Gourmet Grilled Angel Food Cake

Store-bought angel food cake goes gourmet when it's grilled and topped with sweetened balsamic-soaked strawberries.

- 1-1/2 pounds strawberries, hulled and halved or quartered
- 2 tablespoons balsamic vinegar
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 (9-ounce) store-bought angel food cake
- Whipped cream (optional)

- In medium bowl, toss strawberries with balsamic vinegar and sugar. Let stand at room temperature until sugar dissolves, at least 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.
- Meanwhile, prepare outdoor grill for direct grilling on medium. Cut angel food cake into 6 wedges.
- Place cake on hot grill rack and cook 3 to 4 minutes or until lightly toasted on both sides, turning over once. Spoon strawberries with their juice onto 6 dessert plates. Place grilled cake on plates with strawberries; serve with whipped cream if you like. Serves 6.

State Agencies Issue Consumption Advisory For All Fish Species On Yellowstone River Near Train Derailment

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

Various polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons present, source unknown

BILLINGS – The Fish Consumption Advisory Board, consisting of representatives from Montana Department of Public Health & Human Services (DPHHS), Montana Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks (FWP), has issued a consumption advisory on all fish species in the Yellowstone River from Indian Fort Fishing Access Site (FAS) near Reed Point to the Highway 212 bridge in Laurel. Various polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons, or PAHs, were detected at levels high enough to warrant this advisory for all fish species, both game and nongame.

Sampling Results

FWP crews collected longnose suckers, shorthead redhorse, rainbow trout, brown trout and mountain whitefish from areas upstream and downstream of the June 24 train derailment site at Twin Bridges Road railroad bridge. Multiple species showed levels of various PAHs high enough to warrant an advisory to avoid all consumption. Specific PAHs found in these fish include naphthalene, found in multiple species, and 1- and 2-methylnaphthalene and acenaphthylene found only in mountain whitefish. Fish were collected 6.5 river miles upstream of the derailment site near Indian Fort FAS, and 6.2 river miles downstream near Holmgren FAS.

FWP crews previously collected rainbow trout and mountain whitefish from the Yellowstone River below the derailment site to assess human consumption restrictions as a follow-up to the train derailment. This sampling showed elevated levels of phenanthrene, another PAH, in mountain whitefish and a consumption advisory was put in place on Aug. 11 to avoid all consumption of this fish species and motivated the agency to conduct additional sampling. Phenanthrene was not found in any fish during the most recent sampling.

Many species of fish, especially brown and rainbow trout, found in this section of the Yellowstone River migrate seasonally for spawning and to find colder water in the warmer summer months. Out of an abundance of precaution and unknown conditions in adjacent sections of the river, those with specific concerns may want to avoid consuming all species of fish from the Yellowstone River at any location until more is known on the severity and prevalence of this contamination.

Next Steps

The source of the PAHs remains unknown. Determining a specific source could be challenging, as PAHs, including those found in these fish, are present in many common materials. Some PAHs occur naturally in the environment, especially in the shale rock common in the Yellowstone River Basin. PAHs are also found in products such as oil, gas, plastics, and pesticides—and are produced through combustion of these products.

Further testing is still needed to determine the potential contamination source and long-term guidance. FWP plans to expand sampling on the Yellowstone River to further understand the extent of PAHs for human consumption concerns. Final plans for this additional sampling are still being discussed by FWP, DEQ, and DPHHS, but will include sampling fish from locations on the Yellowstone River further upstream and further downstream of the derailment site.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the International Agency for Research on Cancer have classified naphthalene, 1-methylnaphthalene, and 2-methylnaphthalene as possibly cancer-causing in humans. The other two PAHs that have been detected in fish tissue samples, phenanthrene and acenaphthene, have not been classified as cancer-causing chemicals. Other health effects from ingesting high levels of PAHs that have been shown in animal studies include effects on the gastrointestinal system, immune system, reproductive system, kidneys and skin. These effects from eating fish have not been recorded in humans.

For more information on PAHs, including the specific PAHs found in the fish tissue samples, visit: www.atsdr.cdc.gov/cssem/polycyclic-aromatic-hydrocarbons/health\_effects.html.

Did Hiccups Lead to Guinea Pig's Death?

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: Our beloved guinea pig died suddenly this morning. I'm not sure what happened, and because there is no veterinarian near us who can treat guinea pigs, I'm searching for an answer. He developed an ear problem recently that was causing him to tilt his head, and to treat this, we were giving him Nurokind and 5 ml of water through a syringe. This morning, he started to hiccup, and an hour later he passed away. Is there any clue that you can provide as to why? -- N. Dwarakanath

DEAR N: My sincere condolences on the loss of your guinea pig. They're such wonderful pets.

When guinea pigs get sick, it can be difficult to figure out the exact treatment. Head tilt is one of those illnesses that could be an ear infection but could also be something more serious like pneumonia or another infection.

I'm a little curious about using Nurokind (Mecobalamin) to treat the illness, as it is a treatment for vitamin B-12 deficiency in humans. Perhaps a guinea pig owner out there can respond with the answer. Keeping your guinea pig hydrated was good, as this helps them when they're stressed out or sick.

When an illness is prolonged in guinea pigs, the stress and pain make them weaker, and they begin to experience other problems. The hiccupping is usually a sign of indigestion in healthy guinea pigs, but even for them, it's very uncomfortable and stressful. That may have been the last straw for his system.

I wish I could give you a definitive answer. Because there is no qualified vet near you, I encourage you to search online for guinea pig owner forums, as they are a very supportive and informative community.

Pheasant Hunting Season In The Panhandle Is Just Around The Corner

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

Hunters can enjoy another year of pheasant hunting at two wildlife management areas in the Panhandle beginning early-Oct.

Whether you are a new hunter or a seasoned veteran, pheasant hunting opportunity in 2023 will not disappoint!

Sometimes it can be challenging to introduce the sport of hunting to a youth or an adult that has never hunted. Pheasant hunts are the perfect gateway opportunity as they are active, fun and often result in shooting opportunity and success. Get out and give it a try!

Statewide, youth ages 17 years and younger with an Idaho hunting license can participate in the youth-only pheasant hunt from Oct. 7-13 at 24 locations across the state.

Youth will need to be accompanied by a licensed adult 18 years or older, but they do not need an Upland Game Bird Permit. All hunters must wear hunter orange above the waist while hunting during pheasant season in areas where birds are stocked.

Young hunters who have never had a hunting license and have not taken hunter education can still participate in the hunt through Idaho's Hunting Passport Program.

Rules about pheasant hunting in the Panhandle Region

There are two rule sets for hunting pheasants. One rule set applies to hunting pheasant outside of stocked areas, and the other rule set applies to hunting areas that are stocked by Fish and Game.

The two rule sets are the same, except for bag limit, shooting hours and permit requirements.

- If hunting in the stocked areas, only two cock pheasants can be harvested a day, hunters can shoot from 10 a.m. PST to one-half hour after sunset and they need an Upland Game Bird Permit.
- If hunting outside the boundaries of stocked areas, a total of three cock pheasants can be harvested a day, hunters can shoot one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset and they do not need an Upland Game Bird Permit.

In the Panhandle, resident hunters ages 18 and older can begin hunting pheasant on Oct. 14 and can continue doing so until Dec. 31. Nonresident hunters can begin hunting on Oct. 19.

Reminder that there is no season for hen pheasants, and hunters are required to wear hunter orange and possess an Idaho hunting license. Also, a reminder that shooting from or across a roadway is unlawful.

For full rules, take a look at pages 11-12 of the 2022-23 Idaho Upland Game, Turkey and Furbearer rules book.

Pheasant will be stocked at two locations in the Panhandle: Boundary-Smith Creek WMA and the Lane Marsh parcel on Coeur d'Alene River WMA.

Approximately 50 pheasants will be stocked weekly at each WMA beginning the week of Oct 1 and ending the week of Dec. 17 for a total of 589 pheasants at each WMA for the year.

Please note that at both locations there are small, naturalized pheasant populations. As such, it is possible hunters may encounter hen pheasant, which are illegal to harvest.

Boundary-Smith Creek WMA

Located at the Idaho-British Columbia border, the Boundary-Smith Creek WMA is in the breathtaking Kootenai River Valley. The WMA is characterized by just over 2,000 acres of public land, and it includes both wetland, forested and upland habitat.

Grizzly bears often frequent the WMA, so hunters should be bear aware and carry bear spray.

The entire WMA is open to hunting, but there is no shooting allowed within 100 yards of the WMA headquarters located at the northeastern-most corner of the WMA.

For the youth hunt, pheasants will be released in the field just north of Smith Creek and west of the WMA headquarters; there are parking areas at these locations. Additionally, birds can and do move from the stocked area, so you might find birds throughout the WMA, especially later in the youth hunt. After the youth hunt, all other releases will be scattered throughout the WMA (see map at idfg.idaho.gov/sites/default/files/wma-map-r1-boundary-smith-creek_0.pdf).

Detailed pheasant stocking plans at the Boundary-Smith Creek WMA can be found on our Pheasant Stocking Program webpage at idfg.idaho.gov/visit/boundary-smith-creek-wma-0.

Coeur d'Alene River WMA

The CDA River WMA (see map at idfg.idaho.gov/sites/default/files/wma-cda-river-map.pdf) is a collection of land parcels along the CDA River from Rose Lake to CDA Lake. The WMA boasts over 8,500 acres of public land containing wetland, lake, upland and forested habitats.

Although the entire WMA is open to hunting, only the Lane Marsh parcel will be stocked with pheasants. Hunters will need an Upland Bird Permit to hunt either Lane or Strobel Marsh parcels, but they can hunt without the permit if outside the Lane or Strobel March parcels (see map).

Hunters are reminded that private lands are intermingled with CDA River WMA parcels, so know where you are at all times to avoid unintentionally trespassing.

Detailed pheasant stocking plans at the Coeur d'Alene River WMA can be found on our Pheasant Stocking Program webpage at https://idfg.idaho.gov/visit/coeur-d-alene-river-wma-lane-and-strobel-marsh-parcels.

Check out our Pheasant stocking Program webpage to get information about plans for statewide pheasant stocking.

Good Time To Apply For Apprentice Program

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

HELENA – Montana's two-day, youth-only deer hunt is coming up Oct. 19 and 20, and general deer season opens Oct. 21. Now is a good time to consider signing up for the Apprentice Hunter Program.

The apprentice hunter program allows people ages 10 and older to hunt as apprentices with a mentor for two seasons without completing a Hunter Education course.

Fish, Wildlife & Parks highly recommends that interested people visit the website at fwp.mt.gov and read the packet on the Apprentice Hunter Program before seeking certification. The packet outlines guidelines for both the apprentice and the required mentor, including what apprentices can and cannot do, who can act as a mentor and how the certification process works. Reading up on it beforehand may prevent possible confusion and save people from making an extra trip.

Some key details to note:

- Certification can be done at an FWP office; forms can be downloaded ahead of time from the website. Certification can also be done by mailing the form to licensing, but the process takes longer.
- A person must be certified before purchasing appropriate licenses, which will then show apprentice status.
- There are limited license opportunities available for nonresidents. Nonresident youth (under age 18) may qualify for an over-the-counter general combination license that requires a separate form and payment to be completed at an FWP office or by mail. Nonresidents ages 18 or older do not qualify for an over-the-counter general combination license, but there are opportunities to purchase unlimited over-the-counter deer b and elk b licenses in certain areas of the state.
- Licenses for an apprentice under 18 can be purchased by a parent or relative as long as they present a copy of the parent's drivers license, along with a completed Apprentice Certification Form.
- A youth need not accompany the adult to certify as an apprentice, but he or she does need to fill out paperwork and understand the guidelines.
- The last four digits of the youth hunter's social security number is required; be sure to have this information.

An apprentice MUST:

- Be at least 10 years old at the time of license purchase.
- Fill out a certification form at an FWP office and pay a $5 certificate fee (forms available online at fwp.mt.gov).
- Hunt with a certified mentor who is at least 21 and who has completed Hunter Education if born after Jan. 1, 1985.

- Have the appropriate current Montana hunting licenses for the species being hunted; the licenses must show that he/she is Apprentice Hunter certified.
- Stay within sight of the non-hunting mentor at all times.

An apprentice MAY:

- Be a resident or nonresident.
- Obtain apprentice certification for no more than two license years before he or she must complete a hunter safety and education course.
- Purchase general elk, general deer, deer b, elk b, turkey and upland bird licenses, depending on the age and residency status of the apprentice hunter as well as the availability of the specific license.

An apprentice is NOT ELIGIBLE to:

- Obtain a special bow and arrow license without first completing a Bowhunter Education course (must be 11 years old to take bow ed) and be 12 years old or turning 12 by January 16 of the upcoming year.
- Obtain a resident hound training license for chasing mountain lion.
- Participate in a hunting license or permit drawing with a limited quota.
- Obtain any bighorn sheep, black bear, mountain lion or wolf license.
- Obtain an elk license if under 15 years of age.

A mentor MUST:

- Be 21 or older.
- If the apprentice is under 18, the mentor must be related to the apprentice by blood, adoption or marriage; or be the apprentice's legal guardian or be designated by the apprentice's legal guardian.
- Have completed Hunter Education if born after Jan. 1, 1985.
- Have a current Montana hunting license.
- Complete the Apprentice Hunter Mentor form and carry the form in the field.
- Agree to accompany and supervise the apprentice hunter and remain within sight of and direct voice contact with the apprentice at all times while in the field.
- Confirm that the apprentice possesses the physical and psychological capacity to safely and ethically engage in hunting activities.

What Prompted the Discontinuation of Fen-Phen?

DEAR DR. ROACH: I'm a 71-year-old healthy female who has struggled with my weight all my life. In the '90s, I thought I had finally found the solution in fen-phen. It was like a miracle! It took all the nagging thoughts of food out of my brain.

My question is, with all the drug ads on TV every day blithely showing the many side effects leading up to – and including – death, why can't we use fen-phen? I worked in a hospital where a very large number of employees were taking it with great results. I never heard a hint about anything that could affect someone's health.

Also, I talked to many of the other patients at the doctor's office where I was receiving it. Everyone was overjoyed with the results. I had no temptations and no constant yammering in my brain to eat something. As I said, it was a miracle. I felt like a normal person. So, why are all of these drug companies allowed to advertise their products, but one drug that truly worked had to get snatched away from us? – M.H.

ANSWER: Fen-phen was a combination of fenfluramine and phentermine, which was approved for use in 1986. Approximately 18 million prescriptions were written for this medicine until 1987, when an association was made between the use of fen-phen and valve diseases of the heart. These cases were reported with fenfluramine or with the related dexfenfluramine alone, but never with phentermine alone. (Phentermine remains on the market.) Approximately 150 cases were reported.

Subsequent studies estimated that seven out of 10,000 people who took fenfluramine or fen-phen for less than four months developed valve disease, while 35 in 10,000 people who took fenfluramine or fen-phen for more than four months developed valve disease. They were compared to people who either took phentermine alone or did not use a weight-loss medicine.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration determined that the risk of valve disease (some being severe enough to prompt valve replacement surgery) was too high, so the FDA asked manufacturers to remove these drugs from the market.

I fully understand your perspective. Some people are willing to take the risk of a side effect because the benefit of the medicine is so great. In my opinion, people should have the option of making their own decision, but in this case, the FDA felt that the risk was too high.

I have not seen a medicine for weight loss as effective as fen-phen until recently, when semaglutide (Wegovy and Ozempic) and tirzepatide (Mounjaro, not yet approved for weight loss) became available. Just as you say, many of my patients report that they were able to easily control their eating while on these medicines, and as of the time I am writing, there have not been any serious adverse effects of taking these drugs, although there are plenty of milder effects.

However, these medicines only work when you continue to take them, and stopping them generally results in rapid regain of the weight that was lost. It's important to realize that if you take a weight-loss drug, you're making a commitment to a long-term treatment.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

Rainbow Cloud AKA Iridescent Cloud

by Jan Goodman

The NOAA says these types of events are relatively rare as they are not seen very often. Conditions must be just right in order for them to occur: the cloud must be thin and contain lots of water droplets or ice crystals of about the same size.

Make Baked Apple Rings and Microwave Applesauce With Kids

Baked apple rings are a tasty and nutritious snack you can make in your own kitchen on a chilly fall day. We use zesty apples that friends share with us from their backyard trees, or we buy them at farmer's markets and apple orchards.

The drying process concentrates the sweetness of the apples, making them an ideal snack food to grab between meals or include with trail mix on a hike or bike ride. It's enjoyable for adults and kids to make together, and you can also turn any leftover raw end apple pieces into chunky applesauce in just minutes inside the microwave.

BAKED APPLE RINGS

Makes about 50 rings depending on apple size

- 4 firm apples
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/4 cup water

Preheat oven to 250° F. Prepare pans. Place wire cooling racks on two large baking trays, or line two large baking trays with parchment paper.

An adult should core and cut the apples in 1/8-inch rings using a sharp knife or mandolin. There will be extra irregular-sized pieces on the ends. Snack on them as you work, or save them for making microwave applesauce (see recipe below).

In a shallow dish, stir together lemon juice and water. Set prepared baking trays on the counter by ingredients. Young kids will enjoy dipping each slice into the lemon mixture and setting them onto a rack or parchment paper. Edges may overlap slightly.

Bake rings until dried with a leathery texture, about 2 hours. (If using parchment-paper-lined pans, an adult should flip the rings over after 1 hour and return them to the oven for an additional hour.)

Remove from oven and enjoy! Cool before storing.

Extra idea: For added flavor, sprinkle a mixture of 2 teaspoons cinnamon and 1 tablespoon sugar over the rings before baking.

MICROWAVE CHUNKY APPLESAUCE

Makes 2 servings

- 2 cups apple chunks from cored apples of one or more varieties, peeled or unpeeled if you like (red peels may give your applesauce a nice rosy color)
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine ingredients in a deep microwave-safe bowl. Cook uncovered at full power for 5 minutes. Remove and stir well. Cook an additional 5 minutes.

Use a potato masher or whisk to mash and stir the apples into the liquid. Cool and serve, or refrigerate.

F&G Commission Closes Fishing, Hunting And Trapping Along Portion Of Snake River Due To Recent Detection Of Quagga Mussel Larvae

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

The Idaho Fish and Game Commission met via conference call the morning of Sept. 29.

The Idaho Fish and Game Commission met via conference call on Friday morning, Sept. 29 and voted to close fishing, hunting and trapping below the high-water mark of the Snake River around Twin Falls where quagga mussel larvae were detected. The closure will span approximately 23 miles of the Snake River, from the waterfall known as Twin Falls to the Highway 46 bridge, also known as Ken Curtis Bridge.

The Fish and Game Commission's action is a companion reinforcement action supporting the overall closure put in place by the Idaho Department of Agriculture.

The Idaho Department of Agriculture is the lead agency for aquatic invasive species, and as such, is the primary point of contact for all public information about quagga mussels on their website.

Quagga mussels are one of the most aggressive invasive species infesting the United States. These mussels spread easily to new areas through the movement of watercraft or any other gear (e.g., decoys, fishing gear, waders, boots, etc.) that comes in contact with water that contains microscopic quagga mussel larvae.

But it isn't just boats and kayaks that assist in spreading the quagga larvae — dogs, too, can also spread the larvae.

"We're seeing a lot of dogs in these waters, whether folks are taking them for a riverside stroll or training their dogs for waterfowl hunting," said Terry Thompson, Magic Valley Regional Communications Manager.

Idaho Department of Agriculture's direction states that a dog must be quarantined for 30 days if they've been in contaminated waters; the same goes for other equipment that has been submerged in the water, including boats, kayaks, paddleboards, canoes, oars, waders, boots, lifejackets, fishing gear, buckets, nets, decoys and more.

In addition, the Fish and Game Commission also granted additional authority to Fish and Game Director Jim Fredericks to adjust Fish and Game-related closures in conjunction with any Idaho Department of Agriculture closure area modifications.

National Leif Erikson Day October 9th

— National Day Calendar —

National Leif Erickson Day honors the Icelandic-born explorer, Leif Erikson. The Norse explorer earns credit for bringing the first Europeans known to have set foot in North America. Leif Erikson left the European continent in 999 and landed in North America around the year 1,000.

How To Observe Leif Erikson Day

Tour a Norwegian heritage museum. Learn about Norse heritage, their exploration, and more. Dive into the story of this explore in books, too. We suggest Who was Leif Erikson by Nico Medina or Before Columbus: The Leif Eriksson Expedition by Elizabeth Cody Kimmel. Share your Norse heritage. However you celebrate, use #LeifEriksonDay to post on social media.

National Leif Erikson Day History

In 1925, at the Norse-American Centennial, President Calvin Coolidge gave recognition to Leif Erikson as the discoverer of America due to research by Norwegian-American scholars such as Knut Geirset and Ludvig-Hektoen.

United States Representative John Blatnik from Duluth introduced a bill in 1963 to observe Leif Erikson Day nationwide. On September 2, 1964, the United States Congress passed Joint Resolution 88-566, authorizing the President to proclaim October 9 as Leif Erikson Day. President Lyndon B. Johnson and each president since have done so. In the proclamations, the Presidents have praised the contributions of Americans of Nordic descent generally and the spirit of discovery.

Some states officially commemorate National Leif Erikson Day in addition to the federal observance. This occurs particularly in the Upper Midwest, where there are large numbers of people from the Nordic countries settled.

On October 9, 1825, a sloop named, Restauration, with 52 Norwegian Quakers on board, landed in New York Harbor, beginning what would become the first organized immigration from Norway to the United States. In commemoration of their journey and their exploring ancestor, Congress selected October 9 for National Leif Erickson Day.

Leif Erikson FAQ

Q. Was Leif Erikson Norse?

A. While the first-century explorer is believed to be born in Iceland, his ancestors hailed from Scandinavia, so he was of Norse descent. His father, Erik the Red was born in Norway.

Q. Do Norse, Nordic and Norwegian mean the same thing?

A. Yes and no. Norse refers to people and things from Scandinavia. Nordic refers to northern Europe. Norwegian is specific to the country Norway. So, something Norwegian can also be Nordic and Norse.

Q. To what countries does Scandinavia refer?

A. Scandinavia typically includes the countries of Denmark, Norway, and Sweden.
