Parsley is native to Southern Europe.

Cultivated for more than 2,000 years, it was used medicinally and also as food. The ancient Greeks held it to be sacred, using it to adorn athletic champions and to decorate the tombs of the dead. Ancient Romans used it in cooking, and gave wreaths of parsley to bridal parties to protect against evil spirits. - Brenda Weaver

NO FREEDOM! IT'S A human right to accept or reject God. He has given to each individual the freedom of choice. The soon coming 'Mark of the Beast' (National Sunday Law) will force everyone (yep, you!) to observe Sunday as a day of rest and worship. You will attend church, whether you want to or not, no freedom of choice because it will be the law of the USA, period. Force is the last resort of every false religion. That is its hallmark. God will only accept worship, only on a voluntary choice. He never uses force. Text Tim at 208-217-8942

Slightly Above Average Hunter Success For West-Central Montana's Opener

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

The 2022 Montana big game general hunting season opened October 22, and hunters in the west-central part of the state found the first true blast of cold fall weather and a few more animals than in recent years.

"Despite the cold, wet, and windy weather, everyone was in good spirits and excited about the season opener," said Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks wildlife biologist, Kirstie Yeager. Yeager runs a hunter check station just west of Anaconda.

The change in weather was likely one contributor to a bit higher hunter success, prompting more wildlife movement as snow began to fall in higher elevations. Hunter harvest success was slightly above average at all of the region's check stations this weekend, with most of the extra harvest attributed to white-tailed deer harvest in the Blackfoot and lower Clark Fork areas and elk tallied at the Darby hunter check station.

FWP hunter check stations near Anaconda, Bonner, Fish Creek, and Darby saw 2,016 hunters collectively this weekend. Hunters checked 84 elk, 18 mule deer, 90 white-tailed deer, three black bears, and one wolf. This compares to 2,340 hunter stops during the 2021 opening weekend and 54 elk, 23 mule deer, 59 white-tailed deer and two bears.

The elk harvest of 66 through the Darby Check Station more than doubled last year's reported 31 on opening weekend, with most of that harvest coming out of the Big Hole Valley.

"We had several youth and adult hunters come through with their very first elk or deer this weekend at the Darby station, which was great to see," said FWP Bitterroot wildlife biologist, Rebecca Mowry.

More liberal hunting regulations for white-tailed deer during the first week of the season in some west-central Montana hunting districts contributed to a bit of an increase in harvest. The 65 white-tailed deer checked through the Bonner station was up from 44 during last season's opener, and 12 through the relatively quiet Fish Creek station was up from two last season.

All-in-all, hunter check stations sample a small portion of the effort and harvests across the region, but they track important trends and biological information. Biologists use check stations to see how harvest is shaping up compared to historical averages, and to collect information on wildlife age, health and other hunter observations from the field. Hunters must stop at all check stations that they pass, even if they have not harvested any animals. The general big game season runs through Sunday, Nov. 27.

It's Time for Make-Ahead Meals for the Holidays

Have you ever wished the dinner fairy would appear with an effortless dinner for your family? I sure have, usually at 8 o'clock in the evening, dying of hunger, with 100 plates spinning and none of them dinner plates!

'Tis the season for busyness beyond belief, but here's a solution: Spend time prepping meals now in anticipation of the busy season ahead. Let's cook pork and rice in quantity and stash them in the freezer with recipes to use them when you need a quick dinner fix.

To keep costs low, use boneless pork sirloin roasts. These small roasts are packaged in large vacuum-sealed bags and are (historically) very inexpensive. I find 6 pounds of pork yields four generous meals for a family of four. You'll adjust the amounts to suit your family's needs.

OVEN ROAST PORK

Yield: 12 cups/16 servings
Total Time: 2 hours 5 minutes

6 pounds pork roast
1/2 teaspoon kosher salt
1/2 teaspoon ground pepper
1/2 teaspoon granulated garlic

Preheat oven to 375 F. Place pork in large baking pan, season and cover with foil. Roast for one hour, then lower the temperature to 275 F for an additional hour. Check for a temperature above 165 F.

Let cool completely. When cool, cut your pork into cubes and divide into portions of about 3 cups each. Place the portions into zippered freezer bags. Divide any pan juices between the bags. Label and freeze.

BIG BATCH RICE

Yield: 12 cups/16 servings
Total Time: 47 minutes

2 teaspoons kosher salt
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon olive oil
4 cups white or brown rice

Heat 8 cups of water to boiling. Add salt, butter, oil and rice. Return to a boil and reduce heat to a simmer. Simmer for 20 minutes for white rice, or 45 minutes for brown rice. Next, remove from heat and let stand, cov-

www.JasonCoblentz.com

Save time with these make-ahead meals

ered, for 10 minutes before fluffing with a fork. Let cool completely and divide into 3-cup portions. Freeze in zippered bags.

For each recipe, defrost one bag each pork and rice, overnight in refrigerator or defrost in microwave.

EASY PORK CHILI VERDE

Yield: 4 to 6 servings
Total Time: 15 minutes

1 tablespoon olive oil
1 cup chopped onion
3 cups cooked pork, cubed
1 (28 ounce) can green chili enchilada sauce
1 (15.5 ounce) can great northern beans, drained and rinsed

1 (14.5 ounce) can chicken broth
3 cups cooked rice

In a large skillet, saute onion in olive oil until soft. Add pork, green chili enchilada sauce, beans, broth and rice. Bring to a simmer and serve (pictured).

CREAMY PORK AND MUSHROOM CASSEROLE

Yield: 4 to 6 servings
Total Time: 15 minutes

1 tablespoon olive oil
1 cup onion, chopped
1 cup celery, chopped
8 ounces mushrooms, sliced
3 cups cooked pork, cubed
3 cups cooked rice
1 (10.5 ounce) can cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup sour cream
3/4 cup milk
1/2 tablespoon soy sauce
1 cup frozen peas

In a large skillet, heat olive oil and saute onion, celery and mushrooms. Add pork and rice, stirring to combine. In a bowl, stir together cream of mushroom soup, sour cream, milk and soy sauce. (If you don't use cream soups, increase sour cream to 1 cup and add salt to taste.) Add the soup mixture to the skillet, add peas and stir. Heat through and serve.

Other recipe ideas would be BBQ pork sandwiches, stir fry, burritos or burrito bowls.

With these easy recipes you can be your own dinner fairy! Now we need a dish-washing fairy.

Simple Tricks Make Acorn Squash a Treat

It's autumn, and acorn squash are in season, delicious, versatile, frugal and fabulous!

Some people find preparing squash daunting. I get it — the rind is hard to cut through and there are all those gooey seeds!

I felt the same way until I learned a few tricks. First, for hard-skinned squash, if you pierce them a few times and microwave for two to three minutes, they're much easier to cut in half.

Second, everything is easier to cut with a sharp knife. If you can upgrade only one thing in your kitchen, invest in a quality chef's knife.

Third, to easily remove the seeds, use an ice cream scoop. The sharp edge cuts through the stringy stuff, making removal a breeze. Armed with these tricks, preparing squash becomes a treat.

Sweet or savory? Acorn squash can be prepared either way, and both are wonderful. For a sweet squash, rub the exposed surface of the squash with butter and sprinkle with a little salt. Place a 1/2 tablespoon each butter and brown sugar (or more, I won't tell) in the center and roast, uncovered. You also could add maple syrup, cinnamon or pumpkin pie spice.

For savory squash, brush with olive oil, sprinkle with salt and pepper and roast. Optionally, you can place a little fresh herb (sage, rosemary or oregano) in the center with a pat of butter or splash of oil and roast uncovered.

ROAST ACORN SQUASH

Total Time: 50 minutes

Yield: 1 squash or 2 servings

1 acorn squash

1 tablespoon olive oil or butter, divided

Salt and pepper

Arrange oven rack in the lower-middle position of the oven. Preheat to 400 F. Wash your squash. Working from the tip toward the stem, slice it in half. Scoop out the seeds and place, cut side up, onto a baking sheet or baking dish.

Since the size of squash varies from 2 to 3 pounds, the roasting time will

www.jasoncobientz.com

Use leftover veggies for this sweet or savory squash.

also vary. Check for doneness beginning at 50 minutes. It's cooked when it's soft and easily pierced by a fork. When cooked, the squash will have liquid in the center. Let the squash rest to reabsorb that liquid.

To turn a squash into a complete meal, fill the center with stuffing, or stuff the center with filling. I'll leave that for you to decide. Either way, here's a master recipe you can vary to your heart's content to make scrumptious stuffed squash dinners all season long.

MIX AND MATCH STUFFING

1 to 2 cups vegetables

1/2 to 1 cup rice

1/2 to 1 cup cooked protein

1/4 cup optional add-ins

Roast squash according to directions above. While the squash is cooking, prepare your stuffing. Depending on the size of your squash, you'll want between 2 to 3 cups stuffing. In a skillet, saute 1 to 2 cups mixed diced vegetables, such as onion, garlic, celery, peppers, zucchini, mushrooms, spinach, practically anything. This is a perfect use for leftover veggies.

Add 1/2 to 1 cup cooked white or brown rice. Next, add 1/2 to 1 cup cooked protein to the mix. Examples are any kind of sausage, hamburger, chicken or soy-based vegetable crumbles. Yet another use for leftovers.

Lastly, add optional goodies to customize your dish. You could add cheese (Parmesan, mozzarella, feta, pepper jack), some crunch (nuts, sunflower seeds, pepitas), fresh herbs and dried fruit (raisins, cranberries, apricots). Stir it all together in the skillet. When the squash is cooked, mound the filling into the squash and return to the oven for 10 minutes.

Serve with flourish and devour your ultimate autumn comfort food.

Stuffed Chicken Breasts

Garlic-and-herb cheese and roasted peppers are the surprise filling for these boneless breasts. Served alongside lemony herb couscous, this dish is elegant enough for guests but easy enough for a family weeknight dinner.

Stuffed Chicken Breast

- 4 (about 1 1/4 pounds) medium skinless, boneless chicken breast halves
- 1/4 cup (about half 4.4-ounce package) light garlic-and-herb spreadable cheese
- 1/4 cup jarred roasted red peppers, drained and chopped
- 8 whole fresh basil leaves, chopped
- 1 teaspoon extra-virgin olive oil
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper

Lemon and Basil Couscous

- 1 teaspoon extra-virgin olive oil
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
- 1 cup couscous
- 1 cup fresh basil leaves, coarsely chopped
- 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice

1. Prepare Stuffed Breasts: With tip of knife, cut each chicken breast from a long side, keeping knife parallel to surface of breast, to form a deep pocket with as small an opening as possible.

2. In small bowl, combine cheese, peppers and basil. Spread 1/4 cheese mixture in each chicken pocket. Rub outside of chicken with oil and sprinkle with salt and pepper.

3. Prepare Lemon and Basil Couscous: In 2-quart saucepan, heat oil, salt, pepper and 1-1/3 cups water to boiling over high heat; stir in couscous. Cover saucepan; remove from heat and let stand at least 5 minutes.

4. Meanwhile, place chicken on grill over medium heat and cook 12 to 15 minutes or until juices run clear when thickest part of breast is pierced with tip of knife, turning over once.

5. To serve, add basil and lemon juice to couscous, and fluff with fork to mix well. Spoon couscous onto 4 dinner plates and arrange chicken on top.

* Each serving chicken: About 255 calories, 35g protein, 4g carbohydrate, 10g total fat (5g saturated), 0g fiber, 113mg cholesterol, 560mg sodium.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Lucie Winborne

- You've no doubt heard of shattering a glass with your voice, but how about singing at a pitch so low only an elephant can hear it? That feat belongs to Tim Storms, who possesses a 10-octave vocal range and holds the Guinness World Record for lowest note produced by a human and widest vocal range.
- In some parts of the world, tarantulas have "pet" frogs, which they protect from predators.
- At the Harvard-Yale annual college football matchup in 2004, Yale students played quite the trick on their opponents by dressing as Harvard pep squad members and handing out crimson and gold placards to the crowd. While told their cards would spell out "Go Harvard" when raised, the actual message read "We Suck."
- Two of the most common paint colors at Walt Disney World are "Go Away Green" and "Blending Blue." Their curious monikers attest to the fact that Disney Imagineers created them to make your eyes ignore them.
- The first known dental filling dates to the Neolithic period and was made of beeswax.
- You don't need a body to play video games – just a mind! Lab-grown human and mouse brain cells inhabiting a petri dish became sentient enough to learn how to play Pong.
- Billy Joel's song "Only the Good Die Young" was banned by some radio stations for being "anti-Catholic." Joel hardly minded, however, as the resulting publicity made the tune so popular that he wrote to the president of Seton Hall College in New Jersey (the first entity to forbid it) requesting a ban on his next record as well.

5 Ways to Customize Your Doors and Windows with Unique Glass

— Statepoint Media —

While the functionality of your home's windows and glass doors is important, experts say you shouldn't neglect to consider aesthetics as well.

"No matter the architectural style of your home, you have more choices than you may think when updating windows and glass doors," says Ashley Ridenour, door and window marketing manager for ProVia. "Many of these options can add instant curb appeal, while also elevating the elegance, beauty and style of your home's interiors."

According to Ridenour, here's how to capture your unique personality when making this renovation:

1. Add glass doors: Create the perfect personalized entry to your home by opting for a front door with special glass, along with complementary sidelites. Today's top-of-the-line glass entry doors are not only beautiful, they also provide UV protection, durability and energy efficiency for increased comfort. You can carry this inspiration to the back of your home as well -- options abound for customizing your sliding glass or hinged patio doors.

2. Enhance privacy: Privacy glass allows light to filter in, while maintaining a high level of privacy for your home. ProVia carries five styles of privacy glass offering different levels of obscurity, which can be fitted to a wide range of door and window models and styles.

3. Beautify with ornamental glass: Decorative glass is created by precisely cutting, beveling, mitring and soldering glass components into artistically designed patterns. Mimicking the handmade sheet glass of centuries past, the designs lend an elegant and vintage flair to ordinary door and window glass. Aesthetic imperfections like textural waves, striations and random air beads give each design its own unique visual character and charm.

4. Turn to color: Give your home a beautiful boost of color with custom hand-stained window and door glass. At ProVia, in-house glass artists create the design, and skilled craftsmen hand-apply the color fill to the glass. It's an affordable way to get the timeless look of antique stained glass for your entry door, windows, patio doors and even the glass in your storm door.

5. Opt for built-in blinds: Typically available in both white and neutral hues such as cream and tan, built-in blinds are another way to complement your home interior and add privacy. This is also a low-maintenance option for those who love a clean look -- because the blinds are in a sealed and insulated glass unit, they remain dust free.

To learn more about custom glass windows and for additional design tips, visit provia.com/glass/windows.

"When it comes right down to it, windows don't have to be purely functional. Before you make a selection, be sure to explore all of your options, and don't be afraid to get a little daring," says Ridenour.

Hunters: Take Note Of These New Hunting Boundaries, Rules And Law Changes And Plan Your Hunt Accordingly

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

Here's what hunters should know about the changes made to hunting unit modifications and new changes to rules and laws effective July 1st.

As hunters start to scope out their favorite hunting spots, Fish and Game is urging hunters to check out all of the new hunting unit boundary changes and new changes to rules and laws.

Changes to Big Game Hunting Units

Minor changes have been made to several hunting units to simplify boundaries, which affects elk zones and controlled hunt areas. Boundary changes were presented to the public as part of "Zero-Based Rulemaking" revisions in March 2021. These changes were presented to the public for comment in 2021, and 94 percent of comments supported those changes.

Previously, some boundaries were difficult to describe or interpret, causing much frustration among hunters. Many of the boundary changes are aimed at making them easier to understand by matching them to roads, or easily identifiable features.

Changes are listed below and maps can be found on Fish and Game's 2022 Idaho Game Management Unit Changes webpage at idfg.idaho.gov/hunt/gmu-changes.

Observable Boundary Changes | These changes were along borders between the following hunting units

- Units 38, 39, 41, 45, 46, 49, 50, 53, 56 and 57

Clarifying Description Changes | The following hunting units focus on clarifying descriptions of locations.

- Units 5, 6, 7, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47 and 48

No Changes | The following units have no changes.

- Units 1, 2, 3, 4, 4A, 8, 8A, 9, 10, 10A, 11, 11A, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 16A, 17, 18, 19, 19A, 20, 20A, 21, 21A, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 30A, 31, 32, 32A, 33, 34, 35, 36, 36A, 36B, 37, 37A, 51, 52, 52A, 54, 55, 58, 59, 59A, 61, 62, 62A,

63, 63A, 64, 65, 66, 66A, 67, 68, 68A, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 73A, 74, 75, 76 and 77

Elk Zones

Changes may also affect some Elk Zones and controlled hunt areas. To see a full list of all Elk Zones impacted by boundary changes, check out Fish and Game's 2022 Idaho Game Management Unit Changes webpage, idfg.idaho.gov/hunt/gmu-changes.

Changes to Rules and Laws

Hunters will see other new rules that affect hunting, which include:

- Archery Equipment – Lighted nocks and mechanical broadheads are allowed for big game hunting
- Game Bird Weapons – Crossbows and airguns (with caliber limits) are legal methods of take for all game birds, including wild turkey
- Vision Disability Certification – Licensed optometrists were added to the list of medical professionals who can certify vision disabilities for reasonable weapon modifications
- Depredation Funding – An increase in annual funding to landowners for big game damage to property and crops and additional funding authority for access to depredation claims

New law changed some rule violations to infractions (formerly misdemeanors):

- Fish and Game Lands: Violate restrictions on dog leashing; fireworks; and less than $1,000 damage value on grazing, digging, firewood removal, logging or placing beehives
- Failure to comply with companion requirements for mentored/disabled hunting
- Failure to comply with shooting hours for upland game animals, upland game birds, migratory game birds and American crow
- Failure to have two-pole permit when using two poles (except when ice fishing)
- Fishing with bait or non-fly fish gear where prohibited
- Fishing for sturgeon without sliding sinker or lighter test terminal line to sinker
- Exceed fishing bag limit or established length restriction by one fish for all trout (and other fish) except anadromous salmon and steelhead and sturgeon
- Failure to leave evidence of sex/species attached for all game animals
- Failure to comply with shot size or nontoxic shot restrictions for migratory birds, upland game birds, or upland game animals
- Failure to validate upland game permit for harvested stocked birds (pheasant)
- Fail to comply with mandatory check for certain species when required

How to Litter Train a New Kitten

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I'm getting a new kitten from my neighbor. His name is Striper, and he's 10 weeks old. But I'm worried that he won't know how to use the litter box. Once he moves in, how can I train him to use the litter box? -- Kaley in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina

Dear Kaley: Once kittens are able to move around and explore, their moms teach them right away where and how to go. This is a survival skill: Cats hide their waste so that it's harder for predators to find them and so their prey doesn't know they're around.

However, you'll need to make sure Striper knows where it's appropriate for him to go. So, before he comes home with you, prepare for his arrival.

- Have the litter box ready to go, filled with litter, and a scoop and bag nearby.
- As soon as Striper arrives, bring him to the litter box first before anything else. Let him sniff around and get familiar with the box.

What if Striper doesn't use the litter box? Here's what to do:

- If you catch him in the act, don't scold him; pick him up and place him in the litter box. Let him sniff around again and allow him to leave even if he doesn't go again.
- Get to know his behaviors. Once you recognize Striper is about to go, you can pick him up and get him to the litter box.
- Give him lots of praise when he uses the box and a little treat when he's done.
- If Striper still won't use the box, try shifting it to a new location and show him where it is.

Pet's First Visit to the Veterinarian

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I'm planning to adopt a cat soon. This is my first pet, and I'm looking forward to caring for it. The local shelter gave me a few instructions to follow, pre-adoption, including making an appointment for a veterinary checkup. Is there anything I should know about my cat's first vet visit? -- Kara L., Buffalo, N.Y.

DEAR KARA: Congratulations on deciding to accept a cat into your life! It will be a rewarding experience. I'm also glad that you're doing your homework ahead of time to give your cat the best start on a new life. Here are a few tips that will help with your first veterinary visit:

- Research local clinics ahead of time. Is there one that specializes in cats?
- Purchase a cat carrier that best fits your cat (in terms of size, not decor). This will make transporting the cat from the shelter and to and from the vet much easier and safer.
- Keep all paperwork from the shelter in a folder and bring it with you.
- You should be able to be present during the exam. It's a great time to ask questions about caring for your cat. Be ready to take notes.
- Listen to the vet as he or she gives you information about your cat's general health. Vets or their assistants often talk to you throughout the process, telling you what they're checking for and the result.
- Follow the vet's instructions. If a follow-up visit or more tests are needed, make sure you do it. Write down special instructions like how much and what type of food to feed your cat, or instructions on giving medication. And don't be afraid to ask for clarification if you don't understand something.

Keep Pets Prepared for Emergencies in Winter, Too

Dear Paws Corner: Please remind your readers to include their pets in winter emergency preparedness planning. Last year, when the Texas power grid failed in extreme cold weather conditions, shelters saw many pets with cold-related injuries. When the power goes out on a cold night -- or for several days -- dogs and cats can't just "tough it out." -- Tyler in Southeast Texas

Dear Tyler: You're absolutely right. Readers, emergency preparedness should always include your pets. I warn my East Coast readers each summer at the start of hurricane season to put together a grab-and-go emergency kit for their pet. But every region experiences natural disasters, and sometimes they occur in the depths of winter.

A winter-ready pet emergency kit should include:

- A warm blanket for each pet.
- A soft pad for pets to sleep on if you're in an evacuation center.
- Booties and sweaters to wear when pets go outside in freezing conditions.
- Pee pads and pet waste bags.
- Three days of canned or dry pet food, and bottled water.
- A copy of each pet's vaccination and medical records.
- A three-day supply of each pet's medication.
- A list of important phone numbers, including their veterinarian.
- Extra leash and collar for each pet, and extra ID tags.

If your pet isn't microchipped, I strongly recommend it. Pets have escaped from even the most responsible, organized owners. Keep them up to date on vaccinations as well -- it's hard to predict whether your pet will be exposed to a disease by another cat or dog during an evacuation.

You can find more tips and recommendations for emergency preparedness at <https://www.ready.gov/pets>. Send your tips, questions or comments to ask@pawscorner.com.

Giving Kids A Taste Of Nature In The Panhandle Region

— Idaho Fish and Game —

Fish and Game staff recently participated in an elementary school field trip at Cocolalla Lake

In today's highly digital and modernized world, it's easy for nature to take a back seat. Not so was the case for the second and fifth grade classes of Southside Elementary in the Lake Pend Oreille school district.

In early-June, Idaho Fish and Game staff participated in a field trip of a Fish and Game-managed wetland near the south end of Cocolalla Lake. The 121-acre parcel of land is part of the Pend Oreille Wildlife Management Area, which, like our other WMAs, is managed for wildlife habitat and public access for sportsmen and recreationists.

While on the field trip, kids were treated to a tour of the property where they learned about the diverse wildlife species that rely on wetland habitats. Kids visited multiple stations, where they learned in more detail about monarch butterflies, aquatic insects and wetland habitat conservation and restoration.

Miles Benker, Regional Habitat Biologist for Fish and Game, led the first station where he explained the importance of wetland vegetation for food, water and cover for various wildlife species. He also discussed the important role wetlands play in filtering out pollutants and sediment from entering Cocolalla Lake.

The second, and arguably most popular station, was the aquatic insects. Fish and Game staff swept the shallow water of the wetland with a seine net to capture a diversity of aquatic life. Kids were equipped with a hand lens, eager to clamor over the findings of the last sweep of the net. They observed water-dwelling bugs, frog tadpoles and even some small fish species.

The last station transitioned away from the wetland habitat and into the meadow-type habitat. Here kids took a deep dive into the complex life cycle of the monarch butterfly and the incredible journey the butterflies take each year to reach Idaho. A stand of showy milkweed, a plant species critical for monarch butterflies to survive and complete their life cycle, was carefully planted by the hands and hard work of the students. The stand will be maintained and monitored with the future help of the school's students and teachers.

The Southside Elementary field trip has occurred for several years now, and it continues to be a favorite among students, teachers, administrators and parents, alike.

TJ Clary, Principal of Southside Elementary, said, "We are super grateful for this opportunity. The students loved it!"

There was also strong community support for the event. Gary Suppiger, member of the Cocolalla Lake Association, commented, "Thank you for another very successful wetland tour for Southside Elementary. The kids had a great time and hopefully learned something about wildlife management in Cocolalla."

In case you're wondering, wetland habitats are highly productive and important to all kinds of wildlife species.

Ranging from animals as large as a moose and as small as a mouse, wetlands play a critical role. Wetlands are also home to beaver, mink, muskrat and otters, as well as various reptiles and amphibians such as western toads, Columbian spotted frogs, salamanders, common garter snakes and painted turtles. Not to mention, birds of all types often frequent wetlands, including ducks, geese, blue heron, osprey and bald eagles.

Fish and Game is in the business of managing the truly remarkable fish, wildlife and habitat resources to which our state is home; getting young minds immersed in the wonders of nature is a crucial part of the process.

Please contact the Panhandle Regional office at 208-769-1414 if you have questions about any of our wildlife management areas.

Follow us on the Panhandle Region Facebook page for regular updates and news.

What's New For Chronic Wasting Disease Management For 2022

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

This year FWP will continue chronic wasting disease (CWD) surveillance in specific areas known as Priority Surveillance Areas in north-central, central, southwestern, and south-central Montana.

- Carcass disposal requirements: Carcass parts, such as brain, eyes, spleen, lymph glands, and spinal cord material, should be left at the kill site when possible. If the animal is transported for taxidermy or meat processing, the brain and spinal tissue must be bagged and disposed of in a Class II landfill. A carcass may be transported within the state regardless of where it was harvested if the carcass parts are disposed of in a landfill after butchering and processing. Dumping carcasses is illegal, unethical, and can spread diseases, including chronic wasting disease. This requirement applies to all deer, elk, and moose carcasses wherever in the state they are harvested by hunters or as vehicle-killed salvage. Protect our herds: properly dispose of carcasses.
- If you intend to use scents to either mask human odor or as an attractant for deer and elk, you should be aware there are regulations on which ones you can use. You are safest if you use artificial scents, but you can also use scents certified by the Responsible Hunting Scent Association. You can identify these with the DPPV or RtQUICV labels on them.
- Sample submission is voluntary throughout Montana. If hunters want their harvested animal sampled, they can submit samples themselves by following steps on the Montana CWD Submission Guide or by visiting a CWD Sampling Station.
- Certain areas of the state are designated as Priority Surveillance Areas where FWP is making a concerted effort to gather more samples. In those specific areas, hunters are asked to voluntarily submit a sample from their animal. For instructions on how or where to submit a sample, visit mt.gov/cwd.
- Report sick-looking deer, elk, or moose. If you shoot an animal that looks diseased or sick, report it immediately to your local FWP office for further instructions and limit handling it. FWP staff will need to diagnosis and verify diseased or sick harvested animals to determine if an animal is fit for consumption or eligible for a replacement tag.

For more information on CWD, visit fwp.mt.gov/cwd.
