Pain Persists Around Puncture Site After Medical Procedure

DEAR DR. ROACH: Nine days ago, I had a medical procedure under general anesthesia. One of the lines was put in the artery in my left wrist. Aside from deep bruising that went halfway up my forearm, it seems that there is some nerve damage. I have constant pain from my thumb, through my wrist, and up to about 3 inches on my arm. Overnight, the pain becomes intense and radiates all the way up to my shoulder.

Tylenol and an arthritis sleeve only provide minimum relief. Should I request to see a neurologist, or is there another type of doctor to seek out for a diagnosis? This has become life-altering, and I'm hoping it will eventually be healed. -- B.F.

ANSWER: I suspect that the bruising on your forearm was caused by bleeding from the puncture site of the artery in your wrist. (This type of line is used to measure blood pressure accurately and instantaneously.) The hematoma (blood collection) inside the wrist might be compressing the median nerve in your carpal tunnel, which causes a neuropathy very much like carpal tunnel syndrome.

If I am right, then the condition should improve as your body absorbs the blood, which takes pressure off the nerve. However, there are case reports of permanent damage to the nerve from complications of an arterial puncture. In general, if the nerve compression is serious enough to cause weakness, it needs to be acted upon urgently.

The doctors who performed your procedure need to know about this complication, and a neurologist is exactly the right person to see. A simple nerve test could confirm my suspicion or disprove it by finding a different cause if your symptoms persist.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I'm an active 60-year-old who took a soccer ball to the groin some time back. After a few months, I noticed a change in my sexual organ. Narrowing and bending of my organ developed, and it seems to be getting worse.

My general doctor seems to think it's Peyronie's disease. After researching this, I started taking vitamin E and COq10 supplements. I scheduled a urologist exam but was hoping for some insight on this. -- G.

ANSWER: I suspect your general doctor is correct, and an evaluation by a urologist is certainly indicated. Peyronie's disease is often triggered by trauma in a person who is genetically susceptible to the condition. (Your trauma was very clear, but it isn't always clear in everyone what the trauma might have been.)

The diagnosis is made by an examination showing a bend in the penis, along with plaque that can be felt during an examination in most cases. Some men, but not all, will have pain.

In men who are in the active phase of the disease (where the curvature is getting worse), urologists will often prescribe pentoxifylline for three to six months in hopes of stabilizing the condition and preventing the curve from worsening.

Vitamin E was not found to be superior to a placebo treatment. CoQ10 was found to have a benefit in a small trial, and since it is very safe, this was a reasonable treatment for you to try.

Depending on your symptoms and degree of curvature, there are several options for treatment. Medication can be injected directly into the penis; men treated with this were found to have about a 34% improvement in curvature. Traction therapy is also frequently used.

In men with more severe disease that does not respond to the previous options, surgical treatment can be considered. This should be done in men whose sexual function is affected by the disease and in cases where medical treatments have failed to improve their symptoms adequately.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

F&G and Private Lands: Part 3

Depredation hunts: Idaho Fish and Game's most misunderstood hunts

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

Depredation hunts are intended to stop animals when they are in the act of depredating

Most hunters think of Idaho deer and elk hunts occurring in the fall when they get to pursue their favorite quarry across Idaho's vast backcountry and additional hunting access provided on private lands ranging from corporate timberlands to rural farms and ranches.

Many of the traditional, general and controlled hunts fall hunts are influenced by depredation problems and geared toward reducing landowner conflicts and providing additional public hunting opportunities. There are other hunts that often cause confusion, such as "depredation hunts," which are strategic hunts solely intended to reduce damage to private lands caused by big game animals.

Fish and Game manages for healthy and abundant big game herds, but those animals don't recognize property boundaries, and many of Idaho's big game herds spend at least part of their year on private lands. Those visits often occur during seasonal migrations, or in winter when forage on public land is covered with snow.

Idahoans value wildlife, and that includes landowners who appreciate and accept elk and deer on their property, often even when they cause some inconveniences and damage to their crops. But when those animals cause unacceptable damage, Fish and Game uses a variety of tools to reduce, or eliminate, conflicts.

Fish and Game tries to maintain support for big game on private lands in many ways, including using nonlethal techniques, which you can read about in part 2 (see it at idfg.idaho.gov/article/part-2-depredation-prevention-can-keep-landowners-content-and-big-game-herds-abundant).

Fish and Game also uses strategic hunts to prevent or reduce big game damage to private lands. These hunting methods can include Landowner Permission Hunts, Depredation Hunts, and kill permits issued directly to the landowner. Each is a little different, but all are intended to reduce damages and maintain support for abundant big game herds. The meat is always utilized from these hunts, either by the hunter, landowner, or it is professionally processed and donated to food banks.

What are Landowner Permission Hunts?

Landowner Permission Hunts, or LPH hunts, are a form of depredation hunt that is used primarily on private lands with chronic depredations and during times of year when the animals are likely to be causing damage. That's why some hunts run before or after traditional fall hunts. Simply put, you can't hunt the animals that are causing problems if they're not there, so these hunts take place when the animals are likely to be in the act of depredating agriculture.

How are LPH tags distributed?

Vouchers are distributed to landowners on an as-needed basis when an active depredation event has been verified by Fish and Game staff. In some cases, a portion of the vouchers are distributed proactively to landowners with chronic depredation issues. The remaining vouchers are provided to landowners in response to verified depredations.

Who decides who gets a LPH tag voucher?

That's up to the discretion of the landowner who is having the depredation, and any hunter who is eligible to possess an Idaho hunting license (resident or nonresident) for the current calendar year can participate if approved by the landowner.

How many LPH tags are available each year?

That depends. The numbers listed in the LPH brochure (idfg.idaho.gov/sites/default/files/seasons-rules-big-game-2025-lph.pdf) represent the maximum number of tags allowed. If depredations are low, the number of tags available will be lower because the intent of the hunt is to manage the depredation, not provide maximum hunting opportunity.

Can an LPH tag be used outside of private property?

Sometimes. Each hunt has a legal boundary, and some hunt areas are restricted to private land. Hunters may hunt anywhere within the legal hunt area boundaries assuming they have permission on private land.

If it's to stop depredations on private land, why aren't LPH hunts restricted to private land?

Animals may come onto private lands to feed at night (outside of legal hunting hours), then return to public land, or other private lands, during the day. Because the goal is to eliminate or reduce wildlife depredations, hunters may need to access those animals on public land.

Where can I find out more about LPH hunts?

Each year, Fish and Game has a supplemental Season and Rules booklet outlining LPH hunts on their website (see link to LPH brochure above).

How do Depredation Hunts differ from LPH hunts?

Depredation hunts are initiated in response to active depredation when it's happening. Typically, they're in response to short-term, or new, situations caused by relatively few animals. They are held on short notice, usually involve relatively small areas, and typically, landowners can distribute half the tags and Fish and Game distributes the rest based on a list of hunters who earlier applied to participate. These strategic hunts can often remove specific animals causing problems, or drive the rest of the herd away from the private land.

Hunters apply for these hunts between May and June each year not knowing when, or if, a depredation hunt will be needed, or if they will be called to participate. Essentially, they are "on call" if a problem arises. Most regions issue only a handful of depredation permits each year.

What are kill permits?

Sometimes organizing a depredation hunt is infeasible due to timing and/or logistics, and the Fish and Game Director has the option of issuing "kill permits" directly to a landowner. As implied, these are not hunting tags in a traditional sense, they are permits to allow the landowner, or their designee, to kill a specific number and species of animal on their property that are causing damage. These may be used if individual animals, or small herds, are consistently causing problems, and removing an individual, or a few, animals can help solve the problem.

If depredation problems persist, a landowner can file a claim for depredation reimbursement, which you can read about in Part 4.

What are agency-led removals?

These are rare, but needed when specific depredation problems can't be effectively resolved by other types of hunts. An example might be where animals have a safe haven where a nearby landowner allows no hunting, and elk use that property as refuge during the day and then feed on neighboring properties at night. Because public hunting after hours is illegal and comes with a variety of public safety concerns, trained Fish and Game staff, or agents from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Wildlife Services, can quickly and safely remove offending animals.

B.I.B.L.E WHICH STANDS for Basic Instructions Before Leaving Earth. And leaving earth means being heaven bound, having eternal life in the new heavens and new earth, which God is going to remake. But the catch is, only those who have prepared their lives beforehand by applying the knowledge they have gained through Bible study. You and I had nothing to say about coming into this world, but where we spend eternity is entirely in our hands, and depends wholly upon our own choice. And the Bible lays out the standard of the kinds of people God wants with Him for eternity, and that is why Jesus Christ came to this world to present. In other words, Jesus came to demonstrate, to show us what God's ways are really like, as portrayed in the 4 gospels: Matthew to John. The Bible says that Satan is the god of this world (2 Corinthians 4:4), and as such, Satan being the god of this world means, Satan has set up his educational agenda to prevent people from knowing what God is really like, which is why Jesus Christ came to this world, to prove Satan wrong. So, my question is, who is it that is keeping you from Bible study, Christ or Satan? Tim, 208-217-8942

Learn How To Apply For Nonresident Disabled American Veteran Deer/Elk Tags For 2026

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

Nonresident Disabled American Veterans applying for tags in the Nonresident Tag Drawing for 2026 general season deer and elk hunts will have opportunities in two drawings.

Those eligible for DAV privileges, which require a service-connected disability rating of 40% or greater, will be eligible to apply for 500 discounted deer tags, and 300 discounted elk tags for 2026.

To apply, nonresident disabled veterans must buy a hunting license, which is discounted to $31.75, but there is no additional application fees.

Tags available to DAV hunters:

- The 500 DAV deer tags are valid statewide, but the hunter must select a DAV Regular Deer tag, or DAV White-tailed Deer tag
- The 300 DAV elk tags will be limited to uncapped elk zones
- Nonresident disabled veterans can also enter the general Nonresident Tag Drawing, so DAV hunters can submit a total of four applications: DAV elk, non-DAV elk, DAV deer, and non-DAV deer

All DAV deer and elk tags will be available at the discounted prices. If successful in a non-DAV drawing, the DAV hunter will pay the full nonresident tag prices. If a DAV hunter is successful in both the DAV drawing and the Nonresident Tag Drawing for the same species, the person will have to pick a single tag for that species.

Group applications are allowed for the DAV drawing for up to four hunters, but all applicants must be DAV eligible to apply for the discounted tags.

Application period for the Nonresident Tag Drawing (including DAV) is Dec. 5-15, 2025. Results will be announced in early January 2026.

The 2026 Nonresident General Tags brochure shows the hunt numbers for each unit and zone that can be applied for (similar to controlled hunt numbers). The brochure also denotes capped and uncapped zones for DAV applicants. Hunters can get all other hunt details in the Big Game Seasons and Rules brochure.

Required Documentation for DAV Reduced Fees

To receive DAV reduced fees, veterans must provide a copy of their official VA Disability Percentage Rating letter, and the letter must verify a service-connected disability rating of 40% or greater.

The letter is also called a "Benefits Summary Percentage Letter," and typically is one page. The letter may bear any date prior to license application.

Documentation for the resident DAV license will be required only for the initial application and will not be required for subsequent applications. Please do not provide the multi-page medical determination report your physician sends to the VA Case Manager for adjustments.

• How to get your VA Disability Percentage Rating letter: You may get a copy of your letter by calling: (800) 827-1000 or your local VA office, or by online access at: www.ebenefits.va.gov using your premium account login (all recently separated personnel are required to have a premium account; if you don't have an account, you will need to set one up to access your letter).

• What to do with your letter: Letters can be submitted via email to our Licenses office at Licenses@idfg.idaho.gov Letters can also be brought to any regional office or mailed to: Idaho Dept. of Fish and Game - Licensing Section P.O. Box 25 Boise, ID 83707

National Cashew Day

November 23rd

— National Day Calendar —

A favorite snacking and party nut is recognized each year on November 23rd during National Cashew Day.

The cashew nut is a seed harvested from the cashew tree. The tree originated in Northeastern Brazil. However, it is now widely grown in tropical climates for its cashew apples and nuts.

With leathery leaves arranged spirally, the evergreen cashew tree grows as tall as 32 feet high and often has an irregularly shaped trunk. The flowers are small, starting out pale green then turning reddish, with each one having five slender, acute petals.

The largest cashew tree in the world covers about 81,000 sq. ft. and is located in Natal, Rio Grande do Norte, Brazil.

Cashew Facts

- The cashew tree has a fruit called the “cashew apple.” Its fragile skin makes it unsuitable for transport.
- Latin Americans make a fruit drink from the cashew apple.
- The Cashew causes fewer allergic reactions than other nuts or peanuts.
- Although native to northeast Brazil, the Portuguese took the cashew plant to Goa, India, between 1560 and 1565. From Goa, it spread throughout Southeast Asia and, eventually, Africa.
- We often see peanuts, pecans, walnuts, and other nuts sold in the shell. Due to the toxic nature of the cashew nut's shell, this is not possible.
- Speaking of the shell, the Cashew is not a true nut. They do not develop a hard wall around the seed as hazelnuts or walnuts do. Cashews instead have a lining around the seed that is filled with a caustic fluid.

- This nut is an excellent source of antioxidants.
- It's also a source of dietary trace minerals: copper, manganese, magnesium, and phosphorous.
- Cashew oil is a dark yellow oil for cooking or salad dressing pressed from cashew nuts.
- Many parts of the plant are used for medicinal purposes.

There are so many ways to enjoy this fabulous nut. How will you be celebrating?

How To Observe #NationalCashewDay

Cashews inspire several ways to celebrate. You can begin by breaking out the cookbook. Whether you make cookies, bars or another baked good, you won't go wrong. You can also top your salads and soups with cashews. But that's only the beginning. May we suggest these other ideas to help you celebrate the day?

- Bundle up cashews to give as gifts for the holidays. Friends and family will thank you.
- Top your pasta dishes with chopped cashews. They will add texture and crunch to your meal.
- Roast cashews with a variety of seasonings. You can make them savory or sweet, whichever you prefer.
- Add chopped cashews to your ice cream sundae. Drizzle a little caramel on top and you will think you're dreaming.

What are your favorite ways to enjoy cashews? Use #NationalCashewDay to post on social media.

National Cashew Day History

National Day Calendar® continues researching the origins of this snack food holiday.

Cashew FAQ

- Q. How long do cashew trees live?
- A. On average, a cashew tree can live up to 60 years, but some live even longer. According to Guinness World Records, the world's largest cashew tree is estimated to be over 100 years old.
- Q. How many years does it take for cashew trees to reach maturity and begin producing nuts?
- A. A cashew tree begins producing around three years after its planted, but peak, harvestable production may take up to 8 years.
- Q. Can you make milk from cashews?
- A. Those with lactose intolerance, milk allergies, or are vegetarian or vegan rely on nut milk for nutrition. Some people prefer the flavor, too. Cashew milk is another option to add to the growing list of available nut and grain milks out there. You can even make it at home.

Hunter Check Station Totals On Par With Last Season In West-Central Montana

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

MISSOULA – After the first two weekends of big game season, Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks hunter check stations near Anaconda, Bonner and Darby in west-central Montana are collectively reporting elk and deer harvest totals and hunter numbers on par with this point in the 2024 season.

Overall, west-central Montana's three regularly held wildlife check stations saw 3,897 hunter stops collectively during the first two weekends of the season, compared to 4,008 during the same period last year. Those hunters checked 151 elk, compared to 154 last year. They also reported 51 mule deer, compared to 45 in 2024 and 123 white-tailed deer, compared to 134.

The weather was unseasonably mild during the start to the second weekend of the season, with no snow accumulations in the higher elevations. Valley temperatures were in the upper 60s in many parts of the region on Saturday, turning colder on Sunday.

FWP uses data from US Department of Agriculture Snotel Sites to track high elevation snow depth trends during hunting season. On opening weekend those sites each had three to four inches of snow, and by the close of the second weekend of the season, all sites reported the same or less snow.

“Total hunters and total harvest reported at the Bonner check station slowed slightly from opening weekend, which is typical after the opener and before the deer rut begins,” said Lee Tafelmeyer, FWP biologist in the Blackfoot Valley. “We talked to many hunters that reported seeing deer and elk in the woods and enjoyed their hunts over the weekend. We were busy checking animals, and we appreciate the help of all the University of Montana student volunteers that help collect wildlife data each weekend.”

The station near Darby reported the same trend of a slower second weekend as hunters wait for the deer rut, colder temperatures, and more snow to help bump harvest. The station also reported checking a few nice mule deer bucks out of Bitterroot Hunting District 270.

CWD sampling locations

Hunters can help with chronic wasting disease (CWD) management by submitting samples from harvested deer, elk, and moose for testing. In west-central Montana, the wildlife check stations near Bonner, Darby and Anaconda are all collecting CWD samples, as well as specific CWD sampling locations in Drummond (Friday 10am-2pm; Saturday, Sunday and Monday from 10a.m.-dark), and at the Missoula FWP office (Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5p.m.). For a complete list of stations and hours across the state, visit fwp.mt.gov/cwd. Hunter can also take samples themselves and mail them to the wildlife lab for testing.

Although CWD testing is voluntary, samples from hunter-harvested deer, elk and moose are critical to FWP's understanding of this fatal disease. Most big game hunting districts around west-central Montana are Priority Surveillance Areas for CWD, which are areas where FWP is making a concerted effort to gather more samples. All sampling is offered for free to hunters. Hunters play a key role in understanding CWD by providing data and in minimizing the spread by disposing of wildlife parts properly. Read more: fwp.mt.gov/cwd.

All hunters must stop at check stations

FWP reminds hunters they must stop at all wildlife check stations that they pass, even if they have not harvested any animals. Although wildlife check stations sample a relatively small portion of the overall effort and harvest, they capture important trends and biological information, and by stopping you are helping with wildlife management in Montana.

For more hunting season reminders and to track hunter success, stay tuned to the FWP weekly check station reports over the next four weeks. The general big game season runs through Sunday, Nov. 30.

Late Fall And Winter Can Be Productive For Stream Fishing

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

Dress for the weather and catch some trout and whitefish

People may see anglers wading streams during frigid weather and wonder “what are they doing?” The short answer is probably catching fish.

Late-fall and winter fishing are often overlooked on Idaho’s rivers and streams because many people don’t want to deal with the cold, but trout and whitefish remain fairly active. In fact, late-season fishing has some advantages because many streams are at their lowest levels and fish are concentrated. Many rivers are also nearly empty of anglers, so you get your pick of prime fishing spots.

Find the right river or stream

Spring-fed rivers and streams, and those fed by dam releases often fish well during winter months because temperatures tend to be slightly warmer and more stable.

Rainbow trout are a favorite winter quarry, and where you find them, you will often find whitefish. Whitefish school up in the fall and typically spawn in November, so where you catch one, you’re likely to find more. (Read more about catching whitefish at idfg.idaho.gov/press/anglers-dont-overlook-catching-whitefish-idahos-rivers-and-streams.) You will find trout and whitefish in similar places you find them other times of year, but in late season, they often favor deeper, slower water, although you can still catch them in riffles as well.

Also remember that while fish remain active during winter, they’re still cold-blooded, and they may be a little sluggish. They’re unlikely to aggressively chase food, but they will take it, or a good imitation of it, when it’s placed in front of them.

Tweak your techniques

Winter fishing doesn’t require any special tactics, just figure out where the fish are and what they’re likely to be feeding on. Drifting bait or fly fishing with nymphs are often your best tactics. If you see dimples on the water, it may be fish rising to feed on insects, which will likely be tiny midges or mayflies, and fish will rise to a well-presented dry fly.

Try different sections of the river and try to figure out where fish are holding and feeding. After you catch a fish, seek out similar water, but remember, fish may move around during the day. But where you find them one day during winter, they’re likely to remain nearby, so keep those places in mind when you return.

Fly anglers should not overlook streamers. They can look like a big, easy meal when presented slowly, but don’t expect trout to vigorously chase them like during summer. Even dead drifting a streamer can be effective.

Fish spook easily in low, clear water, so be stealthy. Walk softly, don’t immediately wade into the middle of a fishing hole, and wear drab colors. Repeatedly cast into likely looking water before moving on. You may be surprised that you can catch multiple fish in a fairly small area, so cast and drift (or slowly retrieve) your bait or fly numerous times before moving to the next spot.

To find places to fish, check Fish and Game’s Fishing Planner. While many of Idaho’s waters are open to fishing year round, some are limited to catch-and-release fishing during winter, so double check the regulations.

Here are late-season fishing tips:

- Sleep in: There’s rarely a need to be there at first light. You will usually have better fishing late morning to early afternoon when the water warms a few degrees.
- Stay close to home: Winter is a good time to explore your local trout fisheries, or rediscover them.
- Plan short trips: There’s no getting around the effects of cold weather, and eventually it will take its toll. Plan to fish for an hour or two and call it good. If you can last longer, consider it a bonus.
- Bring hand warmers: Your hands are most likely to get wet, and they can easily get chilled. A hand warmer will quickly rewarm them. An extra pair of gloves is also a good idea because one pair usually gets wet.
- Think about traction: Rocks are slippery when wet, and more slippery when icy. Wading boots with cleats are a good option. It’s also good to have a set of dry clothes in your vehicle in case you take an unexpected plunge.
- Keep your feet warm: Probably goes without saying, but you may be wading in water that’s barely above freezing, so wear thick socks or two pairs. If your feet get cold, you will be uncomfortable. You can also use chemically heated insoles in your boots or waders.
- See it as adventure: Things will look and feel different, but the trip will be rewarding if you appreciate those differences. Catching a few fish never hurts, either.

The Easiest (and Cheapest) Thanksgiving Sides You'll Ever Make

Thanksgiving has somehow earned a reputation as the culinary Olympics -- all pressure, no podium and plenty of sweating. Every year, home cooks everywhere find themselves elbow-deep in peeling, chopping and timing six different dishes to finish at exactly the same moment, as though Gordon Ramsay is about to burst through the door with a camera crew and a stopwatch. Let's release ourselves from that, shall we?

You don't have to spend a paycheck on side dishes. You don't have to spend three days prepping. And you absolutely don't need a sous-chef to pull off a beautiful, abundant Thanksgiving table.

What you do need is a handful of sides that are inexpensive, unfussy and wonderfully reliable -- the kind that come together quickly, don't require fancy ingredients, yet still make everyone at the table feel cared for.

This year, consider this your pre-holiday pep talk from me: Keep it simple, keep it affordable and let your sides work smarter, not harder.

We're leaning on some frozen vegetables that are budget friendly, with minimal prep and oven temps that play nicely together. In fact, all three roasted vegetable sides below cook at the same temperature and for the same amount of time.

If you're hosting a small gathering, you can roast 1 pound of each recipe (half) all together on one sheet pan, giving you three colorful, delicious sides for the time and effort of one.

HONEY GLAZED CARROTS

Yield: 6-8 servings

Total time: 35 minutes

- 2 pounds carrots
- 1/4 cup honey or brown sugar
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 2 tablespoons melted butter
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Affordable, colorful and ready in minutes -- Thanksgiving made simple.

Preheat oven to 425 F. Line a baking sheet with foil or parchment. Slice carrots on a diagonal into 1/2-inch pieces. In a mixing bowl, stir together honey, garlic, butter, oil and spices and toss the carrots to coat. Spread on a sheet pan; roast 20 minutes, tossing halfway. Serve warm.

To make Honey Glazed Cauliflower, substitute 2 pounds of frozen and thawed cauliflower for the carrots in the recipe (or fresh cauliflower cut into small florets and blanched).

ROASTED GARLIC GREEN BEANS

Yield: 6-8 servings

Total time: 25 minutes

- 2 pounds frozen green beans, thawed and well-drained
- 1/4 cup olive oil

- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- Salt and pepper, to taste

Heat oven to 425 F and line a sheet pan with parchment. In a large bowl, toss the green beans with olive oil, garlic, salt and pepper. Spread in a single layer and roast 15-20 minutes, until tender-crisp and lightly golden around the edges. Taste and adjust seasoning. Serve warm.

One more! Garlic Sauteed Spinach transforms bundles of fresh spinach into an easy, healthy, flavorful side dish in just 10 minutes.

GARLIC SAUTEED SPINACH

Yield: 4 servings

Total time: 10 minutes

- 1 (12 to 16 ounce) bag fresh spinach
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 3 garlic cloves, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Heat oil in a large skillet over medium-high. Add garlic and saute for 30 seconds -- don't let it brown. Add all the spinach at once. Toss with tongs to coat in garlic and oil. Cover for 1 minute to steam, stir, repeat until wilted, about 5 minutes. Season and serve immediately.

Thanksgiving isn't a performance; it's a gathering. Simplify where you can. Let these budget-friendly sides lighten your load. Go forth and feast. You've got this.

Pets of the Week: Onyx and Badger

— Companions Animal Center —

Onyx is a five-month-old male kitten who will need plenty of attention to get him comfortable in his new home. He is a little shy and would do best in an adult only home with a kitty companion to play with. His beautiful golden eyes will steal your heart.

Say hello to Badger, an eleven-year-old handsome tan and white Pitbull mix with a heart as big as his smile! This sweet boy is full of love and ready to find his forever home. Despite his age Badger is a smart cookie who already knows his basic commands and loves to show off his skills for a treat (or two! or three! or four!). What can we say, he is very motivated. He loves walks, playtime, and most of all, spending time with his people. Whether you're up for an outdoor adventure or just relaxing on the couch, Badger is always happy to be by your side.

Adoptions by appointment. Companions Animal Center is located at 10275 N Atlas Rd, Hayden, ID. We are open to the public Tuesday-Saturday noon-6pm, Sunday noon-4pm, and closed Mondays. Visit www.companionsanimalcenter.org or call 208-772-4019 for more information.

Pets of the Week: Ana and Daliyah

— Second Chance Pet Rescue —

Hi! My name is Ana and I'm a 3 year old spayed female GSD looking for a home. My ideal new owners would NOT have chickens. Ana is a member of the food of the month club with KFC and really loves the flavor. Next, while away from home my owners would keep me securely inside the house where I can lounge and watch TV. I'm great inside and not destructive. I'm passed that stage in my life. I am also a pro at using a dog door. If

I'm not left inside while you are away, I need hot wire along the bottom and top of a 6 foot chain link fence or along the bottom of a 6 foot wood or vinyl fence.....although I haven't ever dug out so you may be fine without it. Next, I am a GSD so I require lots of head rubs and love. I get along with other dogs and I just want to love someone forever. Can you be my forever? Maybe we could just go through the drive through at KFC!

Meet Daliyah, a brave and beautiful soul who's ready to adventure into her new life with you! At 11 months old (1 month in rescue) she has been through something in her short life that takes her a few days to trust new people. She is 64#s and a Lab mix, mostly Lab. At this time because of this, her ideal home will be possibly a retired person or couple. One where the kids are grown or a work at home situation. Something where her life won't be drastically changed all the time. She needs someone with some patience who will just let her be and let things be her idea. You have a friend for life. She loves other dogs and is very playful. She's a stick with you type of dog and not a wanderer. She would love to have someone to sit on the couch with and relax or follow you around the house. Let's set this girl up for success. You won't regret taking a chance on her. She's worth it!!!!

Please email Idahocoondog@yahoo.com or log on to www.scpr.petfinder.com for more info and an adoption application.

Community Calendar

Annual CdA Lighting Ceremony Parade, 5pm Friday, Nov. 28th, in downtown CdA. For the 33rd year, Coeur d'Alene Downtown Association presents the holiday parade on Sherman Avenue, beginning at 8th and Sherman, then traveling to the intersection of Gov't Way and Northwest Blvd. Marching bands, dancing, music, and festive floats lead the way to the lawn of The CdA Resort for carols and a countdown to an unforgettable fireworks display, compliments of Hagadone Corporation as 1.5 million lights sparkle in downtown CdA.

Holiday Concert, 2pm Sunday, Nov. 30th, at CdA Library, 702 E Front Ave. A local brass quintet, CdA Brass, will provide the joyful sounds of holiday classics, toe-tapping tunes, and singalongs for all ages. Light refreshments.

Free Christmas Choral Concert & Raffle, 2pm Tuesday, 7pm Friday, Dec. 2nd and Dec. 5th, at Trinity Lutheran Church, 812 N. Fifth St., CdA. Presented by The 3Cs Coeur d'Alers. Directed by Sheila Wayman, accompanied by Ruth Clark. Donations accepted to benefit 3Cs (cancer and community charities)

Steak Night for Veterans, 5pm-7pm Wed., Dec

3rd, at Wallace Elks Lodge #331, 419 Cedar Street. Veterans are invited to enjoy sizzling steaks, hearty sides and good company. All veterans eat free every 1st Wednesday of the month! Veterans also eat free on Burger Night every Friday. Also, Silver Valley Cares will be at a table with meal vouchers, resources, and support for those struggling with food supplies.

44th Annual Tree Lighting Ceremony, Thursday, Dec 4th, 4:30pm-7:30pm, at Hospice of North Idaho, 2290 W. Prairie Ave., CdA. There will be (2) ceremonies - 4:30pm and 6pm - providing a special time to reflect on love shared through words of comfort, calming music, and a meaningful luminary walk (optional) around the campus. Each family attending will receive a complimentary keepsake ornament to take home in honor of their loved one. Reserve one of the time slots for this free indoor/outdoor event at <https://hospiceofnorthidaho.org/>

Day Out for the Blind Free Social Club, dancing and live band every Friday, 10:30am-1:30pm, at 1502 E. Holyoke, Spokane, WA. Music, dancing, refreshments. Info., 509-484-8082.

Pets of the Week: Periwinkle and Tamarack

— Priest River Animal Rescue —

Periwinkle may be reserved at first, but her gentle spirit quickly shines as she feels safe. She'll nuzzle your hand, curl up beside you, and purr contentedly. Playtime reveals her adventurous side—batting feather toys and chasing jingling balls. She loves watching birds and squirrels from the window. Preferring a quiet home, Periwinkle is independent yet enjoys soft cuddles and head scratches. With patience, she blossoms into a devoted companion, offering warmth and calm. Her subtle sweetness and tranquil energy make her an ideal friend for those who appreciate a peaceful feline presence.

Thanks to Cheri's generous sponsorship, Tamarack's adoption fee is waived for an approved home. Tamarack is a spirited young dog full of energy and curiosity, always ready for adventure and play. He was abandoned in Stevens County but rescued by caring locals who helped him regain trust. Now at the rescue center, Tamarack is blossoming, showing his playful side and growing in confidence. He's ready for a loving home that offers kindness, consistency, and love. If you want a joyful, resilient companion with a heart open for a second chance, Tamarack may be your perfect match.

Pets of the Week: Phineas and Margarita

— Better Together Animal Alliance—

Meet Phineas! Phineas is a 3 year old friendly, social boy who gets along wonderfully with both children and adults. He tends to prefer women at first, but with patience and slow introductions, he can form a strong bond with men as well. He has experience around cats and puppies and absolutely loves them! Phineas is described as outgoing and playful - he enjoys exploring, has great leash manners, and loves playing in water. If you're looking for a great companion with a big heart (and even bigger fluff!), come by and meet Phineas - he just might be your perfect match!

Meet Margarita! Margarita is a 4 year-old boy who is very shy at first but once he opens up, he's very sweet and affectionate. He is a climber and explorer so he would do well as an outdoorsman or as an indoor/outdoor friend so he can still get his snuggle time in. We are unsure of how Margarita would do with dogs, but he has gotten along with other cats. If you need a hunter, companion, explorer, and all around sweet boy, stop by today to meet Margarita!

Disguise a Turkey!

Help the turkey hide so he doesn't become Thanksgiving dinner! Use whatever supplies you have—paint, paper, pompoms, pipe cleaners, or anything handy—to dress him up. You can disguise him as a person, another animal or anything you want, the only limit is your imagination! If you or your parent/guardian want to check on the Internet to see what other people have done, there are a whole bunch of really neat ideas out there.

The only rules are to be creative and have fun!

I'm not a turkey! I'm a _____

Send a picture of your disguised turkey to the Nickel's Worth by Friday, November 21st and we'll print as many as we can every week until Thanksgiving. You (and your parent/guardian) can text it to 208-667-0651 or email it to articles@nickelsworth.com. Please be sure to include the artist's name and age

National Cake Day

November 26th

— National Day Calendar —

On November 26th, National Cake Day delivers a scrumptious treat for everyone to enjoy! Slide over pie, this day cake takes center stage as the dessert of choice. On most birthdays, the cake is topped with candles no matter their age. Showers, weddings, retirements and anniversaries, cake serves up a slice or two. Add ice cream, and you have America's top favorite desserts in the same dish!

Whether it's a shapely bundt cake (celebrated on November 15) or the less curvaceous sheet cake, these sweet layered, frosting-covered, or fondant-decorated works of art scream celebration! Made from scratch, a box or picked up from the bakery, a cake sends a sweet message. They also come in many combinations and flavors, too.

No one can know how many. There are countless cake recipes. Some are even bread-like, others rich and elaborate, and many still are centuries old. Of Viking origin, the word cake is derived from Old Norse "kaka." At that time, a cake's texture was more like gingerbread due to the availability of refined ingredients.

Cakes typically contain a combination of flour, sugar, eggs, and butter or oil. Additionally, some variety of liquid, such as milk or water, creates a batter. A leavening agent such as yeast or baking powder helps the cake rise. Flavorful ingredients are often added, for example, chopped nuts, fresh, candied or dried fruit, fruit purees, or extracts. Though we commonly think of cake with frosting or icing, many cakes can be enjoyed with just fruit or other toppings.

How To Observe #NationalCakeDay

Grab the flour and cake pans. Get dusted up and warm the house with love. Decorate and frost them. And then, deliver it to a family gathering. You know you'll wow them with their favorite. Cream cheese frosting, buttercream or icing. What's your favorite? You can look up recipes for:

- Black Forest Cake
- Lemon Pudding Cake
- Pineapple Pudding Cake
- German Chocolate Cake

National Cake Day History

While our research did not uncover the source of this day, National Day Calendar® continues researching this food holiday's origins.

Cake FAQ

Q. Why does the cake recipe say to use room-temperature eggs?

A. Cold eggs bring down the temperature of the other ingredients in the cake. For example, if you add cold eggs to a butter and sugar mixture, the butter will firm up into clumps. The eggs and butter (or other ingredients) won't distribute evenly throughout the cake batter affecting the final texture. The cake may also take longer to bake if cold eggs are used.

Q. I forgot to set my eggs out. What's a quick way to warm them?

A. Place the eggs in a bowl of warm (not hot) water for 2-3 minutes.

Q. How do I know if my cake is done in the middle?

A. Nobody wants an underdone or overdone cake. There are several ways to test your cake for doneness.

Use a cake tester. This is a handy kitchen tool that looks like a long metal skewer. Insert the tester into the center of the cake and remove it. If it comes out clean, the cake is done. If there is better or undercooked crumbs, let the cake bake a little longer. You can also use a toothpick in the same way.

Test for springiness. A cake will spring back when gently pressed on the top. It will be soft, but not jiggly.

The edges begin to pull away from the sides and a light crust begins to form along the sides.

Find Fall Comfort in a Bowl of Pumpkin Crumble

— Cookin' Savvy via Family Features —

If you're ready to embrace the flavors of fall, look no further than a classic: pumpkin desserts. Instead of the typical pumpkin pie, mix things up this year with this Pumpkin Crumble treat from Cookin' Savvy, an easy, delicious solution for satisfying that sweet tooth. Once you've finished enjoying every last bite, head to Culinary.net for more comforting dessert inspiration.

Pumpkin Crumble

Recipe courtesy of "Cookin' Savvy"

Servings: 8-12

- 1 can pumpkin
- 1 can evaporated milk
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 tablespoon pumpkin spice
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 box cake mix (yellow, white or spice)
- 3/4 cup chopped pecans
- 3/4 cup chopped white chocolate chips
- 1 1/2 cups melted butter

Whipped Cream:

- 1 cup heavy whipping cream
  - 2 tablespoons sugar
1. Heat oven to 350 F.
  2. In bowl, mix pumpkin, evaporated milk, brown sugar, eggs, pumpkin spice and cinnamon. Pour into greased 9-by-11-inch baking dish.
  3. In separate bowl, mix cake mix, pecans and white chocolate chips. Sprinkle over pumpkin mixture. Pour butter evenly over top. Do not mix or stir. Bake 1 hour.
  4. To make whipped cream: Using hand mixer, whip heavy whipping cream and sugar until thick.
  5. Serve crumble with whipped cream.

Arithmetic

— Vivian Bogardus —

He's teaching her arithmetic,
Because that is his mission.
He kissed her once, he kissed her twice,
And said, "Now that's Addition."

And as he added, smack by smack,
In silent satisfaction,
She sweetly gave his kisses back,
And said, "Now that's Subtraction."

If he is even half a man, he is bound to Make her sigh,
And when she learns her Fractions well,
He'll teach her to Multiply.

But Dad appeared upon the scene,
And made a quick decision.
He pushed the boy out of the door,
And said, "Now that's Division!"

Psychedelic-Assisted Therapy Offers New Hope for Veterans

— Family Features —

For generations, America's veterans have borne not only the visible scars of battle but also the hidden wounds of war. Post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD), depression, traumatic brain injury and anxiety have long haunted those who served, often with devastating effects on their quality of life and their families. While traditional treatments have helped, many veterans continue to suffer in silence – left behind by a system struggling to meet their needs.

However, science is now reopening doors once closed, and therapies previously dismissed are being reconsidered with fresh eyes. Among them are psychedelic-assisted treatments, which have revealed potential in clinical trials to address the most severe mental health conditions afflicting veterans.

The FDA's Role

Currently, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has approved only one psychedelic-based medication: a ketamine nasal spray to treat depression. However, other compounds are gaining the attention of researchers, clinicians and veterans alike. Psilocybin – the active ingredient in "magic mushrooms" – and a drug similar to LSD have both earned FDA "breakthrough therapy" status for their potential to ease depression and anxiety, sometimes after only a single dose.

In 2017, MDMA-assisted therapy was identified as a potential breakthrough treatment option for PTSD; ultimately, the FDA declined to grant full approval. This setback underscored not a failure of science, but the complexity of studying powerful compounds under existing regulatory frameworks. For veterans, it was a disappointment, yet it also spotlighted the urgent need for continued research and funding.

Veterans and Research at the Forefront

One compound has captured national attention: ibogaine, a psychedelic root traditionally used in ceremonies in central and west Africa. Early studies with special-operations veterans have found improvements in PTSD, depression, anxiety and overall functioning – especially for those living with the effects of traumatic brain injury.

Recognizing this potential, DAV (Disabled American Veterans) is championing these new approaches. At its 2025 National Convention, the organization hosted a groundbreaking psychedelics roundtable that brought together researchers, veterans, advocates and even a former NFL player to discuss the potential of psychedelic-assisted therapies.

The century-old organization supports research into these treatments, pointing out that traditional therapies can fail for as many as 60% of those who try them. It's also advocating for the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) to make psychedelic treatments available once they receive FDA approval.

"We are experiencing a watershed moment in medical research as psychedelic-assisted therapies have revealed true potential in clinical trials to treat severe mental health conditions," said Barry Jesinoski, DAV's National Adjutant. "This glimmer offers veterans contending with not only PTSD but depression, traumatic brain injury, anxiety and more hope in a world where the status quo is failing them."

A New Mission

The promising results of these treatments spurred some states to commit funding toward research into psychedelic therapies or conduct legislative hearings to explore their role in advancing this science. The VA is now conducting studies on MDMA and psilocybin.

While more research is needed to fully understand their risks, benefits and best applications, for DAV, psychedelic medication represents both hope and responsibility. By advocating for rigorous research and ensuring veterans' perspectives are central to the conversation, the organization is working to accelerate progress while safeguarding integrity.

Whether through psilocybin, MDMA, ibogaine or future discoveries, the mission is clear: fund the research, pursue the science and ensure America's veterans are given every chance to heal. Learn more at dav.org.

F&G and Private Lands: Part 4

When the depredation bill comes due, how F&G pays for damages to private lands caused by big game

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

Roughly a third of Idaho's land is privately owned, and many of the state's big game herds spend at least a portion of their year on private land. That's why working with landowners is critical to maintaining abundant and healthy big game herds. Many landowners appreciate wildlife on their property, even if they cause some inconveniences or damage some crops.

Fish and Game is legally obligated to fix problems caused to private lands by big game, and when prevention and mitigation fails to resolve it, the department must pay for damages.

What the law says about payments for depredation

In 1990, the Idaho Legislature established a cooperative program among Idaho Fish and Game, landowners, and sportsmen to limit damage caused by wildlife. The legislation also called for landowners and Fish and Game to cooperate to prevent as much wildlife damage as possible.

When damages cannot be sufficiently reduced, or prevented, landowners can file a claim for compensation for five types of damages:

- Crops (plants grown or stored for profit) damaged by pronghorn, deer, elk, or moose
- Use of privately owned rangeland forage (plants grown for livestock feed) by pronghorn, deer, elk or moose
- Livestock (domestic cattle, sheep, and goats) destroyed by black bears, mountain lions, or delisted (from the Endangered Species Act) grizzly bears
- Berries, bees, beehives, and honey damaged or destroyed by black bears or delisted grizzly bears on private land
- Damaged to prepared seedbed ground and irrigation equipment

Landowners are compensated for the damages minus a $750 deductible, which is waived for landowners who file claims for similar damages in subsequent years at the same location.

If the landowner and Fish and Game cannot agree on the amount of damage, a three-member arbitration panel convenes to make the final decision.

Fish and Game pays half the amount of each claim within 45 days of approval, and the full or prorated balance is paid after the fiscal year ends on June 30 depending on available funding remaining. If there's not enough money to pay all claims, the remaining balance in the depredation account is distributed proportionally (i.e., prorated).

Fish and Game has seen an increase in depredation payments over the last decade, peaking in 2019 when nearly $2.4 million in claims were paid.

During the last 5 years, payments have varied between $1.3 million and $2 million, and in four of the last five years, claims exceeded the total money available, so each claimant was paid a prorated percentage of their claim. The increase in claims and prorated payments for wildlife damages has Fish and Game officials concerned because landowners may have less tolerance for wildlife if they're not being fully compensated for their depredation claims.

In 2023, the Idaho Legislature raised the cap on the depredation fund to provide more money to be used to pay claims.

Where the money come from

Depredation payments are funded by the "Access/ Depredation fee" that is added to the first fishing, hunting and trapping license each Idaho resident and nonresident buys each year.

Resident adults pay $5, nonresident adults pay $10, and people such as juniors and seniors who are eligible for discounted licenses also get a discount. This fee also provides money for additional sportsmen's access and depredation compensation and prevention.

Hunting is recognized as an effective tool to reduce depredation

Because hunting is often effective in reducing depredations, by law, landowners seeking a claim must have allowed reasonable public access for hunting during the preceding hunting season, or as a response to a current depredation, provided such access does not impact their operations.

Hunters must ask the landowner's permission before entering private property, and all aspects of the trespass law apply.

Fish and Game staff will continue to work with long-time landowners and new ones to find ways to reduce depredations, and they will continue to respond when depredations occur and try to stop them from recurring.

It helps for hunters and nonhunters to understand these challenges and recognize that the solutions, whether temporary or long-term, can happen behind the scenes and nonlethally in many cases, but some may be very visible and attract lots of public attention.

In either case, the important thing is the overall goal: maintaining healthy and abundant big game herds while minimizing the problems abundant big game may cause agriculture operations.

National Espresso Day
Nov 23rd
— National Day Calendar —

Get the pure coffee essence on National Espresso Day! Whether you sip one cup or keep buzzing all day long, November 23rd is the day.

The word espresso in Italian means ‘quick in time.’ Before the advent of the espresso machine, espresso was simply a coffee expressly made for the person ordering it. It was also made with recently roasted and freshly ground beans. The cup was brewed shortly before serving. In the late 1800s, this practice was commonplace in cafés and restaurants.

While today's espresso maintains the freshness quality, it has undergone a transition in meaning. We've come to know espresso as a highly concentrated brew served in smaller quantities. We may also use espresso as a base for other delicious coffee creations.

We can thank the espresso machine for this modern view of espresso. In 1901, Italian Luigi Bezzerza invented the first successful espresso machine. The newer technologies produced a smaller, more concentrated cup more quickly than traditional coffee brewing methods. Additionally, this thicker, more intense brew created a creamy foam on top called the crema. The richer flavors and aromas of an espresso create delicious lattes, mochas, cappuccinos, macchiatos, and many café creations.

Beyond the range of beverages, the intense flavor of espresso lends itself to baking. Where coffee may become lost when blended with other flavors, espresso remains vibrant. Blend it with cream cheese, sugar and flour for a cheesecake. Add it to ladyfingers and make tiramisu. Many desserts call for espressos such as ice cream and crème brûlée.

HOW TO OBSERVE #NationalEspressoDay

This holiday calls for the perfect cup. Whether you brew it at home or visit a local cafe, you know how you like it. Will you enjoy your espresso one of these ways?

- Order through the local drive-through and pay it forward (backward?) by also paying for the customer behind you in line.
- Pick up extra espressos for everyone in the office.
- Have espressos delivered to front-line workers at the hospital, fire station, police station, or ambulance bay near you.
- Send a gift card to your favorite teachers for National Espresso Day, letting them know just how much you appreciate them.
- Realize you've never tried baking with espresso and break out the mixer you got for your birthday.
- You're a traditionalist when it comes to espresso. You only drink espresso. You don't add flavors. It's espresso. Don't mess with the espresso.

Enjoy a cup of espresso and use #NationalEspressoDay to post on social media.

Espresso FAQ

- Q. How do you say “espresso”?
- A. The word “espresso” is pronounced like this: ess-press-oh.
- Q. Can I make espresso at home?
- A. Yes. There are a few ways to make espresso at home, including using an espresso machine. If you do not have an espresso machine, you can use a French press. There are a few things to keep in mind when making espresso with a French press:
1. Pre-warm your press with hot water.
  2. Coarsely grind your beans, about 2 tablespoons.
  3. Use hot, not boiling water to your coffee grounds. Heat the water to just below 212F.
  4. Add a small amount of hot water to the grounds to allow them to bloom before adding about a full cup of water. You will see a few bubbles.
  5. Allow the coffee to steep. Four minutes should be sufficient.
  6. Be a patient plunger. Press it down slowly with equal pressure.

2026 Montana Migratory Bird Stamp Contest Opens

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

HELENA – Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks is seeking submissions for the 2026 Montana Migratory Bird Stamp contest.

New this year, the contest is expanding to water-bird (shorebirds, waterfowl, or wetland dependent passerine) species in its natural habitat setting. The artwork should depict a Montana scene.

The 2026 Montana Migratory Bird Stamp contest will be open through Feb. 27. The Wetlands Protection Advisory Council will select the winning art in March.

Details on contest rules and entry information can be found here. The winning artist will receive a $2,000 cash prize and be featured on promotional materials throughout 2026. The prize is organized by Montana's Outdoor Legacy Foundation, which partners with FWP and Montana Audubon on promoting the Migratory Bird Stamp Program and funding wetland conservation.

The purpose of the Montana Migratory Bird Stamp program is to raise awareness of the importance of wetlands for wildlife and aquatic species, along with agriculture operations and communities. Wetlands provide critical ecosystem functions like flood control, groundwater recharge and water purification. FWP's Migratory Bird Wetland Program helps landowners and other conservation partners develop and fund projects that protect, conserve, enhance or create high-quality wetland habitat.

People who want to support wetland conservation, but do not hunt can still get the 2025 Montana Migratory Bird Stamp sticker sheet by visiting the Montana Audubon website at <https://mtaudubon.org/support/>. The money collected from the sale of these sticker sheets goes toward FWP's wetland conservation efforts.

The 2026 Montana Migratory Bird Stamp will not be required to hunt migratory birds in Montana. To hunt migratory birds, hunters will need a current Montana migratory bird license and their federal duck stamp, the same as in years past.

Those who purchase a Montana migratory bird license will receive a free collectable sticker sheet showing the winning artwork, information about the Migratory Bird Wetland Program and information about how to make additional contributions. Purchasing a Montana migratory bird license is a great way to support wetland habitat conservation. FWP will work with Montana's Outdoor Legacy Foundation and other partners to provide other ways to help support wetlands conservation. More information will be provided on donation opportunities in the coming months.

For more information on the contest, contact Greg Lemon at glemon@mt.gov. For more information on the Migratory Bird Wetland Program, go to <https://fwp.mt.gov/migratory-bird-stamp>.

Seat Thirteen

A little help goes a long way

— “Hank Carter” —

For the past two years, I've been running an unauthorized operation on my 6am school bus route. The district enforces a strict “zero tolerance” policy on food. They've got a rule for everything.

But they don't know about seat thirteen.

My name's Hank Carter. I'm 57 years old and have been driving Route 12 longer than I can remember—long enough to watch the auto plant close and the dollar stores take its place. I start my engine at 5:45am, when the cold cuts deep enough to feel personal. The radio's always full of political shouting and talk of budget cuts. All I pray for are green lights and kids who look both ways.

Seat thirteen is my trouble spot. It's right behind the emergency exit on the left side. Every bus has one seat that feels haunted. Thirteen is mine.

It started two winters ago. The town was bleak. A new boy got on one morning, hood pulled down so low I could only see his chin. He moved like a ghost, his backpack hanging off one shoulder. When he passed, I caught a whiff of it—that damp smell of clothes dried too slow in a cold house.

He sat in thirteen and just disappeared into himself.

At school, he waited until everyone else had gotten off. When he finally stood, he left behind two perfect, wet outlines where his shoes had leaked melted snow through the holes in their soles.

That night, I couldn't sleep.

The next morning, I showed up to the depot at 5am with a plain brown paper bag. Inside, I packed a chewy granola bar, a small juice box, two hand-warmers, and a pair of thick socks from the discount store. I set it on seat thirteen. On a scrap of paper, I wrote: “For whoever needs it. No questions asked.”

When the kids loaded up, I made sure not to check the mirror. I just drove. But when we reached the school, I saw it—the bag was empty, folded neatly, tucked under the seat.

The next day, I did it again. Then again. After a week, a note appeared, written in that shaky, hard-pressed handwriting kids have: “Thanks. The socks are warm.”

After that, thirteen became our secret.

It didn't go viral online. It spread the real way—quietly.

One Wednesday, the popular girl—the one who always looks like she walked out of a magazine—paused by the seat and slipped in a stick of lip balm.

A week later, the quiet boy from fourth grade, the one who never talks, added a fresh pack of colored pencils.

The night custodian, Sal—a veteran—caught me packing a bag one morning. He didn't say much. Just nodded. The next day, there was a bulk box of cereal on my driver's seat, already portioned into plastic baggies. “I remember being hungry,” he said.

In April, the school tried to hand me a “Community Contribution” plaque. I said thank you and left it in my locker. A piece of paper doesn't warm a kid's feet at dawn.

The real reward came in May.

One of the regulars, Jayden—spiky hair, teenage attitude—climbed aboard looking wrecked. Red eyes. He sat in Thirteen, staring at the bag. I saw his hand hover over it, then pull back like it burned.

At the last stop, he stood, grabbed the bag, and walked two rows up.

He tapped a new kid on the shoulder—a smaller boy with a thin jacket and a dirty cast.

“Here,” Jayden mumbled, not looking at him. “This is for you.”

My hands clenched the wheel until my knuckles went white. My eyes blurred. Sometimes, the bravest thing you'll ever see happens between two neighborhood stops on a Tuesday morning.

By summer, seat thirteen was overflowing—not with kids, but with offerings.

A music teacher left a packet of hot cocoa. A cleaning mom tucked in an unused bus pass.

One morning, I found a note written in elegant cursive: “My son used this seat last month. He's eating breakfast again. Thank you for seeing him.”

On the last day of school, the bus buzzed with that end-of-year freedom. Before they all poured out, I stood up.

“Listen up,” I said, my voice cracking. “That seat—number thirteen—it belongs to all of us. If you need what's in the bag, you take it. If you've got extra, you leave it. That's the rule.”

They nodded. They understood.

We start fresh every August. New faces, same route, same old bus. And the bag is always there. I add a note to it now:

“You matter.”

People on TV and the internet spend hours yelling about what's wrong with this country—how we're divided, broken, full of hate.

Maybe. But they're not on my bus at 6:15am.

They don't see a high school linebacker quietly drop a five-dollar bill in a paper bag.

They don't see a little girl share her fruit snacks.

They don't see a kid with nothing give something to a kid with less.

I can't fix gas prices or Washington arguments or the fact that some parents work two jobs and still can't afford breakfast.

But I can claim one two-by-two square of cracked vinyl—and make sure it's never empty.

You don't need a committee or a government grant to change a life.

You just need a place, a routine, and the heart to leave something behind for whoever comes next.

Seat thirteen belongs to all of us.

And as long as it stays full, so do we.

Smart Swaps and Budget-Friendly Ingredients for Heart-Healthy Meals

— Family Features —

Rising food costs can make healthy eating a challenge for many families. In fact, a poll conducted by Research!America found about 60% of Americans cite the cost of healthy food as their single biggest barrier to achieving better nutrition.

“Food is deeply rooted to family and community,” said Arlen Vanessa Marin, M.S., R.D., a national volunteer for the American Heart Association. “Recipes are passed down through generations, but as grocery prices rise, finding creative ways to stretch your budget while maintaining a nutritious diet is key. Simple swaps – like homemade vinaigrettes instead of sugary bottled dressings, frozen veggies instead of fresh or lentils instead of processed meat – can make a big difference without sacrificing flavor.”

Consider these simple tips from the experts at the American Heart Association, devoted to changing the future to a world of healthier lives for all, to help you enjoy your favorite meals while keeping both your heart and wallet happy.

Protein Without the Price Tag

If you’re looking to add more protein without overspending, try these affordable, nutrient-packed options:

- Beans and other legumes are protein-packed, high-fiber choices for heart-healthy meals. Add them to soups, stews or salads, or enjoy them as dips with whole-grain crackers or tortillas.

OLDER 25HP SHENNIU Hardy diesel 4x4 tractor with 3-point and PTO, runs good, $6600. 3500 watt generator, $350. Off-road 49"x73" trailer, $560. Stihl MS 171 16" chainsaw, $200. Craftsman 5500 portable generator, $660. Accepting credit cards, 208-762-5651

GRAVELY AXIS STAND-ON track loader with 36" bucket for $19,995. Coeur d'Alene Tractor, 1112 W. Appleway, Ave., 208-765-2315

NICKEL'S WORTH PRINTS 26,000 copies weekly. Did you know that over 60,000 people read the Nickel's Worth every week? And that does not include our weekly online readers who view our electronic edition. Do you have something to sell? What are you waiting for? Contact us today to place your ad. 208-667-0651, or go to: www.nickelsworth.com. These statistics provided by an independent audit conducted by the Circulation Verification Council

2007 HUMMER H1. HMMWVs 1097R1, 6.5L GM diesel, 4x4, TH400 automatic. We have two 4-door and one 2-door pickup, $9500 each. They have Washington titles. More pictures at www.GreatNorthernEquip.com. Calls only, 509-535-4427, Spokane

DR DRAGON PRODUCTS box scraper, $500. Coeur d'Alene Tractor, 1112 W. Appleway Ave., 208-765-2315

1978 CATERPILLAR D6C dozer 69J prefix. 3100 hours since total rebuild, straight blade with tilt, 3-shank ripper, 75% Cat SALT undercarriage, $35,000. www.GreatNorthernEquip.com. Calls only, 509-535-4427, Spokane

DID YOU KNOW THAT Nickel's Worth prints over 26,000 papers that are distributed weekly throughout North Idaho and Western Montana? You can also view the full print version online at www.nickelsworth.com

LOWEST PRICED TRAILER in Northwest. 10,400 GVW, 22' deck with 10 ply tires gross 14,000 GVW, free spare, regularly $7495, sale $5495. M&M Trailers, 39 years. Stevensville, MT. - Choose canned, no-salt-added varieties for a quick and healthy option.
- Tofu and tempeh are versatile, plant-based staples that are rich in protein. Add silken tofu to miso soup, stir-fry firm tofu with garlic for a heart-smart meal or add tempeh to noodle dishes and curries.
  - Ground turkey or chicken are leaner, often more affordable alternatives to ground beef. For a budget-friendly twist, try them in dishes like turkey picadillo or homemade tacos.

Better Grains for Your Heart

White rice is a staple in many diets, but it can spike blood sugar. When refrigerated and reheated, it can increase resistant starch while also raising the risk of harmful bacteria. Consider these ways to keep it heart-smart:

- Brown rice is a fiber-rich alternative to white rice that pairs well with almost any dish.
- Quinoa is another protein-rich grain that works in soups, salads and side dishes.
- Barley is used in many Asian soups as a whole-grain swap.

Canned, Dried and Frozen Alternatives

Healthy eating doesn't mean you have to buy everything fresh, especially when fresh food isn't readily available. Canned, dried and frozen foods can be just as nutritious and help eliminate costly food waste from spoilage as they stay edible longer. Check nutrition labels for low-sodium, no-salt-added and no-sugar-added options.

- Frozen fruits and vegetables are picked at peak ripeness and frozen to lock in nutrients. Use them in stir-fries, soups, smoothies or as quick side dishes.
- Canned tuna is packed with omega-3s, wallet-friendly and easy to mix with salads, sandwiches or in brown rice bowls.
