The CdA City Park Concert Series Continues

— Handshake Productions —

The Coeur d'Alene City Park Concert Series continues this Sunday, July 24th, 1pm-4pm with a performance by What About Bob, performing their special blend of Rock, Blues and Catchy tunes music.

The performance will take place at Coeur d'Alene City Park in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, rain or shine. There is no indoor backup this year. Families are welcome. Seating is limited so be sure to bring your lawn chair. And there is a food concession, so leave your picnic at home. For more information, contact Handshake Productions at www.HandshakeProductions.net or 208-667-3162.

The Coeur d'Alene City Park Concert Series is presented by Atchley Financial Group, Garden Plaza Retirement of Post Falls, TDS Telecom.com, Mike White Ford of North Idaho, and Northwest Specialty Hospital, and sponsored in part by The Nickel's Worth and many local businesses and families. These concerts will be provided free on Sundays, 1pm-4pm, now through August 28th, excluding August 7th.

Spokane River Access at Post Falls Open

— Avista Utilities —

Avista is advising Spokane River users that river recreation will be permitted in the area between the Spokane Street Bridge and the boater safety cables located just upstream of the Post Falls Dam beginning Thursday, June 30. River flows have dropped sufficiently to allow summer operations at the hydroelectric facility.

The City of Post Falls boat launch and swim beach at Q'emiln Park are opening to the public Thursday as well.

Avista expects summer operation at the dam to continue through Labor Day, as long as weather conditions allow. Please remember water levels and conditions around the dam are subject to change at any time, and river users should exercise caution whenever using the waterways.

In an emergency, if spillway gates need to be opened, the boat launch and swim beach at Q'emiln Park may be temporarily closed, as well as the area of the river downstream of Spokane Street Bridge. If this occurs, boaters in the area will be notified, and temporary closure signs will be posted. This specific "ordinance area" is addressed in Post Falls Ordinance No. 1435 and Kootenai County Ordinance No. 6.2.123.

Customers can access waterflow information at myavista.com/waterflow or if you prefer the information is available on our 24-hour telephone information line. Where recorded information is provided to advise shoreline property owners, commercial and recreational users of changes in the lake elevations and river flows that may affect plans for water use on Lake Spokane, the Spokane River and Coeur d'Alene Lake. In Washington call 509-495-8043 and in Idaho call 208-769-1357.

Water-Wise Gardens: Creating Beautiful, Drought-Resistant Gardens, Landscapes and Meadows

Presented by Idaho Master Gardeners' Summer Horticulture Class Series

Efficient irrigation practices combined with native plantings can create a stunning, water-wise landscape, garden, or backyard haven.

Water rationing in the home landscape may be a reality in the near future as drought conditions worsen in the western U.S. The University of Idaho, Kootenai County Idaho Master Gardener's Summer Horticulture Class series is offering a class to home gardeners to help them learn how to create efficient irrigation systems, water more efficiently, and incorporate native, drought-resistant plants into their landscape.

The class, Water-Wise Gardens: Creating Beautiful, Drought-Resistant Gardens, Landscapes and Meadows will be held on Tuesday, July 26, from 6 to 8 pm at the Coeur d'Alene Library Community Room. The cost is $10 and pre-registration is required.

How gardens and landscapes are watered is key to being water-wise. BiJay Adams, General Manager of the Liberty Lake Sewer and Water District, will lead the discussion on efficient watering practices and discuss how to create an efficient irrigation system or how to retrofit a system already in place.

"Outdoor irrigation is the single largest use of potable water in the United States," Adams said. "Through education and planning, landscapes can be well maintained using 30 to 50% less water."

The class will cover how to improve the design and efficiency of your irrigation system to keep your landscape healthy and save you money. Efficient irrigation systems protect the quality of our water by reducing runoff and keeping pesticides, fertilizers, herbicides and automotive fluids out of storm drains, drywells, the aquifer and river.

The class will also provide suggestions for incorporating drought-resistant, native plants into the home landscape.

"When people think of drought-resistant gardens, they often imagine a yard full of rocks and succulent plants, or xeriscaping," said Kara Carleton, program coordinator for the Idaho Master Gardener program. "But that's not what drought-resistant means in Northern Idaho. We have many beautiful native flowers, grasses, shrubs and trees that are low maintenance and drought-resistant."

And being water-wise doesn't mean you have to remove your lawn. "It's entirely possible to have a lawn and be water-wise," said Carleton. "There are several types of turf grasses that are drought-tolerant." The class will also offer suggestions for drought-tolerant turf grasses and tips for creating and maintaining a sustainable lawn.

To register for Water-Wise Gardens: Creating Beautiful, Drought-Resistant Gardens Landscapes and Meadows visit: <https://tinyurl.com/yuy8p5eh> or call 208-292-2525, or download the registration form at www.uidaho.edu/extension/county/kootenai/garden

About the Idaho Master Gardener Program *The University of Idaho Extension, Kootenai County Idaho Master Gardener program provides gardeners with opportunities to improve their horticultural knowledge and skills as well as serve their communities. Donna's Day Creative family fun

Collecting Sea Glass, Shells and Stones

"Spending time with my seven young grandkids is about learning together and making discoveries that ignite the human spirit," says Jan Bowman, retired teacher and grandmother of seven. "Whether you are 6 or 60, connecting with one another around an activity we all enjoy is catching. That's what the hunt for sea glass does for us."

Recently, after a big storm, I said, "Let's go to the coast this morning. I bet we'll find some rare sea glass that was churned up in the ocean and landed on the sand, just for us to find." Sure enough, nature's jewelry was dotting the beach.

What is sea glass and what is the allure? Plain and simple, it's discarded glass that was cast into the ocean and lost to sea -- until some pieces came back in interesting shapes and sizes after being tumbled and chemically weathered. It's often castoffs from glass factories, or discarded bottles from shipwrecks that broke and tumbled in the sea, decades and centuries ago. Nowadays, it's a hobby that knows no bounds, popular stateside to global shores from Australia to the U.K.

Whether your family gets hooked on collecting sea glass, seashells or pretty rocks and pebbles along streams and around lakes, there's always fun to be had when you return home with pockets full of finds. Enjoy these easy-to-do crafts using sea glass, shells or stones:

- Frame a photo of your child at the beach where the sea glass or shells were found. Embellish the plain frame with a select few of the treasures glued to a corner.
- Glue "finds" on the top of a small box in interesting patterns. Fill it with more summer souvenirs.
- Tie thin cord around a find, knot it, and glue the knot in place for a memory-filled necklace.

For inspiration and information on sea glass, find author Richard LaMotte's comprehensive book with photography by Celia Pearson, "Pure Sea Glass: Discovering Nature's Vanishing Gems" and "Pure Sea Glass Identification Deck" (www.seaglasspublishing.com).

Guidebook for Lower Yellowstone River Available Soon

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

Boaters and other visitors will soon have a new resource when venturing out on the lower Yellowstone River corridor this year. Starting this week, the "Lower Yellowstone River Guide" will be available for free at FWP offices and local sporting goods stores in communities along this scenic remote stretch of the Yellowstone River. The guide can also be downloaded from fwp.mt.gov/activities/boating/lower-yellowstone-river.

This guide is aimed at helping current and future visitors of the Lower Yellowstone River corridor know how to plan for their time on the river, where to access service and how to stay safe while recreating outdoors. It includes more than 30 maps, scenic photos, tips on points of interest and recreational opportunities, historical and cultural information about the area and safety information.

"The Lower Yellowstone and its eastern Montana communities offer a treasure trove of recreational, historical and educational opportunities," said FWP's Parks and Outdoor Recreation Administrator Hope Stockwell. "It's a beautiful, vast landscape but the power of the river must be respected, and this river guide will help visitors enjoy their time here and stay safe."

The guide also reminds recreationists about the importance of responsible recreation for the stewardship of natural resources and respect for other users, communities and landowners.

This stretch of river is fairly remote and access opportunities are still somewhat limited. Visitors can expect a remote experience and should come prepared to practice leave-no-trace recreation, whether boating, camping or just visiting the area.

FWP created this guidebook based on the recommendations of the governor-appointed Lower Yellowstone River Advisory Committee. The 12-member group was formed to help shape future opportunities for improved access, habitat conservation and sustainable economic development along the river corridor. For more information on the group and its recommendations, visit fwp.mt.gov/about/fwp/commission-councils-committees/loweryellowstone-committee.

Conditions on the river can be unpredictable this time of year. Floaters and other recreationists should check flows and conditions before heading to the water.

Pets of the Week: Galilee and Elvira

— Companions Animal Center —
formerly Kootenai Humane Society

Hi friends! I'm Galilee. And I'm ready to be your ultimate adventure sidekick! I like long walks, playing in the yard, and hanging out with the family. I'm also looking to be someone's one and only furbaby. I'm 6-years-old, and my breed is 100% adorable heeler mix. I'm neutered, vaccinated, and microchipped.

My name is Elvira, and I'm a beautiful and independent 5-year-old lady. While I'm just plain good company, I don't mind my solitude. I would love a low-traffic, calm environment forever home where I will be the only fabulous feline. I'm spayed, vaccinated, and microchipped.

Public walk-through viewing of the animals is available Tuesday and Thursday from 1-4pm. Adoptions by appointment only. For more information about Pretty Girl and Kootenai Humane Society becoming Companions Animal Center, visit www.companionsanimalcenter.org.

Over a million Americans need emergency treatment for bug bites and stings every year, and treatment costs and lost wages can run into the billions. Avoid bees, mosquitoes, ticks, yellow jackets, wasps, hornets, kissing bugs, spiders, bed bugs, ants and scorpions, and do not tease them or try to catch them. Keep cold compresses, antihistamines and pain relievers handy, and also be prepared for an emergency room trip should more severe reactions develop. -Brenda Weaver

Controversy

— Vivian E. Bogardus—

If this thing is Global WARMING, why is ice on windows forming?
The snow is deep, the wind is cold,
this Global WARMING has sure took hold!

Wild geese aren't sticking 'round to feel,
if Global WARMING is for real.
They're heading South where it is warm, where cold ice sickles never form!

This WARMING trend has got me down,
when WARMING is no where around!
With my warm coat and long johns on,
I'll stoke the coals till Winters' gone!
