Two Yearling Moose Captured and Removed From Pocatello
— Idaho Department of Fish and Game —

At approximately 10am on Thursday, June 23rd, Idaho Department of Fish and Game received reports of two moose in the vicinity of Mountain View Cemetery on the south end of 5th Avenue in Pocatello.

Fish and Game personnel responded and were able to dart and transport the two moose to a more remote location in the region. Both moose were yearling females and appeared to be in good condition. It is not known if the moose were twins or simply traveling together, but yearling moose are often "kicked out" by the mothers this time of year as new calves are born.

Moose are quite often seen in the open spaces and benches to the west and south of Pocatello. However, sightings right in town are not as common and can be problematic. Moose can be defensive if people approach them, and these large animals can be a hazard to motorists. Fish and Game cautions the public to always give wildlife their space to avoid potentially dangerous encounters. Never attempt to approach, corral or herd moose observed in town. Instead, contact Fish and Game for assistance.

Thursday's moose report was the second in Pocatello this week. Fish and Game responded to a moose call in a neighborhood on the west bench two days earlier. In that case, the moose had already retreated to the open habitat situated behind the neighborhood by the time Fish and Game personnel arrived.

DINE-IN CUSTOMERS welcome. Also open for pick up and take-out. Open Wednesday through Monday, 7am-2pm; closed Tuesday. Follow us on Facebook for menu and daily specials. 501 N. 4th St., CdA, 208-664-3998

Donna's Day Creative family fun

by Donna Erickson

Your Summer Library Card: Don't Leave Home Without It

I'm not a financial analyst, but one thing I do know for sure is that cash is flying out of my billfold. Today's $75 tab to fill the tank in our family car and even more to fill the refrigerator were a clear sign that costs are rising before my eyes.

But wait! There's one place where the sticker price stays the same: FREE. Grab your kids and jump on your bikes today to check out your neighborhood library, the best deal in town. Apply for free library cards to discover how you can fill the summer months with reading and motivating literacy-based activities. It's a deal you can't afford not to invest in, where the dividends count more than dollars and cents.

This summer's theme at our local public library -- "Look What's Cookin' at Your Library" -- got me thinking of some of my favorite foodie-related children's books and literacy ideas. Take a look at this menu of practical reading and writing activities you can stir up with your family this summer to keep minds sharp. And remember my tip -- there's no tab!

- Box-Top Reading: Start the day with some box-top reading and surprise each other with the new vocabulary words you pick up. Read ingredients and nutritional information listed on the side panels of cereal boxes, or the serving tips on the back of a frozen-waffle box.
- Read on the Go: Pack a book between the sandwiches and chips in your picnic basket. When you read "The Most Perfect Spot" by Diane Goode, the ants and mosquitoes at your spot won't seem like such a nuisance.
- Eat and Read: Who doesn't love savory spaghetti on Friday night and a platter of pancakes on Saturday morning? Prepare these family favorites with your young kids, and then wind down the day with classic picture-book titles such as "Strega Nona" by Tomie dePaola and "Pancakes, Pancakes!" by Eric Carle.
- Play With Food Words: Enjoy word play around the dinner table. See how many expressions you can think of that use food themes and then talk about them. For example: "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," "Go bananas," "Sour grapes," "Bring home the bacon," "Icing on the cake," "That's the way the cookie crumbles," etc.
- Grandparent Connection Tip: Share memories of a family recipe with your grandchild. WRITE a grocery list for the ingredients and shop for them together; then READ the directions aloud as you prepare the dish.

EXTRA TIP: Keep a basket near your door to corral library books and to store your library cards.

Repeated Black Bear Activity Has Been Reported in Hayden View and Canfield Area of CdA

— Idaho Department of Fish and Game —

Idaho Fish and Game has received multiple calls about black bear activity in the north Dalton Gardens and south Hayden area

Officers with Idaho Fish and Game in the Panhandle have received multiple calls over the past few weeks about black bear activity in a local neighborhood. The incidents have been occurring in a neighborhood near Canfield Mountain, in the Hayden View Drive and Packsaddle Drive area, just north of Dalton Gardens.

Multiple residents have reported seeing a black bear in the area, and although there have been no reports of aggressive behavior toward humans, the bear has been getting into household trash and backyard chicken coops. Black bears are common throughout north Idaho but will move into residential areas when they are attracted to easy food sources. Never approach a bear or any other wild animal.

Residents are advised of the bear activity and encouraged to take the following precautions:

- If possible, surround chicken coops, backyard gardens or other permanently established potential food sources with electrified fencing. Electric fences are the most effective deterrent to keep bears out.
- Properly dispose of attractants, including trash, animal carcasses, compost, livestock feed and beehives.
- Securely store food, garbage and other attractants in a bear-resistant place.
- Keep pet food secured as you do your own. Bears like pet food as much as your pet does.
- Avoid filling bird feeders until wintertime.
- Make sure to clean your grills and keep them in a building, if possible.

In addition, here are a few tips in the event you do encounter a bear:

- Never approach bears, always stay at least 300 feet away.
- Do not interrupt bear activities or startle a bear.
- Never feed bears.
- Carry bear spray and know how to use it.
- Never run if you encounter a bear.

Fish and Game officers will continue to monitor the situation and will take action as necessary.

For more information or if you have questions or need support, please contact the Panhandle Regional office.

You can also follow the Panhandle Region Facebook page to get regular news and updates.

F&G Commission To Set Sage Grouse Tag Numbers in July

— Idaho Department of Fish and Game —

Sage grouse tags will go on sale Aug. 1 on first-come, first-served basis

The Fish and Game Commission is scheduled to set sage-grouse tag numbers at its July 28 meeting in Salmon, and tags will go on sale on a first-come, first-served basis starting Aug. 1. People can comment on the proposed sage-grouse hunting season on the Fish and Game public comment webpage.

Since 2021, sage-grouse tags are now designated in 12 separate management zones. Hunters must choose a single zone in which to hunt, and the department's proposal is to increase the number of tags a hunter may purchase from one to two.

Proposed season dates are:

- Firearm season: Sept. 17 through Oct. 31
- Falconry season: Aug. 15 through March 15, 2023

Sage-grouse tags are $22.75 each for residents and $74.25 for nonresidents. An updated seasons and rules brochure will be available online shortly after the July 28 Commission meeting.

The sage-grouse tag system is designed to limit harvest to no more than 10% of the estimated fall population in each of 12 hunting zones. In each zone, fall populations were estimated based on spring lek counts and recruitment estimates derived from juvenile:adult ratios observed in the harvest.

This is the second year tags have been required to hunt sage-grouse in Idaho. To set 2021 tag numbers for each zone, Fish and Game staff first determined an allowable harvest of 8% of the estimated fall population in most zones, then assumed a 90% success rate for each tag purchased. Harvest success during the 2021 season was lower than anticipated; consequently, proposed tag numbers in most zones were increased in 2022.

Statewide, sage-grouse populations increased 26 percent in 2022 compared to 2021, but are still down 28 percent from 2016. Trends were up statewide in 2022, with modest increases in across southern Idaho. Fish and Game officials will continue to adapt harvest recommendations annually to maintain sustainable sage-grouse hunting opportunities in Idaho.

Love is a parasol,
it's heart security..
needing noting else at all
than you in love with me.

Love is a canopy,
it's shelter from the storm..
refuge safe to cover me,
and shield to keep me warm.

Love is a covering,
it's natures mystery..
True Love is eternal spring,
and you are life to me.
