information and to follow the progress of the research projects, visit fwp.mt.gov/conservation/fisheries-management/trout-mgmt-sw-mt

A Low-Labor Labor Day Soiree

It's a quandary. How do we avoid spending Labor Day laboring in the kitchen, but also celebrate the last hurrah of summer with a delicious meal? Here's how!

We're going to employ the grill and concoct a Mediterranean inspired feast that is very inexpensive, easy and fast to prepare. Everything can be prepared in advance then grilled in 20 minutes to be served at your leisure during your gathering. Bonus — cooking outside keeps the house cooler, too.

On the menu this weekend is an easy Mediterranean Chicken and Veggie Kabob, filled with tender chicken and sweet summer vegetables made even sweeter by the smoke from the grill. We're using chicken thighs for easy grilling and low-cost.

To accompany this, we have refreshing homemade tzatziki sauce. If this is new to you, tzatziki is a cold yogurt sauce with cucumbers, garlic, dill and lemon juice. It's incredibly popular in Greece, where it's slathered on top of nearly everything. To enhance the salty tang of this sauce we're adding feta cheese.

To finish this off, we'll have pillowy pita bread, warmed on the grill. This delicious combination is seasonal, festive and affordable.

MEDITERRANEAN CHICKEN AND VEGGIE KABOBS

Total Time: 35 minutes

Yield: 4 kabobs

What You'll Need:

- 4 long metal skewers or bamboo skewers
- 1 1/2 pounds boneless, skinless chicken thighs, cut into 1 1/2-inch pieces
- 2 large red bell peppers, cut into 1 1/2-inch pieces
- 1 medium zucchini, sliced into 1/2-inch rounds
- 1 medium summer squash, sliced into 1/2-inch rounds
- 1 medium red onion, cut into 1 1/2-inch pieces
- 1 cup bottled Italian dressing
- Pita bread for serving

Here's How:

If you're using bamboo skewers, soak them in water for 30 minutes prior to use.

Thread the chicken and vegetables onto the skewers. Place the kabobs into a 9-inch-by-13-inch casserole

www.JasonCoblentz.com

Low-labor chicken kabobs

dish and pour the Italian dressing on top. Cover with plastic wrap and marinate in the refrigerator for a least 30 minutes or up to 24 hours.

When you're ready to cook, preheat the grill to medium-high heat. Make your tzatziki sauce if you haven't already. Place the chicken kabobs on the grill and close the lid. Cook for 8 to 10 minutes per side, or until the chicken is cooked through. Let the kabobs rest for 5 minutes before serving. While you wait, warm the pita bread on the grill.

Serve the kabobs with pita bread and tzatziki sauce for dipping or schmearing on the pitas.

EASY TZATZIKI SAUCE WITH FETA

Yield: 4 (1/3 cup) servings

Time: 10 minutes

What You'll Need:

- 1 (approximately 10 ounce) cucumber
- 1 cup plain Greek yogurt
- Juice and zest of one lemon
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh dill or 2 teaspoons dried dill
- 1/4 cup (2 ounces) feta cheese, crumbled
- Black pepper, to taste

Here's How:

Using a box grater, grate the cucumber on the largest grating side, then squeeze it in a clean kitchen towel to remove most (but not all) of the liquid. Place the cucumber in a medium bowl and add the yogurt, lemon, garlic, dill and feta. Stir to combine and set aside so the flavors can marry. This can be made in advance and refrigerated, if desired. Before serving, add black pepper to taste and squeeze a lemon wedge over the bowl and stir once more. This recipe easily doubles, and any leftovers can be refrigerated for three to four days.

I hope the holiday weekend finds you relaxing with full tummies and fuller hearts. Happy Labor Day, my friends.

PCBs

Poly Chloriated Biphenyls

FOR SEWER USERS

THE WASTEWATER PLANTS DO NOT CREATE PCB's. PCB's COME FROM HOMES AND BUSINESSES. WASTEWATER PLANTS REMOVE PCB's WHILE TREATING WASTEWATER. BUT WE NEED YOUR HELP.

paint

printing inks

clothing pigments &amp; dyes

pesticides

old fluorescent light ballasts

lubricants &amp; hydraulic fluids

How Do PCBs Enter the Wastewater System?

Atmospheric deposition

- Consumer products used in our homes

- Stormwater runoff

RESIDUE RINSED OFF IN SHOWERS AND THROUGH HUMAN WASTE

DYES WASHED FROM CLOTHING AND FIRE RETARDANT MATERIALS

PIGMENTS FROM RECYCLED NEWSPRINT

DID YOU KNOW?
YELLOW DYES HAVE HIGHER CONCENTRATIONS OF PCB'S!

The "PCB Regulatory Paradox".

While EPA allows PCB levels up to 50 ppm in products, Federal PCB water quality regulations allow only 0.00000064 ppm for any wastewater discharge

PCB Regulatory Relationships (in parts-per-million)

Federal Allowance in Products	50 ppm
Federal Allowance in Drinking Water	0.0005 ppm
ID State Human Health Water Quality Criteria (allowable in lakes and streams)	0.00000019 ppm
Federal Human Health Water Quality Criteria (allowable in lakes and streams)	0.000000064 ppm
Spokane Tribe Water Quality Standard (allowable in lakes and streams)	0.000000007 ppm

THIS IS OFTEN REFERRED TO AS "PCB-FREE".

IMAGINE...

1 part-per-million =
1 inch in 16 miles
1 minute in two years
1 ounce in 32 tons
$0.01 in $10,000

What can I do?

THE PCB SOURCE INFORMATION IS BEING DISCOVERED ALL THE TIME, SO STAY TUNED.

Be a consumer advocate for plain packaging that uses less ink since a lot of common packaging contains PCBs due to inks and dyes.

Don't rinse chemicals, solvents, oil, paints, etc. down your home drains.

EarthTalk® From the Editors of E – The Environmental Magazine

Fixing it and keeping it up and running might be the greenest thing you can do if your ride has seen better days.

Dear EarthTalk: The engine is fried on my old Honda Civic. What's the most environmentally friendly thing to do with this car? – Tom C. Venice, CA

Studies show that the typical combustion engine has a lifetime expectation of about 200,000 miles. For the average American, reaching this mileage takes about 14 years. Surprisingly, a survey by Zebra found that the average American only keeps their longest-owned car for eight years. The manufacturing of new cars, even electric ones, generates heavy emissions, contributing to pollution. Large automotive conglomerates like Stellantis (parent company of well-known brands like RAM, Maserati, Jeep, Chrysler and Dodge) are now focusing on extending car lifetimes and reusing parts to reduce carbon emissions.

One obvious option is engine repair or replacement. Repairing or replacing your car's engine, though it may seem like a weak investment, is more environmentally friendly than buying a brand-new car. However, older cars often have poor fuel efficiency, so it is good to check online databases to compare your old car's fuel efficiency with newer models you're considering.

Another possibility is to convert your gasoline-powered engine to electric. But it is no easy task, as you'll have to not only remove and replace the engine itself but also the transmission, gas tank and exhaust system. This option is certainly more eco-friendly than buying a new car, and you'll save on fuel costs. However, the immediate costs for the conversion kits, accessories and installation service can range from $7,000 to $20,000, making it reasonable only if you plan to keep your car for a while.

If your car is truly beyond repair, buying a hybrid or electric vehicle is likely the best option. Then if you're truly eco-motivated, you can choose to recycle your old car's parts yourself. In doing so, make sure to do so responsibly. Drain and recycle used motor oil. Some recycling centers accept it for re-refining and repurposing, and certain locations of Auto Zone and O'Reilly Auto Parts will recycle engine oil and filters for no cost. The same firms may also be willing to buy your car's battery for a small amount. The car's tires, if in good condition, can be held onto for spares or sold for repurposing.

Beyond those simple tasks, you'll need an auto-salvage yard or junkyard to handle the rest. They will crush the car frame and chassis. The metal is then melted and repurposed. Car glass is laminated, so it cannot be mainstream recycled. However, your local junkyard may have contacts with large auto glass manufacturers, many of whom, according to only1autoglass, "are innovating and coming up with new ways to recycle auto glass, for multiple reuses." This practice isn't the norm throughout the industry, says only1, but it is gaining in popularity.

Spinal Cord Injury Misdiagnosed as Blood Pressure Stroke

DEAR DR. ROACH: Have you ever heard of a “low blood pressure stroke”? That was my husband’s (incorrect) diagnosis several years back when he suddenly could not move his arms and legs. He was told that not enough oxygen was getting to his spine. (His blood pressure is historically low, usually around 90/60.)

That lasted about seven months, and he was bed-ridden the entire time. He then went to a neurosurgeon and was (correctly) diagnosed with a spinal cord injury. He had C1-C2 surgery and had use of his limbs the next day. After months of physical therapy, he regained a lot of function.

We’ve never heard of that diagnosis before or after his experience. Does it really exist? – E.S.K.

ANSWER: The brain has tremendous ability to regulate its own blood flow under a very wide range of blood pressures, but there are some limits. When a person is used to very high blood pressure levels, such as 200/110 for months or years, a sudden drop to 90/60 (or even 120/80 sometimes) can cause a stroke. That’s the main reason we don’t lower blood pressure too quickly in people who have had very high blood pressure levels for a long time. It takes weeks or months for the brain to recover its ability to regulate blood flow.

In a person who has a heart attack, prolonged low blood pressure (or no blood pressure) will also cause brain damage. That’s why starting CPR as quickly as possible is so critical in order to preserve brain function.

In both of these cases, not enough blood is getting to the central nervous system (the brain, the spinal cord and the retinas), which can lead to cell death – the hallmark of a stroke. But these are extreme cases.

A healthy person whose normal blood pressure is around 90/60 is at risk for fainting when suddenly standing; however, they are at a lower-than-average risk for heart disease and stroke. The diagnosis of “a low blood pressure stroke” for your husband doesn’t make any sense at all to me, and advanced imaging of the brain should have made it abundantly clear that it was not the right diagnosis.

I’m shocked that he wasn’t treated correctly for that long. But I’m very happy to hear that his neurosurgeon did not assume the diagnosis of a stroke, instead making the correct diagnosis and performing the procedure to help him recover. Your husband is fortunate that he still had neurological function to recover after such a long time, since spinal cord injuries generally heal better when treated promptly.

DEAR DR. ROACH: My primary care physician and blood specialist claim there is nothing that will increase white blood cell count. Are there any supplements that I can take or foods I can eat to improve the low count? – R.J.L.

ANSWER: The question is, why is your white blood cell count low? Some people have low white blood cell counts for no reason; it runs in families, so there aren’t any health concerns there. However, there are a large variety of blood diseases that cause low white cell counts. Some affect the lymphocytes, while others affect the granulocytes (the two main types of white cells).

Nutritional deficiencies are extremely rare in North America (vitamin B12, folic acid and copper are the exceptions that should be looked for), so neither diet nor supplements are usually helpful. If there’s an absence of blood disease or symptoms, low white blood cell counts usually do not need treatment.

Hood Ornament

Looking for a little luxury? This “Spirit of Ecstasy” figure replicates the hood ornament from Rolls-Royce cars. In 1909, car enthusiast John Douglas-Scott-Montagu commissioned sculptor Charles Sykes to create a mascot for his Rolls-Royce. Sykes made a sculpture of a woman bent at the waist, leaning forward so her robe flows behind her like wings. The model was Eleanor Thornton, Montagu’s secretary and, secretly, lover.

By 1911, Sykes’s sculpture was made the official Rolls-Royce hood ornament. “Spirit of Ecstasy” is its official name, but it is also known as the “Flying Lady” or the “Silver Lady.” The hood ornament was originally silver plated, but has since been made in other silver tone metals like chrome or stainless steel.

This brass version is a reproduction. It sold for $210 at Morphy Auctions – a very low price when compared to an actual Rolls-Royce car.

Q My grandmother loved Precious Moments figurines. She gave me the Precious Moments figurine of a bride called “Someday My Love” when I got married 20 years ago. Is it worth anything?

A Precious Moments, like Beanie Babies, were wildly popular and people collected them assuming they would increase in value. Most have not. Artist and illustrator Samuel Butcher began drawing pictures of stylized, cute children in the 1970s. He and a friend began a company to make and sell greeting cards and posters that featured his “Precious Moments” artwork. In 1978, Enesco Corp. developed a line of porcelain Precious Moments figurines. Demand was high. Sales kept growing, too many different figurines were made and the market crashed. Many buyers still love them, but they sell for very low prices. Your “Someday My Love” figurine was made in 1988. It sells for anywhere from $14 to $25.
