EarthTalk®
Dear EarthTalk: What is “social housing” and how is it a climate solution?
— H.N., Milwaukee, WI

A house of one's own has always been a tenet of the American Dream. Social housing, i.e. government subsidized rental housing, gives many a stepping stone to fulfilling the dream, with manage able price tags and positive environmental impact. Within social housing are two subjects: Public housing is owned by state and local governments; community housing is managed and often owned by non-profit groups.

With the rising demand for housing, lower and middle-class citizens are paying larger rents and mortgages. Social housing's four pillars target these issues directly. First, the buildings and land are primarily owned by the public, with some properties owned by non-profits. Second, since owners and investors have no profit motive, housing is permanently affordable and protected from market speculation. Third, the communities welcome members of varying socioeconomic classes, with individual rents adjusted for income. Fourth, the neighborhood is led by the residents—a microcosm of democracy.

An added incentive of social housing is its climate-friendliness. Though it may evoke images of rundown structures infested with rats and mold, social housing units, like those built by Seattle Social Housing Developer, by law must follow “passive house” standards, designed to be energy-efficient with balanced ventilation for air control, and high-performance windows with shading for radiation control. The result is 40-60 percent less energy consumed compared to a non-passive house construction. Social housing lowers carbon emissions in many ways. Most structures are built in or near urban areas, allowing residents to walk or take public transit. The proximity to workplaces, schools, stores and other amenities reduces car dependency and, therefore, carbon emissions. Studies show that doubling urban density reduces CO2 emissions from travel and residential energy usage by 48 and 35 percent respectively.

Social housing provides economic and environmental solutions, but trouble with funding and construction hinders progress. And in many cities, social housing is not viable due to zoning laws that forbid structures other than single-family detached homes in the majority of cities and suburbs. Though some organizations are pushing for new construction, Jenny Schuetz, a former Senior Fellow at Brookings Metro, reminds social housing activists that “high-quality subsidized housing needs a long-term commitment, not a brief flirtation.” Existing public housing has been deteriorating due to the lack of public funds for maintenance, so how do we know current undertakings will not end up in similar conditions?

The answer is not clear cut. However, you can do your part by staying informed on the housing crisis and current lawmaker bills concerning real estate. Join initiatives to promote social housing and learn from successful projects like those in Austria, Vienna or Sendero Verde, New York.

Contact: Green New Deal, 350seattle.org/project/green-new-deal-for-social-housing

Every November, in honor of Veteran's Day, the Nickel's Worth publishes our Salute to Veterans section as our way to recognize and thank all of our local veterans. If you, a friend or family member served, please send a picture, branch of service, dates served (or as close as you can get) and highest rank achieved by October 30th to be included. You can submit photos by email to articles@nickelsworth.com, text to 208-667-0651, mail to Nickel's Worth, PO Box 2048, Coeur d'Alene, ID 83816, or in person at 107 N. 5th Street in Coeur d'Alene. Please include your contact information if we have questions, and a self-addressed stamped envelope if you would like photos returned. We will also be featuring veterans' stories throughout the month of November and would welcome any you would like to share.

It's always been easier for me to help others

than to help myself

As a Veteran, when someone raises their hand for help, you're often one of the first ones to respond. But it's also okay to get help for yourself. Maybe you want or need assistance with employment, stress, finances, mental health or finding the right resources. No matter what it is, you earned it. And there's no better time than right now to ask for it. Don't wait. Reach out.

HOW WE MAKE THE PERFECT PELLET...

The process begins with RECYCLED tree by-products.

Only the highest quality, PREMIUM SELECT wood shavings & sawdust are used

Next, the shavings go through a series of augers which chops them into smaller sawdust...

This allows the sawdust to more efficiently go through THE DRIER

At this stage, MOISTURE is driven from the wood fiber to ensure clean, consistent, hot burning pellets, that far exceed industry standards.

Through heat and pressure, 100% NATURAL wood fiber is formed into a Super Premium Wood Pellet

RESULTING IN...

THE PERFECT PELLET!

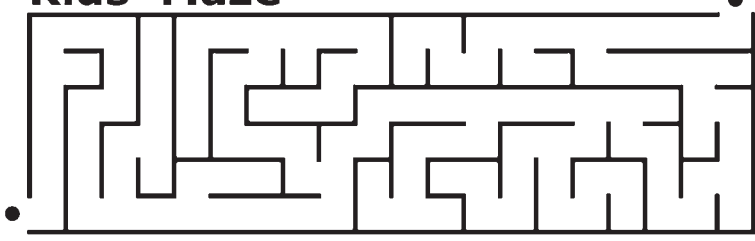

BENEFITS:

Less than half the ash of others means less mess!

Low moisture content means much higher heat output!

Spooktacular Spiced
Dark Chocolate Brownie
Pear-fect for Halloween

Are you ready for a ghoulishly delightful and creatively creepy dessert? This recipe may be a little unorthodox, but the results are sure to impress your Halloween party guests. We're taking the classic boxed brownie mix and turning it into something extraordinary. With a few simple tweaks and the addition of sculpted pears, you'll have a dessert that's both delicious and fun.

Since we're on the subject, here's how to give all your boxed brownie mixes a miraculous makeover. To the recipe on the box, consider these enhancements: Replace the oil with melted butter. Add an extra egg or just the yolk for extra richness. Swap out the water with coffee for a flavor boost. Include a teaspoon of flavoring like vanilla or almond. And lastly, always stir the batter by hand, no need for a hand mixer.

By making these changes, no one will ever guess that you're using a boxed mix, and you'll end up with a luscious, home-made-like brownie.

This Spooktacular Pear-Infused Dark Chocolate Brownie Cake is a Halloween masterpiece, blending the richness of ginger and dark chocolate with the sweetness of pears in a creative and fun dessert.

GHOULISHLY GOOD SPICED
DARK CHOCOLATE & PEAR BAKE

Yield: 12 servings
Total Time: 90 minutes

- 1/4 cup crystallized ginger, finely minced
- 2 teaspoons granulated sugar (divided)
- 1/3 cup melted butter
- 1 whole egg
- 1 egg, separated
- 1 (18-ounce) boxed supreme dark chocolate chunk brownie mix
- 2 teaspoons dried ground ginger
- 1/4 cup cold coffee or water
- 3 fresh unpeeled ripe Bosc pears
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch

Preheat your oven to 350 F and generously grease a 9-inch springform pan.

Begin by mincing the crystallized ginger with a teaspoon of granulated sugar (this helps prevent sticking). You'll need about 1/4 cup. Set aside.

Melt the butter, set aside. In two

Sinisterly sweet and spiced skull brownie small bowls, separate the eggs. Add the second egg yolk and most of the white to the first egg and reserve about a tablespoon of the egg white for later as a glaze.

In a mixing bowl, combine the boxed brownie mix with the dried and crystallized ginger. Add the melted butter, coffee (or water), and the eggs. Stir by hand until just combined. Avoid over-mixing.

Pour the brownie batter into the prepared springform pan and bake at 350 F for 15 minutes.

While the brownie partially bakes, it's time to sculpt the pears into skull shapes.

Wash the pears but do not peel them. Cut them in half lengthwise and use a small spoon or apple corer to remove the core and the vein that runs to the top stem.

Position the halved pear so the flat side is down and the larger end of the pear is on top. Use a small spoon or apple corer to scoop out two holes for the eyes, then cut out the nose with a very small spoon or a straw. Use a paring knife to score the smaller end to look like teeth.

Drain excess moisture by placing them flat side down on paper towels.

By now, your brownie should be partially baked. Remove the brownie and reduce the oven temperature to 300 F.

On a small plate, combine cornstarch with a teaspoon of sugar. Dip the cut side of each pear into the cornstarch mixture before placing them artistically on top of the partially baked brownie. Whip the reserved egg white with a teaspoon of sugar until frothy. Brush this glaze over the skulls.

Return the skull-infested brownie to the oven for 50 minutes.

Your guests will be thrilled by the hauntingly delicious creation you've prepared. Enjoy!

NATIONAL FRANKENSTEIN FRIDAY

Last Friday in October

— National Day Calendar —

National Frankenstein Friday, on the last Friday in October, recognizes author Mary Shelly, the novel Frankenstein, or the Modern Prometheus, her characters, Dr. Frankenstein and the monster. Dating back to the 1800s, Frankenstein's monster is one of the best-known horror characters of all time.

The novel by Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley (1797-1851) tells the story of a young scientist, Victor Frankenstein. While she published the first edition of Frankenstein in 1818 anonymously, the first 500 copies sold out. However, the public believed her husband, Percy Shelley, to be the author. Then in 1823, Mary Shelley published a new edition under her name. Another edition in 1831 included Shelley's explanation about how the story came to be. This version is the one modern readers are the most familiar with today.

The film world has created more than 60 movies or shorts on the theme of Frankenstein. Edison Studios produced the very first film version, Frankenstein, in 1910.

According to some sources, the day is observed on August 30th in honor of Mary Shelley's birthday.

How to Observe Frankenstein Friday

We have many ideas about how to celebrate this holiday. Give one or several of them a try.

- Watch a movie featuring Frankenstein or read the original book written by Mary Shelly. Dress as Dr. Frankenstein or his monster.
- Find out who Frankenstein is on Frankenstein Friday.
- Read both editions of the book. Seek out other novels by Mary Shelley or learn about her history.
- Draw your version of Frankenstein's monster.
- Write a poem in honor of the day. Attend a stage production of Frankenstein.
- Bake cookies in the shape of the monster.
- Conduct an electricity experiment in science class in honor of the day.
- Host a Frankenstein party. Play trivia and hand out prizes.

Share your ideas to celebrate. Use #Frankenstein-Friday to post on social media.

Life, Death, and Data

The story of a salmon run in the Middle Fork Salmon River basin

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

After spending years growing in the Pacific Ocean, Chinook salmon return to the very streams where they began their lives. Their journey takes them hundreds of miles inland, through multiple dams, strong currents, and countless obstacles before reaching the cold mountain streams of central Idaho.

Each fall, Idaho Fish and Game personnel hike miles of streams throughout the Middle Fork Salmon River (MFSR) basin near Stanley, Idaho, to document one of nature's most remarkable migrations.

A view of Marsh Creek near Stanley, Idaho.

Why the MFSR Matters

The MFSR basin is an important spawning area for wild Chinook salmon in Idaho. Much of the basin lies within the Frank Church-River of No Return Wilderness, where streams remain largely untouched and provide high-quality habitat for spawning.

Unlike many salmon populations throughout the Pacific Northwest, Chinook salmon in the MFSR basin are entirely wild. No hatchery fish have been released into the basin, making it a unique place for biologists to study naturally produced salmon and track population trends over time.

Map depicting streams in the MFSR basin.

Reading the River

A redd is a nest created by a female salmon where she deposits her eggs. Using powerful sweeps of her tail, the female clears and rearranges the gravel to create a suitable environment for egg development. Once spawning is complete, the eggs remain protected beneath the gravel until they hatch.

Each redd represents spawning activity. Counting redds provides biologists with a useful way to track how many salmon are successfully returning to reproduce each year.

What the Salmon Leave Behind

After spawning, Chinook salmon complete their life cycle and die naturally. While their journey has come to an end, their role in the ecosystem and in fisheries research, is far from over.

As crews walk streams throughout the MFSR basin, every salmon carcass becomes an opportunity to collect valuable biological information. Biologists record the fish's length, determine its sex, look for tags, and collect tissue samples for DNA analysis. Each piece of information helps build a more complete picture of the population.

These samples allow biologists to learn more than just how many fish returned to spawn. They provide insight into the age composition of the population and help track the genetic diversity and long-term health of Idaho's wild Chinook salmon. When combined with redd counts and other survey data collected each year, carcass sampling helps IDFG monitor population trends and make informed management decisions to conserve these fish for future generations.

Witnessing the Salmon Run

While counting redds and collecting biological samples are an important part of each survey, spending weeks walking these streams also offers a unique opportunity to witness one of nature's most remarkable events. Crews often observe Chinook salmon actively constructing redds, males competing for spawning opportunities, and the striking scenery surrounding the annual salmon run. No two surveys are exactly alike, and every stream offers something new to discover.

Why it Matters

Long after the IDFG crews leave the stream, thousands of eggs remain hidden beneath the gravel. The adults have completed their journey, but the next generation has already begun. By counting redds, collecting biological samples, and documenting spawning activity throughout the Marsh Creek drainage, IDFG biologists help ensure that Idaho's Chinook story continues for years to come.

5TH ANNUAL NICKEL'S WORTH HALLOWEEN COLORING CONTEST WINNERS

We had a truly amazing response to the Halloween coloring contest this year! The entries were all so amazing we had even more trouble than usual picking winners, but it had to be done. We divided entries into 3 age groups so that each group had close to the same number of entries.

THANK YOU to all the artists who took the time to color and submit their art, and thank you as well to all the parents and guardians who sent them in.

We will reach out to the winners to get you your prize, and for everyone who participated, please feel free to drop by our office at 107 N. 5th Street in CdA to grab a treat or two from our candy bowl and goodie box during office hours (Mon-Thurs 8-5 and Fri 8-3).

UNTIL NEXT TIME!

Meet Mama K! This sweet old girl is an 8 year old dilute tortoiseshell short-hair. She is a super calm cat that would love a quiet, peaceful home. She does have hyperthyroidism, and is on a daily low-dose medication. She also prefers wet food, but isn't picky about what kind. She loves to be loved on by anyone, but being around other animals can stress her out.

All adoptions include vaccinations, worming, flea and ear mite treatment, spay/neuter and any medical treatment needed while staying with us, and they also come with a full check up from a veterinarian.

Hope's Haven Animal Shelter (Benewah Humane Society) is open Monday-Saturday, noon-4pm. Come into Hope's Haven to visit and view our animals or check them out first on our website. Give us a call for more information today!

Pets of the Week: Brixie and Willow

— Thompson River Animal Care Shelter —

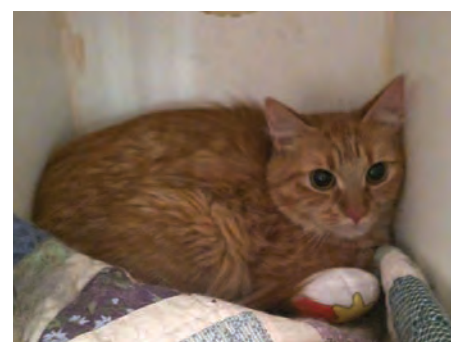

Puppy Special! Brixie is now available at a discounted fee!" Meet Brixie of the bashful bunch! She came in with a group of five puppies and is the last one remaining! She is a mystery mix for sure - perhaps some lab and border collie and ?????? Likely only a DNA test will give us a certain breed combination.

She is about 8 months of age. She is about 35-40 pounds now and likely be about 50 pounds as an adult. Brixie is up to date on vaccines, is microchipped and spayed. She is ready to get into a home and start becoming your new BFF. So please fill out an application if you're interested and we'll get back to you and talk about the details of the adoption process. The adoption fee is $250.

TRACS is located in Thompson Falls, MT. If you are interested in adopting, please head over to our website, pet-tracs.com and click on the link for adoption application. You can also reach us at 406-827-8722. All pets are healthy, vaccinated and will be spayed or neutered.

Learn more, see more adoptable pets and donate to support us at pet-tracs.com.

Hi! My name is Willow. I am a rare medium length hair ginger gal and I ended up at TRACS when my owner gave me to someone else but I wasn't too fond of their dog. Since coming to TRACS, the staff has found that while I like attention, I am a nibbler. I like to nibble on fingers and hands while you are trying to pet me. I'm already up to date on my vaccines, spayed and microchipped. I love pets and being held and I was purring for one of our volunteers today! My adoption fee is $150.

Pets of the Week: Cowboy & Sam and Hawk

— Luke's Legacy —

When they became too much for them, dumped them at the shelter. These boys have been here a week and are doing amazing. They just needed to get out and run and learn a few manners. I use an E-collar and only have to beep these boys when they get too crazy. They are smart young dogs who are ready to be trained your way. They really do love each other and I think somebody that will be loving, but firm and be their pack leader they could go together and be just fine. They do have a high prey drive so no cats or chickens. They will need a country home or a big fence they can get their zoomies out. These are smart and intelligent dogs. Remember, a tired dog is a good dog!

Cowboy and Sam 1-1/2 year old brothers. They are Lab x Black Mouth Cur neutered males. Someone got these boys as puppies and didn't do much with them.

Hawk is an approximately 2 year old neutered smooth coat Border Collie. He's happy go lucky, gets along with other dogs with initial supervision. Hawk was a stray at a shelter and never claimed so we don't know much about his history. He still has a bit of a limp from likely an altercation with another dog before he got here. He is recovering quite nicely. Hawk is current on his vaccinations, his off leash recall is great. He's a smart dog who is ready to follow you around and do everything you're doing. He's a snuggler when it's time to settle down. He would make a wonderful hiking and running partner. He loves to be outdoors doing what you're doing

Call or text Erin for an application 208-755-7127 or email emwllrd@gmail.com with a letter of introduction. You can also visit LukesLegacy.care or fill out an application at forms.gle/8tFzSsi36ECEYfDR9

Pets of the Week: Captain and Beary

— Better Together Animal Alliance—

Meet Captain! Captain is a handsome 4-year-old, 85-pound sweetheart looking for his new family! This active, outgoing guy is always ready for an adventure with his humans. Whether he's exploring, playing, or simply soaking up affection, Captain loves being part of the action and when the adventure is over, he's more than happy to cuddle up and enjoy some quality time with his people. Captain would thrive in an active family home where he can be included in daily activities, enjoy plenty of exercise, and receive lots of love and attention. If you're looking for a loyal adventure buddy who also knows how to enjoy a good cuddle, Captain may be your guy!

Meet Beary! Beary is about 3 years old and weighs roughly 13 pounds. She may need a little time and patience to adjust to new environments, but once she feels safe and comfortable, she forms strong bonds with the people she trusts and enjoys building close connections with her humans. Giving her time to settle in and get comfortable at her own pace will help her feel right at home. Beary has experience with people of all ages, as well as other cats and dogs. She could make a wonderful companion for someone looking for a small, loving friend to share their home with. If you're willing to give her a little time to warm up, you may discover just how special this sweet girl can be. Come by and meet Beary today to see if she's the perfect addition to your family!

Pets of the Week: Rogue and Ghostie

— Priest River Animal Rescue —

Hi, I'm Rogue, a 7-month-old silver Labrador Retriever with energy, intelligence, and a goofy personality! I'm friendly, playful, affectionate, and always ready for adventure. I need a country home with a fenced yard where I can safely burn off my youthful energy. I'm not yet neutered, but my procedure is scheduled for Thursday. I'm pre-adoptable today and can go home Friday.

With the right family, I'll grow into an amazing companion who keeps life fun and interesting. My adoption fee is $400. Please complete an online application if you'd like to meet handsome Rogue and begin our adventure together!

Hi, I'm Ghostie — a snowy white kitten with adorable grey spots on my head and a heart full of adventure! I'm already litter box trained and ready to settle into my forever home. I'm a friendly, gentle, and playful little guy who loves to have fun, and I promise to bring tons of joy and cuddles to your life. I'm an indoor-only kitty, and my adoption fee is $75. Come meet me and let's start our adventure together!

Phone: 208-448-0699 | Email: pranimalhouse@hotmail.com
Website: pranimalrescue.org | Address: 5538 Highway 2, Priest River, Idaho

Our hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 11:00am to 4:00pm. Walk-ins are welcome to see the adoptable animals. We have a wonderful Critters Thrift Store full of hidden treasures.

Pets of the Week: 12 Week Kittens and Isla

— Second Chance Pet Rescue —

These two little 12 week old kittens are a brother sister pair of Tabbies. They have been waiting for months for a home. They are very friendly, litter box trained, playful and so super fun! There has to be someone out there ready for a pair of indoor furry friends!

Isla is a 2 year old spayed female 182 lb. Mastiff. She is a handful, but also a total love bug, once she knows you. She is housebroken, comfortable in a (huge) crate and good with other very large dogs. She is not good with smaller dogs, cats or poultry. She is looking for a larger property, fully fenced with a Mastiff experienced adopter.

Look us up on Facebook, Petfinder.com or email idahocoondog@yahoo.com for more information and an adoption application.

Twice Baked Cheesy Potato Pie

— Mrs. Brown's Kitchen with Monica Thomas —

While this might not be the most glamorous or visually stunning dish, it is pure comfort in a bowl, and sometimes (or in our family, often times) that's more important. If your family loves potatoes, then this is sure to be a crowd-pleaser!

Twice Baked Cheesy Potato Pie

- 5 large russet potatoes
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 1/2 cup sour cream
 - 1/2 cup heavy cream
 - 3+ cups shredded cheddar or Fiesta mix cheese
 - olive oil (to make skins crispy)
 - salt & pepper
 - any spices/seasoning you want to add (garlic powder, onion powder, red pepper flakes, etc.)
1. Preheat oven to 400° F.
 2. Scrub potatoes clean and dry well.
 3. Coat with olive oil and salt and pepper the outsides generously. Poke each potato a few times with a fork. Place potatoes on a baking tray or directly on the rack and bake for 1 hour or until fork tender.
 4. Once cooked through, slice potatoes in half long ways and let cool enough to handle, then squeeze/ scrape cooked potato out of skins into a separate bowl. Set aside.

5. Put potato skins into an oven-safe pie or casserole dish and press into bottom to create a crust. Drizzle with more oil and season with whatever spices makes you happy. Bake until crispy and golden. Lower oven temp to 375°.
6. Into the bowl of cooked potatoes, add butter, sour cream, and cream, and with a masher or a hand mixer, cream together until you reach your desired consistency. Season to taste.
7. Add 2 cups cheese and fold in.
8. Fill pie dish with potato mixture and top with more/ remaining cheese. As Mrs. Brown always says: Measure with your heart.
9. Bake again for 15-20 minutes or until cheese is golden brown.

Ingredient Notes from Monica

This is one of those recipes that can be as customized as you want. Mrs. Brown sprinkles powdered parmesan cheese over the potato skins before baking the 'crust'. Our family loves adds half a packet of ranch seasoning and cooked bacon to ours. Some people can't do potatoes unless they have chives with it. Really, do whatever sounds amazing and whatever you think your family will enjoy!

Mrs. Brown's Kitchen® is the brain child of Heather Brown, a home cook known for the phrase "Measure With Your Heart" which became the title of her first cookbook. Features comforting homestyle cooking, traditional Newfoundland and Labrador recipes, baking hacks, and budget-friendly meals.

2026 Idaho Steelhead Update Part 1 of 2

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

If you're a steelhead angler you've probably been hearing rumors or seen news articles stating that this year's steelhead return is in rough shape. Unfortunately, those reports are correct. The 2026 steelhead return is shaping up to be one of the lowest on record. As a result, IDFG will be reducing steelhead bag limits statewide as a conservation measure to reduce impacts to broodstock and natural-origin spawners.

Statewide Reduction in Steelhead Bag Limits

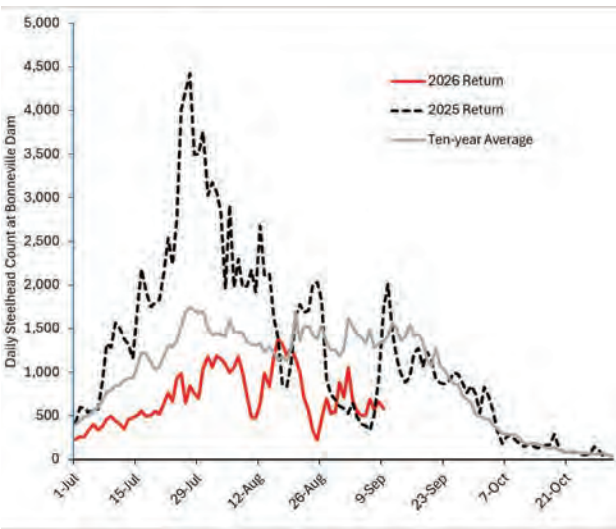

- Statewide: 2 fish per day
- Clearwater River and open tributaries: 2 fish per day (only 1 fish greater than 28 inches)

Bag Limit Reduction Effective: End of Fishing Hours on Thursday, September 17.

Columbia River Basin Steelhead Return

Steelhead in the Columbia River are managed in part according to when they cross Bonneville Dam. Fish destined for Idaho and the Snake River basin typically begin passing Bonneville Dam after July 1, during what is referred to as the A/B Index management period.

In general, A-index steelhead are less than 31 inches in length, while B-index fish are greater than 31 inches. For Snake River stocks, A-index fish include steelhead returning to northeast Oregon, southeast Washington, and portions of the Snake and Salmon rivers. B-index fish generally return to the Clearwater River basin and Upper Salmon River.

2026 return

The total A/B Index steelhead return at Bonneville Dam is currently the lowest count to date since the dam was constructed in 1938, and the current unclipped steelhead count is also the lowest on record.

The U.S. v. Oregon Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) downgraded the total expected steelhead return at Bonneville Dam to 61,500 fish which would be the lowest steelhead count on record. The total includes 53,400 total A-Index steelhead of which 17,500 are unclipped fish, and 8,100 total B-Index steelhead of which 2,900 are unclipped fish.

In response to the low return, Oregon and Washington have closed recreational harvest of steelhead in the Columbia River. Tributary fisheries in Oregon's Deschutes and John Day rivers and Washington's Drano Lake, which can attract migrating Snake River steelhead seeking cooler water, have also been closed to steelhead harvest.

Idaho Stocks

Steelhead stocks destined for Idaho are following a similar pattern, with abundances projected to be well below average. Based on PIT-tag detections of hatchery steelhead at Bonneville Dam, returns for many Idaho programs are projected to be similar to the record-low returns observed during the 2019–2020 return year. As a result, fisheries managers are concerned about meeting hatchery broodstock needs throughout the Snake River basin.

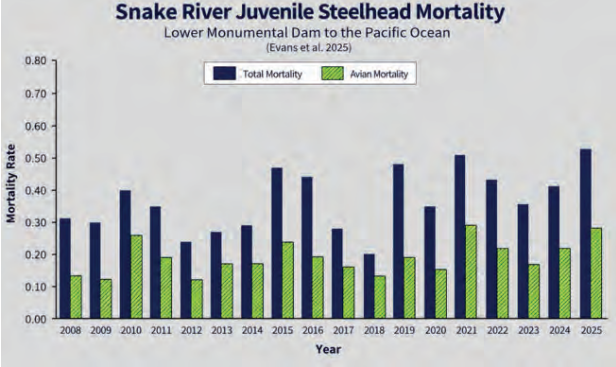

Natural-origin steelhead are also returning below preseason forecasts and recent averages, and conservation actions are necessary to reduce impacts on natural-origin fish. Managers will continue closely monitoring the run and will take additional actions if necessary to protect natural-origin steelhead and ensure hatchery broodstock needs are met.

How Did We Get Here?

There is no single factor that clearly explains why the 2026 steelhead return is so poor. More than 90% of the steelhead returning this year spent two years in the ocean. The one-ocean component was expected to be relatively weak, based on the alternating pattern observed in recent years, where one return year is dominated by one-ocean fish and the next by two-ocean fish. The two-ocean component was expected to provide a much stronger return and instead is returning substantially below expectations.

Hatchery production and juvenile survival were relatively normal for this group of fish. During brood year 2024, hatcheries released approximately 96% of the smolt production goal in the Salmon and Snake river basins and 102% of the goal in the Clearwater Basin. Average survival from hatchery release sites to Lower Granite Dam was approximately 75%, compared with a 10-year average of about 77%.

That does not mean freshwater mortality is unimportant. Steelhead face mortality from a variety of sources throughout their migration. Research has documented substantial losses during downstream migration from impacts such as avian predation. For example, the figure below shows estimated juvenile steelhead mortality (blue bars) between Lower Monumental Dam and the Pacific Ocean in comparison with juvenile steelhead mortality from avian predation (green bars).

Fisheries managers continue working with state, federal and tribal partners to reduce and mitigate freshwater and migration impacts where possible. However, the magnitude and general pattern of these losses do not, by themselves, appear to explain the exceptionally poor adult return in 2026.

Upcoming Meetings To Discuss FWP Conservation Easements Across Northwest Montana

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

The public is invited to attend upcoming meetings between Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks and private landowners whose land is under conservation easement in northwest Montana.

A conservation easement is a voluntary legal agreement between a landowner and a land trust or government agency that limits uses of the land to protect its conservation values. FWP holds conservation easements to protect vital fish and wildlife habitat, retain working lands, and maintain recreational access opportunities for the public. Lands under easement remain in private ownership and management, and landowners continue to pay property taxes.

The upcoming meetings are required annually by the conservation easement agreements and provide a forum for discussion of any issues related to public use, land use, access issues, conditions, or other unanticipated issues.

- Nov. 2 - FWP Region 1 Headquarters, 490 North Meridian Road, Kalispell - Swan Valley conservation easement north of Condon (16,500 acres) and Lazy Creek conservation easement northwest of Whitefish (10,200 acres), 9-10 a.m.
- Nov. 4 - Ponderosa Room at Libby City Hall, 952 E. Spruce Street - Kootenai Valleys (28,000 acres) and Kootenai Forestlands (22,300 acres) conservation easements near Libby and Troy, 11 a.m. – 12 p.m.; Thompson-Fisher River conservation easement (142,000 acres) west of Kalispell, 12-1 p.m.; Lost Trail Conservation Easement (7,300 acres) and Montana Great Outdoors (53,000 acres) 1-2 p.m.
- Nov. 17 - F. H. Stoltze Land and Lumber Company, 600 Halfmoon Road, Columbia Falls - Haskill Basin (3,020 acres) and Trumbull (7,068 acres) conservation easements near Whitefish, 5-7 p.m.

Now here's a tip!

by Jo Ann Derson

- Stuck zippers can be loosened with graphite powder or simply by tracing a pencil lead over the zipper.
- Got memorabilia? Use a reasonably sized plastic storage bin for each child. Include folders noting each school grade for art and important academic papers. It can be a very special collection that you can give to your child when he is an adult.
- According to the American Academy of Pediatrics, “each 12-ounce soft drink contains approximately 10 teaspoons of sugar and 150 calories. Drinking just one can of soda a day increases a child’s risk of obesity by 60%.” Talk to your children about making smart choices both in the lunch line and at the vending machines.
- Got a child going off to college? Before you leave campus, go together to the health center, and make sure your kid knows who to call/where to go for emergency or urgent care, both on campus and off. Not knowing can sometimes cause a delay in getting care, turning a bad situation worse.
- Returning to school can mean returning to sports after a summer hiatus. Be smart, and follow these guidelines from the American Academy of Pediatrics: Give yourself at least one recovery day off each week; be sure you are wearing the proper gear and that it’s properly fitted; don’t forget to cross-train (general exercises to strengthen your muscles and keep you flexible); take breaks and hydrate to avoid overheating; and have your coach reinforce the proper technique and safety rules.
- Keep cut veggies crunchy by lining a plastic or glass storage dish with coffee filters and then adding your cut vegetables, like carrot sticks and celery.

Idaho hunters: Know the New Technology Rules Before Heading into the Field

— Idaho Fish and Game —

The changes affect season dates between Aug. 30 and Dec. 31st, 2026.

Hunters heading into this year's batch of hunting seasons should be aware of technology rule changes after legislation was passed earlier this year.

The Idaho Legislature passed House Bill 939, addressing the use of advanced technology during big game and game bird hunting seasons. The legislation comes on the heels of extensive discussion about the role of technology in hunting and establishes statutory restrictions that hunters need to understand before heading into the field.

Between Aug. 30th and Dec. 31st, 2026, it is unlawful to use any of the following technologies for hunting or scouting all deer, elk, pronghorn, mountain goat, bighorn sheep, moose, black bear, and game birds:

- Thermal imaging technology
- Night vision technology
- Transmitting trail cameras on land owned by the federal government, the state of Idaho, or a local government within the state
- Drone aircraft or other unmanned aircraft systems

The only exceptions for these technologies being used are:

- Hunting wolves, mountain lions, or predatory wildlife (coyotes, jackrabbits, skunks, weasels,

- starlings, raccoons, and rattlesnakes)
- Retrieving wounded game animals or game birds
- Monitoring traps

The law includes specific provisions and exceptions, so hunters should not assume that all technology is prohibited or that the same rules apply to every species.

Hunters should review Pages 95-96 of the 2026 Idaho Big Game Seasons and Rules booklet to understand how the law applies to their hunt.

"Technology continues to change how people hunt and interact with wildlife," said Legislative and Community Engagement Coordinator, Ellary Tucker Williams. "It is imperative that hunters understand the laws that apply to their hunt and make sure they are using technology legally and responsibly."

Fish and Game encourages hunters to stay informed about changes to hunting laws and regulations. IDFG staff can help explain how the law applies to specific hunting situations, but hunters are responsible for knowing and following the laws and regulations that apply to their hunt.

For more information, visit Fish and Game's website or contact a local Fish and Game office.

Don't trust AI for hunting and fishing regulations — Go to the source

Speaking of technology, having it conveniently at our fingertips isn't always a good thing. Time after time, a quick Google search or conversation with Alexa and Siri to get to the bottom of an Idaho Fish and Game regs question can lead to inaccurate or false information — or worse, a violation.

Every year, Fish and Game conservation officers increasingly encounter folks in the field who use AI and search engines and get incorrect information. Remember, getting bad information off the internet is no excuse for violating seasons and rules. We know how handy search engines and AI can be, but when it comes to hunting and fishing regs, go straight to the source.

Always check Fish and Game's seasons and rules booklets to make sure you're getting accurate and current information. The most up-to-date versions can be found online directly at Fish and Game's website.

Better Than Store Bought Whipped Caramel Dip

— Crowded Kitchen —

This light and fluffy Caramel Apple Dip couldn't be easier to make using caramel sauce, cream cheese, and whipping cream and it tastes AMAZING!

If your fridge is stocked with apples, you've come to the right place!

Whipped Caramel Dip

- 1½ cups heavy whipping cream
- ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 Tablespoon granulated sugar

- ⅓-½ cup caramel sauce, homemade or store bought
- 4 ounces cream cheese, softened, cut into pieces
- extra cinnamon for garnish (optional)
- apples, sliced for serving

1. Beat the cream cheese in a stand mixer or large mixing bowl, until smooth. Add the cream and mix well until stiff peaks form, about 3 minutes.
2. Mix in cinnamon, vanilla, sugar and caramel sauce until combined. Place in serving bowl. Drizzle with more caramel sauce and sprinkle with additional cinnamon if desired.
3. Serve with apple slices or any other food you'd like to dip. Refrigerate leftovers.

Notes

If you have a thick caramel sauce, you can add ½ cup. If it's thinner, only add ⅓ cup or it can make your dip too thin.

To make ahead: This dip stays fresh for 5-7 days in the refrigerator so it's definitely a great one to make ahead of time. I like to let it thaw for a few minutes on the counter before dipping. Cut the apples fresh for serving or toss them in a little lemon juice to prevent browning.
