$50,000 REWARD TO ANY person who can show a KJV Bible verse, where Jesus Christ told any person to observe Sunday, in honor of His resurrection. Jesus Christ set up the Seventh-day Sabbath (Saturday) as the sign of loyalty between man and God (Ezekiel 20:12-20) and that God never changes. Satan set up first day of week (Sunday) as his sign of loyalty and disguised it in a religious manner to sell it to people, who are willingly ignorant of what the Bible says, so he has his ministers tell people what to believe (2 Corinthians 11:13-15). There isn't one person in all the Bible that observed Sunday as a day of worship, in honor of Christ's resurrection. God blessed only one day and made it holy and that day was not Sunday. Interesting how April Fools' Day happens in April, the very month that Easter Sunday falls on. The Bible tells us that Satan is the God of this world (2 Corinthians 4:4) and that he has deceived that whole world (Revelation 12:9). So, then the question is: have you become foolish to Satan's deceptions? Tim, 208-217-8942, text only

CHRISTIANS ARE ON probation; did you know that? (1 Peter 4:17) For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if it first begins at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God? (4:18) And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and sinner appear? Most people in the Christian world mistakenly think just believing in God/Jesus Christ that they will skip into heaven without going through the investigative judgment process. As it is written in the Bible, it says: My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge and since you reject knowledge, I (Jesus Christ) will reject you. The Bible also states: (Matthew 7:21) Not everyone that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he that does the will of my father which is in heaven. (7:23) And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you, depart from me, you break my law. So, then the question is, what is the will of God? It's found in Ecclesiastes 12:13-14. ## F&G Seeks Landowners for Clearwater's Managed Hunt Program

— Idaho Fish & Game —

Is it time to thin out all those turkeys on your property?

Idaho Fish and Game is seeking willing landowners to participate in the Managed Hunt Program for the upcoming spring turkey season.

This program is designed for landowners who want to allow hunting access but prefer not to manage repeated requests from hunters. Through the Managed Hunt Program, Fish and Game staff coordinate hunter access while landowners retain control over how their property is used.

How the Managed Hunt Program Works

Fish and Game serves as the main point of contact for hunters interested in accessing enrolled properties. Landowners set the rules for their land, and Fish and Game ensure those rules are clearly communicated and adhered to by the public.

What Landowners Should Know

- The program is available for any legal hunting season, not just turkey, as long as it follows Idaho Fish and Game rules and landowner guidelines.
- Landowners set the rules, including hunting dates, access type (such as walk-in only), and the number of hunters allowed.
- Fish and Game staff serve as the primary contact for hunters and handle scheduling, coordination, and conflicts that may arise.
- Fish and Game provide hunters with property boundary maps and landowner rules.
- Fish and Game staff install any necessary signage on the property. Infrastructure at public access points may be improved for longer contracts.
- There is no monetary compensation for participation.
- There is no minimum contract length, and landowners may withdraw from the program at any time.

Landowners interested in enrolling or learning more about the Managed Hunt Program are encouraged to contact the Clearwater Region of Idaho Fish and Game at 208-799-5010.

SUNDAY IS NOT THE Lord's Day because God says that Saturday, the 7th day of the week, is the Lord's Day (Isaiah 58:13-14). And the only reason the Christian world doesn't know that fact is because they don't read the Bible. They go to a church, and let religious leaders tell them what to believe, without checking the Bible for themselves. And on God's judgment day, God will ask them why they rejected the Bible truth, and accepted Satan's appointed day of worship, which is Sunday. As it is written, my people are destroyed for lack of knowledge, and because they have rejected knowledge, God rejects them (Hosea 4:6). The Mark of the Beast is enforced Sunday rest and worship attendance, which results in eternal death in hellfire. The choice is yours, my duty is only to tell you the truth, not to make you believe it. Tim, 208-217-8942, text

Martin Luther King Jr. Day Third Monday in January

— National Day Calendar —

On the third Monday in January, Martin Luther King Jr Day honors the American clergyman, activist, Civil Rights Movement leader. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.(January 15, 1929 – April 4, 1968) is best known for his role in advancing civil rights using nonviolent civil disobedience. King has become a national icon in the history of American progressivism.

Education

A gifted and friendly student, King attended Morehouse College, earning a B.A. in sociology. Combining a passion for racial equality with a rediscovered spirituality, King then attended Crozer Theological Seminary, following in his father's and grandfather's footsteps earning a Bachelors of Divinity.

Shortly after completing his Ph.D. in theology at Boston University in 1955, a 42-year-old Rosa Parks (See Rosa Parks Day observed December 1st) refused to give up her seat on a bus in Montgomery, Alabama. The opportunity for the NAACP to bring their civil rights efforts to the forefront was before them, and they chose King to lead the successful city-wide boycott of the Montgomery transit system.

Young Civil Rights Movement

Just over a year later, King and over 60 other ministers and activists founded the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Together, they coordinated nonviolent protests and gave the young civil rights movement a voice.

Through the next twelve years, King would be influential in organizing marches, sit-ins, and political rallies for civil rights. For example, during a 1963 March on Washington, D.C. for Jobs and Freedom, King spoke before more than 200,000 regarding the challenges African Americans face. His "I Have a Dream" speech has gone down in many history books as one of the greatest speeches ever given. Brutally honest, with a call to action and a vision of hope, King's speech resonated throughout the nation.

Selma

In early 1964, 1,500 men and women met a wall of state troopers during a march outside Selma. There, King led the marchers in prayer and avoided any confrontation with authorities. On July 2, President Lyndon B. Johnson signed the Civil Rights Act of 1964, outlawing discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. That same year, King became the youngest recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize for his unswerving work in the Civil Rights Movement.

In early 1965, Selma, Alabama, became the center of the Civil Rights movement. Congress introduced new voting rights legislation. It proposed banning literacy tests and mandating federal oversight where tests were administered. Additionally, it gave the U.S. attorney general the duty of challenging the use of poll taxes for state and local elections. Televised violence in February of that year resulted in the death of Jimmie Lee Jackson. King's presence and President Johnson's support of the marchers helped bring peace. Throughout the next month, marchers continued between Selma and Montgomery. Congress passed the Voting Rights Act in August of that year.

Author, speaker, father, theologian, activist, King died on April 4, 1968, when James Earl Ray assassinated him in Memphis, Tennessee. King arrived in Memphis with other SCLC members supporting a sanitation workers' strike. They stayed at the Lorraine Motel, and Ray's bullet struck King on the balcony. Riots and violence would follow, and President Johnson would call for peace, referring to King as the "apostle of nonviolence."

How To Observe Martin Luther King Jr Day

Many schools, businesses, and government offices are closed during Martin Luther King Jr Day. However, schools hold programs or teach curricula engaging students in Civil Rights history and lessons throughout the week. ### Martin Luther King Jr Day History

While President Ronald Reagan signed the observance into law in 1983, Martin Luther King Jr. Day was first observed as a U.S. federal holiday in 1986.

Martin Luther King Jr. FAQ

- Q. Is Martin Luther King Jr. the only American honored with a federal holiday?
- A. No, but Martin Luther King Jr. is part of a select group of three men who have been honored with federal holidays. The other two are Abraham Lincoln and George Washington.
- Q. Was Martin Luther King Jr. awarded the Nobel Peace Prize?
- A. Yes. Martin Luther King Jr. became the youngest recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize in 1964.
- Q. Was Martin Luther King Jr. a Freedom Rider?
- A. No, but King did show his support for the Freedom Riders in several ways. In 1961 during the Civil Rights Movement, a group of young Black and White college students took to riding interstate busses to force the issue of desegregation. Angry crowds often met these busses, attacking the Freedom Riders. At least 60 Freedom Rides were conducted throughout the South, affecting change that caused the Interstate Commerce Committee to enforce its ruling six years prior that denounced the separate but equal doctrine.

Feeding Backyard Deer and Elk Does More Harm than Good

Part 1 of 2

— Idaho Fish & Game —

It may seem like you're helping, but handouts for wintering deer and elk ultimately harm the animals and people.

Seeing a herd of deer outside your door or a head of elk may seem idyllic, and during winter they can almost seem tame. But truth is they're wild animals that need to remain wild animals, and feeding them can quickly create a variety of problems.

Here's how a simple well-meaning act can lead to a neighborhood-wide conflict.

The same sad story repeats every winter

A neighbor will leave feed on their property all winter. The wintering deer catch wind of this 24-hour eatery and tell their out-of-town friends. The numbers grow, and pretty soon, other wildlife — including coyotes and cougars — hear about this backyard buffet as well.

The deer and elk eat what's available and start patrolling the neighborhoods for more readily-available grub, while predators start sourcing their own food — including household pets — as residential conflicts arise from "wild" animals suddenly becoming full-time residents in neighborhoods.

Regardless of how cute, fuzzy, or "hungry" those deer and elk look this time of year, please remember: Generally speaking, they are adapted to winter conditions, or if the conditions don't allow, migrate to milder climates. They do not need a tray of feed laid out in the backyard in order to survive the winter. They've done it for thousands of winters before, and they'll do it again this winter.

Come one, come all

Folks usually have good intentions and are only trying to help. But feeding wildlife typically does more harm than good.

Deer and elk can face health issues when well-intended — but ill-informed — people choose to feed residential wildlife. Feed left out for one deer or elk can quickly lead to more. Large quantities of wildlife in small areas can increase the chances of diseases spreading among the population.

Deer and elk digestive systems have also naturally adapted to different types of forage for different types of year. During winter, they're adapted to digest dried, low-nutrient forage. Adding unnatural, rich food to their diet can create serious digestive problems, bloat and even death.

Feeding deer and elk in neighborhoods can also attract them to deadly plants commonly used in landscaping, as was the case in January 2022 in the Wood River Valley. Despite Blaine County's ordinance restricting the planting of these poisonous plants, five elk were found dead in residential areas after they consumed toxic yew plants. Two of those elk were calves. In 2015-16, the same noxious yew plant killed at least 20 elk in the same area.

As more deer and elk congregate in towns, the chances of vehicle collisions also increase. Deer and elk aren't the best at reading crosswalk signs while they roam town searching for food sources. Hitting a large deer or even larger elk could ruin a person's day, not to mention the animal's day. Motorists should drive cautiously when they're traveling through areas where wildlife may be present.

Feeding a few deer can very quickly lead to many more looking for handouts, concentrating unnaturally high numbers in small areas, which increases the chances of diseases and parasites spreading among the population. Densely congregated deer and elk create conditions ideal for disease outbreaks.

The impacts of social media

It's a sad reality, but staging wildlife photos and videos is becoming more and more of an online trend. People on social media carelessly lure in wildlife with food, and take a selfie with the critter while it munches. Photos and videos can go viral, inflating a person's ego enough to do it again for even more social media engagement.

Pretty soon, the animal becomes used to being fed and repeatedly returns expecting another handout, and more animals may follow. This kind of behavior ultimately spells trouble for wildlife. An animal that's lost its fear of humans can create a whole web of problems for people, their pets, and sadly, the animal itself.

Feeding Backyard Deer and Elk Does More Harm than Good

Part 2 of 2

— Idaho Fish & Game —

At some point, Fish and Game has to intervene. Relocation might be the best-case scenario, but in most cases, euthanizing the animal is the only solution if the animal ends up threatening or harming a person or pet.

Issues all across the state

After passing a no-feeding ordinance in September 2023, the city of McCall is dealing with a long-standing problem with town deer. As the name implies, town deer spend most of their time living in town to take advantage of a town's ample food supply, snow-free roads and sidewalks.

These animals should be migrating, but since they can survive winter in town, they reside there year-round. As plowed roads become main travel routes for deer, car accidents are common, and injured deer must be euthanized.

Deer also attract predators

For some, the spectacle of wild deer appearing "tame" as they stroll down the sidewalk and graze in a neighbor's front yard is the perfect photo-op, causing some townsfolk or tourists to encourage this unnatural behavior. But time and time again, this proves to be detrimental for not just deer, but predators, too, as Fish and Game's Southwest Regional Wildlife Manager Regan Berkley explains.

"The more deer that concentrate in an area, the higher likelihood of predators moving into that area," Berkley said. "A few winters ago, we saw increased mountain lion sightings witnessed by numerous people or their doorbell cams."

Once a mountain lion, coyote or any other large predator discovers a buffet of town deer, it doesn't take long for them to move within city limits, sometimes right up to one's backdoor.

"Any time we have mountain lions in close proximity to people, our primary concern is for public safety," said Berkley. "Our level of concern rises when lions start to exhibit nontypical behavior, such as being active in the middle of the day and losing their fear of humans, or preying on domestic pets, which is why continuing to receive reports from the public is so important."

What seems harmless is often the opposite

Fish and Game always recommends against private feeding of deer and elk, and in many Idaho communities, it's illegal. Artificially altering wildlife's behavior almost always produces unintended and often negative consequences.

"Keeping all wildlife wild is the responsibility of all of us as humans living in wildlife habitat," Berkley said.

The story repeats farther north in the Panhandle and Clearwater, where the sight of white-tailed deer, turkey and moose meandering through town is commonplace.

Knock on just about any door and you'll hear stories of wildlife decimating freshly planted ornamental landscaping, or devouring the entire crop from a garden. While nearly all people love wildlife, wild animals living in neighborhoods creates conflicts between neighbors who don't want their expensive landscaping or hard-earned fruits and vegetables turned into deer food.

Some towns have resorted to other alternatives to deal with the destructive influx of hooved, feathery and hairy residents. In recent years, the City of Hayden Lake has pursued trapping and euthanizing resident white-tailed deer in town.

Trapping and relocating town deer is typically not an option due to possible disease transmission into wild populations. A relocation effort to remove town deer was halted in the City of Cascade because the deer were infested with lice that would be transmitted to wild deer if the town deer were released into the wild.

Fish and Game feeds only during emergency situations

In very rare cases, Fish and Game managers will supplement a deer or elk's diet with winter feed in emergency situations. Extreme winters can sometimes cause winter forage to become limited or unavailable, sometimes for prolonged periods of time.

Fish and Game will also feed wintering deer and elk on an emergency basis in order to prevent conflicts between big game and agricultural operations, as well as a means of luring big game herds away from congested freeways or onramps.

However instances such as these are uncommon. Most winters, snow depths and temperatures do not pose a threat to big game herds.

Moral of the story

If you wish to help wintering wildlife this year, rather than feeding, take out your binoculars and observe them from a distance. Appreciate the fact that you live in a place that provides deer and elk a suitable habitat during certain parts of the year. You will do more good for the deer and elk by not feeding them.

National Use Your Gift Card Day Third Saturday in January

— National Day Calendar —

National Use Your Gift Card Day reminds Americans to use the $1 billion in unused gift cards each year. On the third Saturday in January, take stock of the gift cards you received over the holidays. Then, make the most of each one of them before they're forgotten for good!

We all do it. Stash away gift cards, thinking we will have more time later to use them. Instead, they collect dust and disappear into an abyss somewhere. We discover them as we clean and often don't remember how much was on the card or if we used a portion of it. Those partial balances add up, too! So the first step is to collect the cards together and see what you have. You know where to look.

- Every pocket of every purse and wallet you have
- The infamous junk drawer
- Glove compartment of the car
- Bottom of the toy box (Someone probably used it to scrape goo off a toy.)
- The other junk drawer
- A gift bag with the tissue paper still in it
- The toolbox (We know what happens when you can't find a flathead screwdriver.)

Once you have your gift cards, get organized. Where do the gift cards work? Restaurants, retail, and services all offer gift cards. Some gift cards are designed to be used just about anywhere.

Maximizing Your Gift

- Check for deals to maximize your gift cards. In most cases, gift cards work just like cash and can be used with coupons. However, there are exceptions, so it's always good to check first.
- Is the card to a place you don't shop? You have a few options: See if the card is good at a companion location. Check to see if the retailer will cash the card out. Have a gift card swap party or sell your gift card for cash. Finally, donate your gift card to a charity fundraiser like a silent auction.

- Plan to overspend the amount of the gift card to avoid having small balances lying around. Even if you add a small useful item (lip balm is always handy) to go a penny over the amount, you'll be able to hand the card over to the retailer to recycle the card.

How To Observe Use Your Gift Card Day

Collect your gift cards. It's time to use them. Don't let them sit for a year and risk losing your gift altogether. Instead, maximize your gift cards with deals and get the most out of your gift cards, too. Take a shopping spree or a spa day with your gift cards. Don't let those gifts and savings pass you by! Use #UseYourGiftCardDay to share on social media.

National Use Your Gift Card Day History

Tilson PR founded National Use Your Gift Card Day in 2020 to make sure everyone gets the most out of their gift cards. Leave no gift card unturned and find tips, ideas, and deals by visiting useyourgiftcard.com, too.

The Registrar at National Day Calendar® proclaimed the first National Use Your Gift Card Day to be observed in 2019 on the third Saturday in January and annually thereafter.

Gift Card FAQ

- Q. Do gift cards expire
- A. Gift cards should be used within five years of the date they are activated. Federal law prevents retailers from expiring their gift cards in under five years. However, the retail may charge a fee if the card isn't used within 12 months.
- Q. I received a gift card for my birthday. Should I let my friend know what I buy with the gift card?
- A. It's not required for you to share how you use the gift card. However, sometimes a gift card allows us to finally purchase something we've been wanting. Telling your friend that the gift card went toward something meaningful lets know their gift was appreciated.
- Q. I received a gift card that I'm probably not going to use. Is it ok to re-gift it to someone else?
- A. So you received a gift card for a coffee shop and you don't drink coffee. Or maybe it was for a sports equipment store and you prefer books. Consider this before giving the card to someone else:
- Visit the store's websites. They may have a product that interests you after all.
  - Purchase a gift for someone else with the gift card, someone who loves coffee or sports.
  - See the answer to the first question. If you are going to re-gift the card, be sure to give it to someone within a couple of months of receiving it to avoid reducing the value of the gift card.

Why a Pot of Vegetable Soup Is the Best January Reset

Does last week already feel like a month ago? We often begin the new year with the best of intentions, and the trick is making them sustainable. I've learned that real life rarely responds well to extremes, but it does respond to support.

The gentlest and most effective reset doesn't come from cutting things out; it comes from putting the right things in. A pot of nourishing soup simmering on the stove is a simple, steady way to care for yourself and the people you love, one meal at a time.

A colorful, vegetable-rich soup offers more than comfort. Different colors provide different plant compounds that reduce inflammation, support immunity and overall wellbeing, which is why "eating the rainbow" matters. Plant-forward meals also give digestion a welcome break from heavier animal proteins, allowing the gut to settle after a season of indulgence.

My trick for deeply flavorful vegetable soup is building layers of flavor before adding any liquid. I start with a classic mirepoix of onion, carrot and celery, sautéed slowly until soft and lightly browned. That browning brings out the vegetables' natural sweetness. Once the base is fragrant and sweet, I add the remaining vegetables and saute them too.

To help everything brown and boost flavor, I toss the vegetables with seasoned vegetable soup base (Better Than Bouillon) loosened with a tablespoon of olive oil. This coats the vegetables, deepens the flavor and replaces the need for cartons of vegetable broth. It's an ingredient that costs more upfront but saves money over time, making it a smart, frugal staple in my kitchen.

Seasonal Vegetables

This is a flexible, clean-out-the-crisper soup. Use whatever vegetables are in season, ripe in your garden or priced to move at the store. In spring, think peas, asparagus or leeks. Summer welcomes corn, tomatoes and bell peppers. Fall is perfect for squash and cabbage. In winter, use sturdy vegetables like potatoes, peppers and kale. The method stays the same. The vegetables change with the season and the sales.

A colorful, vegetable-rich soup is a simple way to nourish yourself one meal at a time.

GENTLE RESET VEGETABLE SOUP

Yield: 16 cups

Total Time: 1 hour

- 4 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil, divided
- 1 large, sweet or white onion, chopped
- 3 carrots, peeled and chopped
- 3 celery stalks, chopped
- 2 tablespoons vegetable soup base (like Better Than Bouillon)
- 4 cups seasonal vegetables, chopped
- 4 cloves garlic, pressed or minced
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
- 1 - 28 oz. can diced tomatoes

8 cups water

1 (15.5 ounce) can great northern beans, drained

2 cups leafy greens like kale, chopped (thick ribs removed)

1/2 teaspoon sea salt, more to taste

1 tablespoon red wine vinegar

Freshly ground black pepper, to taste

Place eggs in a single layer in a Heat 3 tablespoons olive oil in a large soup pot over medium heat. Add the onion, carrot and celery and cook, stirring, until the onion is translucent, about 5 minutes. Meanwhile, mix the vegetable soup base with 1 tablespoon olive oil.

Add the seasonal vegetables to the pot, followed by the soup base mixture, stirring to coat. Add the garlic and thyme and saute until the vegetables are lightly browned and fragrant, 8 to 10 minutes.

Stir in the diced tomatoes with their juices and the water, scraping up any flavorful bits from the bottom of the pot. Bring to a boil, then partially cover, reduce heat and simmer gently for about 15 minutes.

Uncover and add the beans and chopped greens. Simmer until the greens are tender, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat, stir in the vinegar and season generously with black pepper and salt to taste. Serve hot with crusty bread.

celery and salt to taste, stirring 3 minutes. Add curry powder and continue stirring until onion and celery are soft, about 5 more minutes.

Add squash, apples and stock, then bring to a boil. Lower heat to low, cover pot, and simmer until squash and apples are very soft, about 35 minutes.

Cool soup slightly (important!) and puree by whirling in batches in a blender. Return the soup to the pot. Stir in the cream, season with salt and pepper, then simmer briefly to heat throughout. Serve garnished with an apple slice design, parsley, or chives.

Apple Slice Designs

Slice an apple in half through the middle cross-wise. Cut several thin, round slices from each of the halves. Set them on a cutting board and let your child press tiny cookie cutters through the middle core section of each slice, leaving a cute shape in the middle. Discard the cutout pieces containing seeds and the core. Nibble on the rest!

Here's a tip for when the grandkids are coming: To encourage healthy apple snacking, keep an assortment of small cookie cutters on hand and use them for making apple slice designs. You can use tiny cookie cutters that are themed according to the current month and season!

- "To remove spots from suede, try using an art gum eraser." -- J.C. in Florida
- Wet weather can affect your outdoor appliances, making rust a problem sometimes. This even happens to the metal end of a lightbulb in an outdoor fixture. Coat threads of the light bulb with petroleum jelly to keep it from rusting and becoming hard to remove.
- To remove scuffs from your linoleum floors, simply cut a small "X" into a tennis ball and push the tip of your broom handle into it. When you come across a sticky spot while sweeping, flip the broom and rub the spot with the tennis ball.
- "As you pack away your pool supplies, you might want to save the water wings for this cruise/duty-free alcohol hack: Use blow-up arm floaties to protect your liquor bottles while being transported in luggage. Use one or a set depending on the size of the bottle." -- T.T. in Georgia
- Boots will be coming out of storage soon, or new boots will be purchased, while the pool supplies will be packed away for the winter. Save your pool noodles to keep boots sitting upright. Simply cut a pool noodle to the height of the boot top and insert. Lo and behold, the boots won't flop over. This extends the life of the boot.
- "For troublesome-to-open jars -- pickles and such -- use a pair of standard dishwashing gloves. It's a great gripper, especially if your hands are the least bit moist." -- D.L. in Indiana

Restoring Scenic Bay: The Lake Pend Oreille Idaho Club's Lake Enhancement Project Scheduled May '26

— Christine Sandahl, with contributions from Susan Drumheller —

Lake Pend Oreille is one of Idaho's most treasured natural resources, providing habitat for native fish and trophy species, clean water for communities, and world-class recreation for residents and visitors alike. An important part of the fishery is Scenic Bay—located beside Bayview, the U.S. Navy's Acoustic Research Detachment, multiple marinas, and contains some of the lake's kokanee spawning beds.

Since 2022, the Lake Pend Oreille Idaho Club (LPOIC) has been leading an ambitious underwater cleanup through its Lake Enhancement Program. The next chapter of this multi-year effort is scheduled for the first week of May 2026.

The club is calling on volunteers and donors to help make the effort a success.

Why the Cleanup of Scenic Bay Matters: Kokanee salmon are the backbone of the Lake Pend Oreille fishery. These small, land-locked salmon are essential prey for trophy rainbow trout, westslope cutthroat trout, and the federally listed bull trout.

Scenic Bay's gravel beds are among the most productive kokanee spawning grounds in the lake because well-oxygenated groundwater flows through the gravel, giving kokanee eggs a higher chance of survival.

But over decades, those same beds have been compromised by an accumulation of trash and discarded equipment—barrels, batteries, engines, plastic totes, tires, and more. Left in place, debris can leach toxins and decrease productive kokanee spawning.

Underwater Photos by Jake Powlison

The Work Ahead

What: Scenic Bay Lakebed Cleanup will span four days and involve:

- Professional Divers — removing large or hazardous debris from the lakebed.
- Volunteers — collecting, weighing, sorting, and loading materials onshore.

Who: LPOIC members, Bayview Chamber of Commerce and community volunteers, local businesses, professional and volunteer divers, and the Kootenai County Sheriff's Office

- LPOIC will provide lunches for participants

When: First week of May 2026 (4 days)

- Specific dates will be published in April.
- A repeat of the cleanup is planned for 2027 and 2028

Where: Scenic Bay Marina, Bayview, Idaho

Why: Restore kokanee spawning beds, improve recreation safety, reduce pollution

Past cleanups show just how much muscle is required: in just six hours, more than 7,000 pounds of debris were removed from Scenic Bay.

Safety: Safety is a top priority. LPOIC develops a detailed operations plan, applies for the required Marine Event Permit from the Kootenai County Sheriff's Office, and coordinates with Timberlake Fire District for emergency response.

Community Investment: The cost of this cleanup is significant. Hiring a barge and professional divers represent the largest expense, but every dollar raised helps protect the lake.

Donations ensure:

- Continued debris removal from spawning beds.
- Safe operations with trained professionals.
- Long-term improvement to kokanee habitat.

Looking Forward: The Scenic Bay cleanup is more than a spring event—it's a commitment to the long-term health of Lake Pend Oreille. By restoring kokanee spawning grounds, reducing pollution, and making the bay safer for recreation, LPOIC and its partners are investing in the future of both the lake and the communities that depend on it.

This May, you can be part of that effort. Whether through your time and energy, or your financial support, your contribution will ripple outward—sustaining a fishery, strengthening a community, and protecting a remarkable Idaho treasure.

How You Can Help

- Volunteer: Contact us at Lakepoic@gmail.com or go to our website, lpoic.org and select "Contact Us".
- Support the Lake Enhancement Fund

Donate today at lpoic.org

- Go to the "Events" tab.
- Select "Donations."
- Choose "Lake Enhancement."
- Your donation directly supports diver costs, barges, fuel, and debris disposal. Even small contributions matter in our efforts to protect Lake Pend Oreille for future generations.

Spread the Word

Share the project with friends, neighbors and local businesses that rely on Lake Pend Oreille's health.

Thank you to the following:

IDAHO
FOUNDATION

The Idaho Community Foundation, Forever Idaho grants are awarded regionally. Thanks to their contribution, the LPOIC is closer to its funding goal for this project.

Thank you to Susan Drumheller, AVISTA's grant writer for assisting in the club's efforts to secure funds.

Jake Powlison, of Jake's Scuba Adventures for donating time, expertise and equipment.

Dance to the Rhythm of Earth

— Marilyn Giuliani —

The earth rotates in a beautiful melody.
You hear the drum beats' vibrations
in River Rapids swiftly racing by.
Ocean waves crashing onto beach heads,
Waterfalls splashing forth from glacier peaks
A Thunderstorm, its lightning strikes.
Followed by peaceful strings of soft warm breezes.
Trees and flowers swaying to its caresses.
A rainbow smiling displaying awesome blushes.
Trumpet calls of swan and piccolo voices from birds in distances.
Mammals of all varieties raising voices in their uniqueness.
Nature rejoices in beauties surrounding
Uplifting in glorious harmony.

Listen to the Beat
Dance to the rhythm
The beautiful beat of Earth.

Applications For Spring Black Bear Controlled Hunts Open Jan. 15th

— Idaho Fish & Game —

There are several ways to apply for a controlled black bear hunt this spring.

Hunters looking to apply for 2026 spring's controlled hunts for black bear can apply from Jan. 15 to Feb. 15. Information on the spring 2026 controlled black bear hunt can be found in the 2025 Idaho Big Game Seasons and Rules booklet. Hunters must have a 2026 hunting license in order to apply for controlled hunts, and there are several ways to apply:

- Online: Hunters can apply at gooutdoorsidaho.com, or on the Fish and Game mobile app. There is a service charge of 3% of the transaction in addition to the nonrefundable controlled hunt application fee.
- Licensed Vendors: At any Fish and Game regional office or license vendor.
- Telephone: Applications can be placed over the phone by calling 800-554-8685.

Controlled hunts are hunts with a limited number of tags allocated by a random drawing. Controlled hunts are often desirable because of location and timing, and success rates are usually higher than general season hunts.

Junior hunters must be between the ages of 10 and 17 to participate in any bear controlled hunt, but a 9-year-old may buy a junior license to apply, provided the hunter is 10 years old at the time of the hunt for which they are applying.

Controlled hunt applications for spring 2026 black bear close on Feb. 15th. Successful spring black bear applicants will be notified no later than March 10. Any leftover tags for spring bear controlled hunts go on sale April 1st.

Reminder: Hunters Must Show Proof of Passing the Bear Identification Test

Remember, anyone hunting black bears in Idaho must show proof that they have passed a bear identification test to help them differentiate between grizzly bears and black bears. Both grizzly bears and black bears reside in portions of Idaho, so it is important to know their physical differences. Grizzlies are federally protected in Idaho, so there is no hunting season for them.

There are several physical features that can help you tell the difference between grizzly bears and black bears. No one feature alone should be used to determine which species of bear it is. Rather, a combination of features is most useful. Color and size are not reliable indicators.

Before you take the bear identification test, review these educational materials or go to our Bear Identification and Test Requirement webpage, idfg.idaho.gov/hunt/bear-identification

Idaho will recognize completed bear identification certificates from the Montana and Washington bear identification education programs. If you have received certification from either of those states, simply input that certification number.

Curious, but Wonderful "Alice By Heart" at LCP Explores Deep Themes and Deeper Emotions

— Monica Thomas —

Scarlet Hunt and Luke Odenthon star as Alice Spencer and Alfred Hallam in "Alice By Heart"

COEUR D'ALENE — For many, Alice in Wonderland represents imaginative escapism: a young girl lazing about on a dull day who dreams up a world more exciting than the one she's stuck in. In the musical Alice By Heart, presented by Lake City Playhouse, the characters are, indeed, escaping, both in a literal and metaphorical sense.

It's World War II in the midst of the terrifying London Blitz and fifteen-year-old Alice Spencer, her best friend Alfred, and other Londoners take refuge in an underground subway station as bombs are dropped on the city above. When Alfred's illness lands him in quarantine, Alice encourages him to escape with her into the pages their favorite book, with those seeking shelter with them making up the famously colorful characters that populate Wonderland.

Brooke Wood has had the honor of casting and directing this unique take on the classic story, and from the sound of it during our phone interview, has enjoyed every second. "[This was] one of the most talented auditions we've ever sat through... I've never seen anything like it on our stage. I've seen a few that were close, but not like this. I sit at practice with my mouth hanging open. It's just bonkers!"

"The writing is brilliant, and the music is some of the most beautiful, melodic music you'll hear for a while... It's not Alice in the sense you usually think about it, but it's more about learning to say good-bye. A young girl who has lost so much due to a war and is now losing the one thing that has been her anchor, who has been there her entire life, who she discovers she loves just in time to say good-bye to him... It has super fun moments of absolute hilarity that juxtapose letting go, but that's love. I don't think people should shy away from [the pain and ache of loss and grief]. They should lean into it, instead."

When asked about casting more authentic-aged actors (Scarlet Hunt starring as Alice just turned sixteen this week), Wood shared, "Going into it, I had a very clear vision of what I wanted. We live in a time when we're casting adults as teens; it's not believable. Adults just have too much life experience and that comes through on stage. So I think when we're doing a coming-of-age show—with first love, first loss, all these huge first-time emotions—it gets lost if you cast too old."

Lake City Playhouse has a long history of putting incredible talent of all ages on its stage, and you know you're in for a treat when the director can't stop gushing about her actors. "Scarlet is an old soul, but not only that, she performs brilliantly, like someone whose done this dozens of times... Luke [Odenthon] plays Alfred and the White Rabbit and the idea of chasing time, the firsts and lasts. You really sympathize with him. And his choices, he's so quiet about them but then he makes these bold choices. He's just rad!... Malachi Burrow (a local singer/songwriter) as the Caterpillar will blow people away, just blow them out of the water!... Kynzie [Washington] is always beautiful on stage but as the Cat, she's the calm in the storm, just beautiful... Then there's Imani [Jacob] who just walked in and auditioned. She's so kind and so beautiful and so talented—never mind all the other stuff; she's so talented."

As any theater-lover can tell you, "This show couldn't be what this show is without the people working on it. It's just a dream team!" Wood bragged. Crystal Bain is the show's choreographer, bringing movement that is "super modern, with everyone flowing into each other. It's so cool!" Local favorite Scott Michaelson joins as the show's music director. Zoe Evans, who just won Broadway's Best for costuming Rent last year, is teaming up with Lincoln Wood on costumes. Actress and photographer Jolena Long is doing the set, with long time LCP veteran Jeremy Wittington designing the show's lights.

LCP has posted a few clips of their rehearsal process, and the vocals alone have me so excited to get my tickets, and you should, too. Bring some tissues and settle in to experience this musical "love letter to letting go and moving forward."

There's a line I heard when I sat in on one of the rehearsals that I feel perfectly sums up the heart of this show. Toward the end, one of the characters remarks caustically how glad they are that it's finally done. Alice smiles, rather sadly, and replies back, "No, never done." She's right—the story continues, love continues, life continues.

You can buy your tickets to this gorgeous, poignant Wonderland retelling at: www.lakecityplayhouse.org. The show opens Friday, January 30th and runs through Sunday, February 15th, with matinee and evening performances available. Lake City Playhouse is located at 1320 East Garden Avenue in Coeur d'Alene.

Antiques & Collecting

By Terry and Kim Kovel

Art Glass

Glass can be extremely difficult to identify and date. Fortunately for collectors, the vase pictured here is signed and dated: Lundberg Studios, 1977. Lundberg Studios, founded in 1970 and still active, makes iridescent glass with shapes and patterns reminiscent of famous art glass makers like Tiffany. They are not copies or reproductions but contemporary pieces taking inspiration from older styles.

When it comes to contemporary glass (which Kovels defines as glass made after about 1970), the highest prices usually go to sculptural, avant-garde pieces made with unconventional techniques; simpler, more traditional pieces can be bargains. For example, this vase at Rivich Auction sold for $94 -- a fraction of the value of similar-looking vases from the art nouveau and art deco eras of the early 20th century. But remember, all it takes for a contemporary piece to become an antique is time.

Q: I want to know the value of these Tropicana Hotel Las Vegas silver charms. One is listed on eBay for $129.99 the other for $54.99. The only difference I can see is that the $129.99 charm has a tag on it that reads "Las Vegas Nevada." Both have a mark on the bottom that reads "sterling." That is the only mark.

A: Sellers can list their items on eBay for any price, but that doesn't mean they will get customers who pay that price. Online sellers may have to lower their asking prices or accept a customer's best offer. To get a better idea of an item's value, search for sold prices on eBay (use the Advanced Search page and click the box for "Sold Items").

There are some collectors' clubs that specialize in Las Vegas memorabilia. For more information, you may want to contact the Casino Collectibles Association (ccgtcc.com). Don't forget about crossover appeal! Many collectibles fit into more than one category, which can increase their desirability (and value).

These statistics provided by an independent audit conducted by the Circulation Verification Council

Art glass isn't always antique. This vase made by Lundberg Studios in the 1970s combines classic techniques with modern sensibilities.

Hotel charms like these may also interest collectors of vintage jewelry, travel souvenirs and advertising.

Meet Axle! Axle is an outgoing, playful, and energetic boy who's ready to meet his new family! If you're looking for a fun-loving companion who's always up for a game of fetch or a splash in the water, Axle is your guy. He could chase a ball for hours and absolutely lives for summertime adventures like swimming and running around outside. With proper, slow introductions, Axle has the potential to get along with other dogs, though his history with cats is unknown. While he's a ball of energy outdoors, Axle has a soft and cuddly side, too. After a full day of fun, he loves nothing more than curling up under a blanket to get cozy. He'd thrive in an active, outdoorsy household that can keep up with his zest for life-and return the love he's so eager to give. To help set him up for success, Axle's adoption includes free access to Method K9's online training subscription, featuring their Basic and Intermediate Foundation courses. It's an incredible resource to help him settle in smoothly and build a strong bond with his new family.

Meet Max! This jet black, big-boned beauty is an absolute treasure.

At eleven years old, he's met 'em all: cats, dogs, kids; and he loves each and every one of them! No matter what you need, whether it's a long conversation, a good cuddle, or just a friendly face at the end of a long day, he'll be your shadow through all of it. He'll even hunt down those pesky mice for you, if you've got any. Swing by BTAA today to say 'hello' to Max, and he'll say it right back!
