Open Space (Pilot) Program

A proposal for an affordable practical insurance policy for aquifer protection and water quality while lending to carbon, climate, and CO2 issues.

What is open space?
Different things to different people. A field, a farm, a forest, a ranch, a park. Lends itself to eco systems and wildlife. A place to produce food and fiber. Airshed, viewshed, and watershed.

What is the value?
Priceless and irreplaceable. Like lake front property, they aren't making it anymore. Top of the list should be to protect the aquifer. It is without a doubt the key to everything we value. At some point, a million people will depend on it for residential, commercial, industrial, recreation and the future. This program, while adding incentives for open space, would not completely lock up lands. Rather, it would give landowners the ability to opt in or opt out as dynamics required.

What lands and open space would qualify?
Example: 40 acres over or adjacent to the aquifer. Larger parcels with connectivity should have a higher value than smaller parcels. Sensitive parcels such as aquifer recharge zones, or lands that contribute to should also have a higher value. These working lands could be entered in 5 or 10 year intervals with the ability to opt in or opt out as needed with incentives to carry on.

Family owned farms or ranches would most likely use these funds for capital improvements. Land speculators or investors may not reinvest in their soil.

Who could score and rate these lands?
Kootenai Shoshone Soil & Water Conservation District (this district could also implement this plan, ie: boat check stations). Aquifer Protection District, Farm Service Administration — USDA (NRCS), Kootenai Shoshone Farm Bureau, Kootenai Shoshone Cattle Association. These boards and agencies would provide a built in check and balance, as they are either appointed or elected officials and non partisan.

How to raise funding to help preserve these lands?
Wait for donations and volunteers? How is that going so far? Grants? Bill Gates? Expand existing aquifer protection fee to include open space protection and retention. Based on a 100,000 taxable parcels in Kootenai County. Rental units? We need to look to Spokane County to contribute to this program. Industries could possibly purchase aquifer credits to facilitate funding. Conservation easements aren't doing the job alone.

Why work with agriculture and forestry?
We are the only industries that offer hope, and the ability to protect land, air, water, carbon, and climate. Airshed, viewshed, watershed. For the most part we are not causing problems and require very few services but yet subsidize growth. In a sense, these fees would pay for services already rendered.

In closing, we already have the right people doing the right thing, agriculture and forestry. A voluntary sign up program that land owners could partake in (per acre/per year) to help supplement ever increasing operating costs and the persistent drought patterns we are dealing with. This would be beneficial and offer some relief for the price of a Starbucks' coffee.

This is less of a tax and more an insurance policy for the future. Open space lends itself to positive mental health.

A successful politician once said, "it's the economy stupid." The aquifer is the economy!!!!

Questions or comments?? Reach out to Laurin Scarcello, North Idaho landowner and serving member on several local boards.
Phone: (208) 661-6090

Eyes Wide Open

Why can't we rely on parks alone?

- It takes money (carbon) to buy lands for parks. Parks must be engineered, designed, and built. Parks lock up lands. Parks must be maintained, mowed, sprayed.
- Parks require fencing, lighting.
- Parks requires security, police, etc.
- Parks facilitate development.
- What realtor would not want a listing in walking distance to the Kootenai County Aquifer Park? What is the cost per acre to maintain?
- Parks are merely a notion of open space. In short, a carbon factory.
- We can't park our way out of this, we need an open space program.

Why can't we rely on 5-acre parcels alone?

- Promote sprawl.
- Adds lane miles of roads to local highway districts.
- More road salt and chemicals, etc.
- Intersections require streetlights, hence light pollution.
- Utilities must be extended.
- More School bus miles.
- More garbage truck miles.
- Hydrocarbons from traffic.
- No meaningful production of agriculture or forestry.
- Lack of connectivity for wildlife and ecosystems.

What is the overall carbon footprint?

- The "build out" of the prairie is not the answer.
- We can not allow the airport and land applications sites for effluent to be the only open space on the Rathdrum Prairie.

Hunting And Fishing License Year Begins March 1

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

The new license year opens March 1, which means that is the day you can buy your 2023 hunting and fishing licenses and begin applying for permits and special licenses. The deadline to apply for deer and elk permits is April 1.

Applications for most species – deer, elk, antelope, deer B licenses, elk B licenses, antelope B licenses, moose, sheep, goat, bison, bear, turkey – can be made beginning March 1.

Hunters and anglers can also take advantage of the MyFWP mobile app, if they haven't already. The app holds and displays licenses, permits and E-Tags, which can be downloaded and used in the field without cell service. Hunters and anglers will need a MyFWP account to use the app, which is a secure and convenient digital profile that stores licenses, permits and related information.

To create a new account, visit the MyFWP login page at myfwp.mt.gov/fwpExtPortal/login/login.jsp.

Users need to make sure to link their ALS number to the MyFWP account to ensure their hunting and fishing licenses are attached to their MyFWP account.

A MyFWP account is not used to apply or make purchases. Purchases and applications are done through the online licensing system.

Hunters and anglers can buy licenses and apply for permits on the FWP website at fwp.mt.gov/buyandapply beginning at 5 a.m. on March 1; click on "Buy and Apply." Most FWP offices will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The licensing call center will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. from March 1 through March 31; after April 1, the hours will return to 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The call center can be reached at 406-444-2950.

Remember, if you're applying for a special license or permit, you will need to have a valid email address.

Application deadlines

- Feb. 15: Smith River Permit
- March 23: Upper Missouri River Paddlefish harvest tag (white tag)
- April 1: Deer and elk permits, and non-resident big game combinations
- May 1: Moose, sheep, goat, bison
- June 1: Deer B, elk B, antelope

Researchers Confirm Walleye Caught In 2022 Was Not Born In Lake Cascade

PART 1 OF 2

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

Fish was illegally transplanted roughly 2 years before it was caught

A research team concluded the walleye caught in Lake Cascade in May 2022 was not born in the reservoir and was illegally put there roughly 2 years before it was caught. Biologists compared the walleye's chemical signatures with three perch that lived their entire lives in Lake Cascade to characterize the chemical signature of the lake. When they analyzed the walleye's otolith (ear bone), they found it matched the chemical signature in Lake Cascade, but only for the past two years.

The walleye was second reported caught out of Lake Cascade in four years.

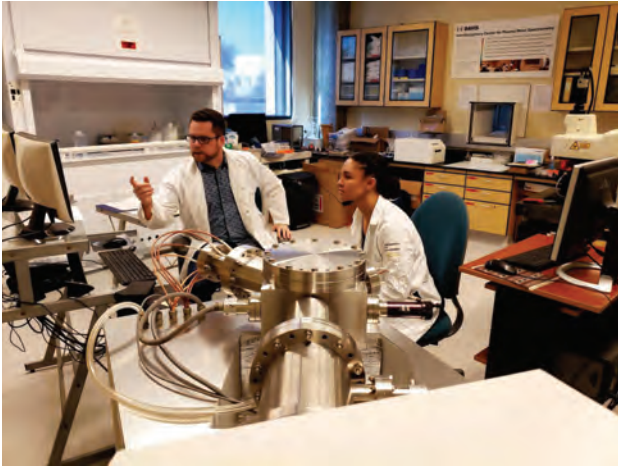

Mike Thomas, Regional Fisheries Biologist in McCall, and his team need to know how many other walleye may be out there, and if they're reproducing, which could change the Lake Cascade's famous perch fishery and likely end the era of its famed "jumbo" perch that have made the reservoir a national destination for anglers.

Biologists are trying to learn where the walleye came from, and how long they've been in Lake Cascade. And they partnered with a team of research scientist to help get answers.

Thomas was fishing with friends in May 2022 when a friend caught the walleye. Luckily, Thomas was able to bring that fish back to the Fish and Game office in McCall to collect some samples and start searching for answers to some of their questions. The big question the team immediately focused on was whether or not this fish was born in Lake Cascade. To answer that question, the team took the otoliths (inner ear bones) from the walleye and sent them to a research team from NOAA Fisheries, UC Santa Cruz, and UC Davis Center for Watershed Sciences in California who specialize in using information recorded in otoliths to answer many types of questions in fisheries.

Otolith microchemistry analysis

When fish grow throughout their life, their otoliths grow too (just like our bones). Many anglers are aware that biologists can count the rings in an otolith to determine the age of a fish – just like with rings on a tree trunk. Perhaps less commonly known is that, as the otolith is growing, the chemical signature of the water in which they are growing gets incorporated into the bone.

The research team at the UC Davis determining the origin of the walleye captured in Lake Cascade in 2022.

One of the specialties of this collaborative research team is otolith microchemistry analysis. This is a technique used in fisheries management in which a laser and mass spectrometer is used to read the chemical signatures in sequential layers of a fish otolith.

Scientists can determine several things from the differences in chemical signatures between waterbodies, including fish movement, habitat use, and natal origin. So, when the research team reads the chemical signature on an otolith, they can determine at what points in time a fish moves between waterbodies with significantly different chemical signatures.

"We are excited to use the tools we have developed to track fish movements to help our Fish and Game partners solve the walleye mystery" said Malte Willmes a researcher with UC Santa Cruz who has used this approach to understand human and fish migrations.

"We have never used otolith microchemistry in a forensics case, but it is clear that it is a powerful tool" added Rachel Johnson with NOAA Fisheries and UC Davis and lead of the research team.

"We were all holding our breaths when the data was coming off the instrument to see if there was evidence that this walleye was reproducing in the lake" said George Whitman at UC Davis and senior analyst for the team.

WHO CARES ANYWAY? People go to church just to be lied to. People going to Sunday worshipping church are never going to hear the truth. It is a social club that gathers on Sunday. How do I know? Because they don't study the King James Bible. If they had, they would know there is no such thing as Sunday worship services according to the Bible, or any of the other lies they keep hearing. They are willingly ignorant of God's requirements to live forever in paradise. The 'true church' is not a meeting place or building, but people who study the King James Bible to learn freedom and peace of mind. It is always amazing to me that people go to church just to have some preacher tell them what to believe, instead of searching out the truth for themselves. Absolutely no one can have eternal life without careful Bible study. Tim, 208-217-8942, text

PART 2 OF 2

Continued

Prior to 2020, there was a very different chemical signature in the walleye otoliths, which indicates this walleye – which was four years old when it was caught in 2022 – was illegally transplanted into Lake Cascade as a two-year old in 2020.

“Mystery solved!” said Carson Jefferes with UC Davis Center for Watershed Sciences. “I haven’t seen such definitive isotope data. I was relieved to learn that there wasn’t a self-sustaining population in Lake Cascade.”

Finding the answers to remaining questions

Whether the walleye originated in Cascade is not the only question biologists have been working to answer since this fish was caught. McCall fisheries staff have been monitoring for walleye – both through targeted efforts immediately after the fish was caught, and opportunistically in their extensive surveys of the lake this year – and have yet to turn up another walleye. There have been no additional reports of anglers catching walleye at Lake Cascade, either. While this information doesn’t allow biologists to determine how many other walleye are in Lake Cascade, it does suggest that abundance of walleye is very low.

Idaho Fish and Game, in coordination with the University of Idaho, have been conducting surveys on Lake Cascade in 2022 and have yet to document more walleye in the lake.

“At this point, we have seen nothing to indicate that walleye have successfully established themselves in Lake Cascade, which is good news,” said Jordan Messner, McCall Regional Fisheries Manager.

One question that remains is where this walleye came from. Fish and Game staff are continuing to partner with the research team, as well as the Laboratory for Integrative Fish Ecology at the University of Idaho to help answer that question. The collaborative team is planning to develop a ‘library’ of chemical signatures from known walleye waters in the state. Once that library is built, Fish and Game will have the ability to determine the source of some of these illegal introductions. That could help inform enforcement efforts geared at finding a culprit – or at least help to put a stop to illegal transplanting of walleye at the source.

Illegal fish introductions are occurring, and it has potential to greatly impact public resources

Illegal walleye introductions are a sore subject for fish managers across the west. Yes, walleye are some of the best-eating freshwater fish in existence, and they are a favorite sportfish of many anglers. However, walleye are voracious predators and the ecosystems in their native ranges are far more productive with a diverse and plentiful forage base. Western waters are sterile in comparison and the lack of forage fish and minnows mean that walleye will likely be eating sportfish in western waters.

There are countless examples across Utah, Wyoming, and Washington, of prized sport fisheries being impacted or decimated by illegal walleye introductions. Illegal introductions generally result in precious management resources being spent to assess, contain, or eliminate illegally introduced fish populations. This ends up robbing law abiding sportsmen and women of their license dollars being used to develop or improve sport fisheries.

Citizens Against Poaching (CAP) offers a cash reward for information regarding illegal introduction of walleye into public waters. Call the CAP hotline anytime at 1-800-632-5999 if you have information regarding this activity. Callers may remain anonymous.

If Fish and Game ever considered stocking walleye outside of the few areas they exist in the state, there would be an extensive review process that would include public engagement to determine whether the introduction should occur. Fish and Game managers want to make sure all factors have been considered before introducing a new fish species into a waterbody so the risk of unintended consequences is minimized. Then Fish and Game then begins a public scoping process to determine if anglers support the introduction of this new fish species.

In the example of walleye in Lake Cascade: if walleye were established, it’s very unlikely that Cascade would continue being a consistent producer of record jumbo perch. The public scoping process would help determine if anglers are willing to give up one of the best yellow perch fisheries in the world, in order to establish walleye there.

Jumbo Perch, Lake Cascade

There's a better (and legal) way to get involved in fisheries management

If anglers are interested in establishing new fishing opportunities in their region, there are ways to do it responsibly. Contact your regional fisheries manager and pitch your ideas. Get involved in fishing groups and show up at public meetings. Fisheries managers are always looking for opportunities to make fishing better and would love to hear your ideas.

KOVELS® Antiques & Collecting

By Terry and Kim Kovel

Silver-Plated Pitchers

Silver-plated pitchers were made by Reed & Barton, a company founded in Taunton, Massachusetts, in 1822. The pitchers look like the double-faced stoneware pitchers made by the Martin Brothers in England between 1875 and 1915. Similar pitchers were also made by Royal Doulton.

Sunny Jim is the name of these two silver-plated pitchers. The two sold together at New Orleans Auction Galleries for $4,750 in 2019 and could be worth even more now.

The silver examples are known as "Sunny Jim." The ones pictured are about 6 1/4 inches high, and each holds about 56 ounces (7 cups) of liquid. Many figural pitchers, steins and mugs had names that were used in advertising brochures. The silver pitchers were pictured in magazine ads in the 1920s and '30s. They were discontinued in the 1950s, but may have been made until the 1980s.

Three slightly different versions were made with different rims. These are probably the first two types of the pitchers. The third variant, which was probably at the end of the production, has a handle with a higher curve that was attached to the rim only at the outermost area of the scroll.

Q: I inherited a lot of piano sheet music when my mother passed away, much of it from the World War II era. Titles include "Bell Bottom Trousers," "March of the Free," "Wings of Victory" and "I Am an American." Is anyone interested in collecting these?

A: Some old sheet music is collectible, but most sell online and in flea markets, antiques shops and house sales for a few dollars. Subject, cover art, rarity and condition help determine the price. Some collectors look for music on a particular subject, but many collectors buy sheet music for the cover art. Covers with artistic illustrations or pictures of historical events, old cars or trains, or political events increase the value. Someone who is interested in patriotic music from the World War II era might be interested in your music. It's hard to sell the music yourself unless you're used to selling online. You might try a consignment shop in your area.

Veterinarian Wait Times Keep Getting Longer

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I've been waiting more than three months to get my dog "Maisie" in for a regular checkup and shots. The veterinarian's office says they are running behind and had to delay her appointment. Talking to a friend across the country this week, I learned that they are waiting months to get their pets to the vet as well. Is this a national trend? -- Cheryl K.

DEAR CHERYL: Unfortunately, it is, especially in major metropolitan areas. The wait for a vet appointment was already lengthening before 2020. After months of waiting, pet owners are all trying to get caught up on checkups and vaccinations. Many more people adopted pets during the lockdown in 2020 to keep them company. And many pandemic restrictions, such as building occupancy limits, are still in place.

Add to this a chronic shortage of veterinarians -- an industry that sees some 2,000 vets leaving every year, citing a poor work-life balance. That's twice the rate of physicians quitting their profession, says the American Veterinary Medical Association.

And the lower availability of vet appointments can be seasonal. For large animal vet practices (which deal with livestock, horses, cattle, etc.), spring is their busiest season with calving and foaling taking place. The warm weather reminds pet owners to take their companion pets to the vet as well.

Until the wave of catch-up appointments subsides, just be patient. Keep the appointment that is already set with the veterinarian and schedule Maisie's checkup for next year, if possible.

High Doses of Vitamins Lead to Vitamin Toxicity

DEAR DR. ROACH: I have been diagnosed with vitamin D toxicity, according to the blood work from a month ago – my result was 122 ng/mL. I was taking high doses of vitamin D3 in pill form (15,000 IU a day for three years) bought from a drugstore. I have stopped taking it, but I need to know how long it will take to have a normal amount in my body. (Weeks, months?) Can you shed any light on this question? I would like to take it again when my level comes down, but in a lower amount. Also, by any chance, would the high amount of D3 in my system have any correlation to a diagnosis of stenosis of the aortic valve? – C.I.

ANSWER: Vitamin D toxicity is not common. I have seen one case in my career requiring hospitalization, due to a very high elevation of the blood calcium level. Vitamin D increases absorption of calcium from food through the intestines.

In addition, calcium can come out of bones in people with very high levels of vitamin D. With high vitamin D levels, calcium levels can also become dangerously high. Common symptoms of very high calcium levels include constipation, nausea and vomiting, muscle weakness, kidney stones, and neurological symptoms, including poor concentration and fatigue. These symptoms tend to happen at levels higher than yours, above 150 ng/mL. Years of high calcium levels can absolutely cause existing heart valve disease to worsen quickly.

In cases of acute intoxication from vitamin D, available treatments include steroids and pamidronate (an injectable medicine similar to alendronate and other drugs used to treat osteoporosis), which can quickly bring the calcium levels back down to normal.

Without this kind of intervention, a vitamin D level will still come down on its own, only more gradually. Vitamin D3 is removed slowly from the body, because it can go into fat tissue. It takes about two months for half the excess to be removed from the body, but because the active forms are removed more quickly, toxicity from excess vitamin D3 usually only lasts for weeks, not months. Still, you are likely not to need any vitamin D for many months, and if you do take it again, do not exceed the safe dose of 5,000 IU a day. I recommend you also get your blood levels tested. Recent studies have questioned the benefit of supplemental vitamin D for most people, although some people, such as those with osteoporosis and low vitamin D levels, probably still benefit.

I'm very glad you wrote. Many people still don't know that excess of some vitamins can occasionally be dangerous. Vitamin A is the other vitamin where high levels can be very dangerous.

I am a 67-year-old female who has been unable to tolerate both liquid and pill forms of colonoscopy preparations. Therefore, my gastroenterologist has been unable to complete a colonoscopy on me. What are my other options? – F.K.

ANSWER: I would consider an alternate form of colon cancer screening. Home stool tests look for blood and DNA for colon cancer, or both. The data on Cologuard (a commonly available brand) show that it isn't quite as good as a colonoscopy, but much better than not receiving a screening. However, if the result is positive, you will certainly need additional testing, which calls for preparation, possibly requiring you to get the preparation done under supervision.

Healthy Little Muffins Pack Big Nutrition

Are you familiar with Aussie Bites? I first learned about them at Costco, where a sample made me a fan in one bite. These delectable little mini muffins pack big nutrition in a small package.

The main ingredient is whole grain rolled oats, and they're filled with superfoods like chia seeds, flaxseed, dried fruits, sunflower seeds, coconut, quinoa, honey and more. These nutritious bites are a great source of plant-based protein, fiber, healthy fatty acids and minerals. They contain omega-3 fatty acids, which boost the immune system and help improve brain function. Pretty cool, right?

It's not often you find a snack that's both delicious and nutritious. There's only one thing I don't like about them, and that's the price. Depending on where you buy them, these tiny treats can be up to a dollar each. Yikes!

So, I decided to make them myself, and so can you. Making them yourself not only saves money, but it also means having complete control of the ingredients you choose to put in them. This copycat recipe of Costco Aussie Bites is gluten-free, and free of eggs and peanuts, which are common allergens. They can easily be made vegan and/or dairy-free.

For maximum savings, I recommend utilizing the bulk foods section of your grocery store to purchase small amounts of some more expensive ingredients. This is where I buy ground flaxseed, chia seeds, dried fruits, quinoa and honey. Also, this is a very forgiving recipe for using substitutions. No quinoa? No problem. Swap in what you have like nuts, more dried fruit, even add an egg if you like.

But first! Why are these called Aussie Bites? They're not even from Australia! They're made in California. Turns out they're an Americanization of the Anzac Biscuit recipe. This cookie was popular in World War I care packages that wives and mothers sent to soldiers of the Australia and New Zealand Army Corps (ANZAC), since they could be made without eggs, and they kept well on the long overseas voyage to Europe. Now you know.

HOMEMADE AUSSIE BITES

Yield: 24 pieces

Total Time: 22 minutes

1 3/4 cups rolled oats, divided
 1/4 cup granulated sugar
 1/4 cup dried apricots, roughly chopped
 1/4 cup raisins
 1/4 cup ground flaxseed
 1/4 cup sunflower seeds
 1/4 cup unsweetened shredded coconut

1/4 cup quinoa, cooked or uncooked
 2 tablespoons chia seeds
 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
 1/4 cup honey or pure maple syrup
 1/4 cup butter or coconut oil, melted
 1/4 cup canola oil or other vegetable oil
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
 1/2 teaspoon kosher salt, optional

Preheat the oven to 350 F. Lightly grease a 24-count mini muffin pan.

Place 1 cup of the rolled oats in a food processor and process for about 1 minute, until the oats are ground into oat flour. Add the remaining 3/4 cup rolled oats, sugar, apricots, raisins, flaxseed, sunflower seeds, coconut, quinoa, chia seeds and baking soda to the food processor. Pulse until the apricots and raisins are in small pieces.

Add the honey, melted butter, canola oil and vanilla extract. Pulse until just combined. The batter will be like a stiff oatmeal cookie batter.

Using rounded tablespoons, divide the batter among the prepared muffin cups. Bake in the preheated oven for 10-12 minutes, until golden brown. Cool in the pan on a wire cooling rack. When completely cooled, remove the muffins from the pan and store in an airtight container for four to five days or freeze for up to six months.

You'll love having Aussie Bites as a quick breakfast or snack any time of the day.

Italian-Herb Roasted Chicken

Our master roasted-chicken recipe combines dried Mediterranean herbs and garlic.

- 1 whole (3 1/2-pound) chicken
- 1 tablespoon olive oil or butter, softened
- 1/2 teaspoon dried basil
- 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano
- 1/2 teaspoon dried rosemary
- 1 clove garlic, crushed with press
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
- 1/2 cup water

1. Preheat oven to 450 F. Remove bag with giblets and neck from chicken cavity; discard or reserve for another use.

2. In cup, mix olive oil, herbs and garlic. With fingertips, gently separate skin from meat on chicken breast. Rub herb mixture on meat under skin. Tie legs together with string. Rub chicken all over with 3/4 teaspoon salt and 1 1/4 teaspoons coarsely ground black pepper.

3. Place chicken, breast side up, on rack in small roasting pan (13 by 9 inches). Pour 1/4 cup water into roasting pan. Roast chicken 1 hour or until juices run clear when thickest part of thigh is pierced with tip of knife and temperature on meat thermometer inserted into thickest part of thigh reaches 175 F.

4. When chicken is done, lift from roasting pan and tilt slightly to allow juices inside cavity to run into pan. Place chicken on platter. Let stand 10 minutes to allow juices to set for easier carving.

5. Remove rack from roasting pan. Skim and discard fat from pan juices. Add remaining 1/4 cup water to pan juices; cook 1 minute on medium, stirring constantly. Serve chicken with pan juices. Makes 4 main-dish servings.

North Idaho's Priest River: A River In Need

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

Warm summertime water temperatures are the plight of fish in the Priest River

Not all rivers are created equal. Some, like the St. Joe River in North Idaho, boast good habitat and reliably cold water, resulting in robust coldwater fish populations, such as westslope cutthroat and bull trout. However, others, like the Priest River, are not so fortunate.

For decades, Priest River has suffered from warm water temperatures during the summer months. Coldwater fish and warm water don't mix well, and that reality came to a head in July 2021 with an unprecedented fish kill.

"My wife and I have lived and recreated on the Priest River for almost 42-years," said Jon Quinn-Hurst, a local on the river. "The fish kill of July 2021 was devastating. It was heartbreaking to see hundreds of dead fish littering the shoreline."

Rob Ryan, Regional Fisheries Biologist for Idaho Fish and Game, said the fish kill was not a surprise relative to the Priest River.

"Trout are coldwater fish, and the Priest River is too warm," Ryan said. "Temperatures in the 50–60 degree Fahrenheit range are great for trout. When temperatures exceed 70 degrees, trout start to get stressed and potentially die because of warm water temperatures, especially when the warm temperatures are prolonged."

Temperatures in excess of 70 degrees for extended periods of time occur annually in Priest River, typically during July and August.

Priest River is fed by water from the surface of Priest Lake, which warms during the summer, so it has likely always been warmer than other regional rivers. However, operations of Outlet Dam at the south end of Priest Lake along with warming trends in climate have likely exacerbated the issue. Thankfully, opportunity to improve temperature, habitat and the fish community the river supports may exist.

The local community along with many organizations are becoming more aware of the plight of Priest River, and they are beginning to organize.

"The fish kill has been a catalyst of some really great things over the past year," said Quinn-Hurst. "People are becoming more aware of the health of the river and are exploring options to help Priest River and the fish that call it home."

Priest River Watershed Group and other resources

Fish and Game, the Kalispel Tribe of Indians, Trout Unlimited and many other organizations and local residents desire to restore and enhance the Priest River and its fisheries to ensure it can be enjoyed by future generations in perpetuity.

Trout Unlimited is organizing a Priest River Watershed Group, which will host its first public meeting on Dec. 7 from 5:30-7 p.m. at the Priest River Event Center at 5399 U.S. Route 2 in the town of Priest River. The meeting is the first of many, and it is open to anyone interested in improving the fishery in the Priest River.

If you'd like to learn more about the Priest River, visit the new Fish and Game Priest River Fisheries webpage. ## DONNA ERICKSON'S BEST BITES

Bring Leftovers Together in a Meatloaf Mash-Up

Nothing says comfort, security and home like an old-fashioned meal of meatloaf and mashed potatoes. Try this tasty supper with your family, or better yet, invite another family over to enjoy this generous-sized recipe of Outside-Inside Meatloaf.

We call it the all-in-one vegetable/potato/meatloaf because, when you slice the main dish, the kids discover that everything is hidden inside – everything, that is, except the salad and bread, which your guests could bring to complete this fabulous "let's get together" meal.

It's also the perfect solution for using Thanksgiving meal leftovers. Extra portions of mashed potatoes, peas and corn are the perfect ingredients to complete this recipe. Even the day-old dinner rolls are useful. They're all part of the mix.

OUTSIDE-INSIDE MEATLOAF MASH-UP Serves 8

- 2 pounds lean ground beef
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 2 cups fresh or packaged breadcrumbs
- 2 tablespoons tomato paste
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
- 3 cups prepared mashed potatoes
- 1 cup cooked peas or corn

1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese

Ketchup or mustard for drizzling on top

Preheat oven to 350 degrees Fahrenheit. In a large bowl, with very clean hands, let your child thoroughly mix together the meat, eggs, breadcrumbs, tomato paste, Worcestershire sauce and seasonings.

Place mix on a large sheet of parchment or wax paper and form a 9-inch-by-12-inch rectangle. Use a rolling pin to make it even and smooth.

Spread the potatoes over the meat with a spatula, leaving a 1-inch border all around. Top with vegetables and cheese.

With adult assistance, your child can roll up the large meatloaf lengthwise, lifting up the paper to get it started. Remove paper and place the meatloaf seam-side down on a foil-lined baking pan. Pat it together firmly, pinch ends closed and drizzle ketchup or mustard on top.

Bake uncovered for 1 to 1-1/4 hours, or until completely done. Remove from oven and let rest for 10 minutes before transferring to a large serving platter for slicing.

HOW WE MAKE THE PERFECT PELLET...

RESULTING IN...

Here's the Scoop on Creamy, Dreamy Homemade Ice Cream

It's fun to be a little decadent now and then, right? So, how does cold, velvety vanilla ice cream sound? How about indulgent chocolate ice cream? Perhaps sweet peach ice cream with raspberry swirl, or creamy espresso with chocolate pieces that melt in your mouth? Sound good?

Well, you're in luck, because this ice cream is easily made at home, with very few ingredients, and without an ice cream maker. And this base recipe has six delicious variations.

If you're limiting your sugar and fat intake, you may wish to avert your eyes. This treat is not meant to be consumed every day, but boy can it make any day a special occasion. When you combine sweetened condensed milk with whipped cream, something magical happens.

We're starting with a base of vanilla ice cream into which you'll incorporate additional ingredients as desired to create the variations below.

The measurements are flexible. Use this as a place to begin, adjusting the recipe until it speaks or sings to your taste buds.

EASY ICE CREAM

Yield: 8 (4 ounce) servings

Prep Time: 5 minutes

Freeze Time: 6 hours

2 cups heavy whipping cream
1 (14 ounce) can sweetened condensed milk

2 teaspoons vanilla
1/4 teaspoon table salt

In a blender, whip the cream to a soft peak stage then scrape the sides of the blender jar and continue to blend until stiff peaks form.

Using a spatula, gradually fold in the sweetened condensed milk, adding the vanilla and salt, and gently combine.

Give it one more whirl in the blender (it'll be rather stiff at this point), scraping the sides as needed.

Pour the mixture into a loaf pan (8 1/2 by 4 1/2) or a cake pan (8 by 8 inch) and freeze for 6 hours or overnight. To store, freeze, covered, up to one week. Voila!

www.JasonCoblentz.com

How does cold, velvety ice cream sound?

If you don't have a blender, you can use a stand mixer or hand mixer. I find using a blender whips less air into the mixture, resulting in creamier ice cream.

Using this as a beautiful blank canvas, the variations are limited only by your imagination. Some ingredients are better added when you're blending the cream and sweetened condensed milk mixture. Others you'll add when the ice cream is partially frozen, after 2-3 hours in the freezer, for even distribution.

VARIATIONS:

Milk Chocolate — Decrease vanilla

to 1 teaspoon and add 6 ounces melted milk chocolate chips to the room temperature cream mixture.

Espresso — When blending the base, add 2-3 tablespoons espresso powder, depending on how strong you want your coffee flavor. When partially frozen, stir in 1/2 cup mini chocolate chips.

S'mores — To semi-frozen ice cream, mix in 1/2 cup milk chocolate chips, 1/2 cup mini marshmallows, 1/2 cup graham cracker pieces.

Key Lime Pie — Omit the vanilla and add 1/2 cup frozen limeade concentrate with the condensed milk. When semi-frozen, stir in 1/2 cup broken graham cracker pieces.

Peanut Butter Cup — Add 1/2 cup creamy peanut butter to the cream mixture and add 1/2 cup roughly chopped peanut butter cup candies before freezing.

Peach Melba — Using one (15.25 ounce) can of peaches, drain and reserve the juice for another purpose. Puree about 1 cup of the peaches to blend with the cream mixture. Chop the remaining peaches to add when semi-frozen. When you add the chopped peaches, top the ice cream with 1/2 cup raspberry jam (or fresh raspberries!) and use a knife to swirl the jam into the iced cream.

You needn't wait for a special occasion to make this, because the best time for ice cream is always. Plus, ice cream is way cheaper than therapy.

DONNA ERICKSON'S BEST BITES

Baked Fresh Peaches With Coconut Topping Delight the Family

This easy-to-prepare baked peach dessert with coconut topping is a keeper. Baking the halves brings out their fruity flavor, sweetness and juiciness, even if they don't feel ripe to the touch at your supermarket.

School-aged kids can handle most of the steps on their own, while an adult takes care of the main meal. It's a healthy, no-fuss dessert for the whole family and any friends who just happen to pop by at dessert time.

BAKED PEACHES WITH COCONUT TOPPING

Makes 6 dessert servings

- 13 fresh, ripe peaches (preferably freestone variety)
- 6 teaspoons butter
- 3 teaspoons granulated sugar
- 10-12 tablespoons shredded sweetened coconut
- Whipped cream or vanilla ice cream
- Mint sprigs and raspberries for garnish

Heat oven to 400° F. Wash and dry the peaches. Cut each one in half lengthwise. Use a knife to gently remove the pit. Carefully scrape out the cavities on each half without damaging the peach.

Let your child place the halves on a greased or parchment-lined baking dish with the cavity side up. Set a teaspoon, or so, of butter and 1/2 teaspoon of sugar in each cavity. Fill and top with about 2 tablespoons of coconut.

An adult should place the baking dish in the oven. Bake for about 15 minutes, or until the peaches are soft (not mushy) when pierced with a fork and the coconut turns brown and crispy.

Serve each half warm or at room temperature on a dessert plate with fresh whipped cream or a scoop of your favorite vanilla ice cream. Top with a sprig of mint and a few raspberries.

Cook's note: You may substitute nectarines for the peaches. If fruit is plentiful, serve two halves per person.

Lucite

It's essential for designers to stay on the cutting edge of fashion, which often means finding innovative uses for new materials. Lucite, a clear acrylic resin made by DuPont, was available for commercial use by 1937. By the 1960s, it was used in furniture. Designers often added accents made of smooth, reflective materials like chrome or brass or upholstered their pieces with bright, colorful fabric.

Another way to decorate Lucite pieces involved enclosing decorations, such as flowers, in the resin. The clear, shiny material made designs -- and the rooms they furnished -- look lighter. Some Lucite pieces were made in unusual shapes and styles. Others were more conventional, like this mid-century steamer trunk, which sold at New Orleans Auction Galleries for $531. This may have an advantage over typical wooden or leather trunks: The clear material means you don't have to open it to see what's inside!

Q What is the difference between cut glass and pressed glass? Which is more valuable?

A Cut glass is an ancient technique that was revived in Europe in the 1500s. Cut and engraved designs added luster to the glass and helped hide flaws like bubbles. Mold-blown glass used easier and cheaper techniques to imitate cut glass. The mechanical glass press was invented in the 1820s, making production even simpler and less expensive. To tell the difference between cut glass and pressed glass, remember the three Ls: look, lift and listen. Cut glass designs have sharp edges, so they sparkle more than pressed glass, which has rounded edges. When you pick up a cut glass item, it will feel heavier than a similar piece of pressed glass. Tap your finger against a piece of cut glass and it will ring with more clarity than pressed glass. Cut glass is usually more expensive than pressed glass, but current prices vary from under $20 to thousands of dollars. Cut glass with a signature or famous manufacturer like Baccarat or Waterford tends to sell for higher prices. Embellishments such as silver mounts or colored glass can further increase the price.

The appeal of this Lucite trunk is crystal clear. It sold for $531 at New Orleans Auction Galleries.

Antiques & Collecting

Canning Jar

Bottle collecting has been an important pastime since the end of the 19th century, when the first bottle seekers dug up examples in old privy pits, the town dump or a rocky seacoast area. Most sought after were historic flasks made in New England glassworks.

As flasks got more expensive, collectors searched for other bottles — bitters, inks, mineral water, pickle, snuff, whiskey, wine, food storage and canning jars, and commercial perfume bottles. The first machine-made bottles were made in 1905. By 1920, most bottles were being made by automatic machines, including modern product bottles like those for Coca-Cola and Avon. Each of these specialties attracted not only collectors but also researchers, writers and clubs.

This very light-blue canning jar with a lid is easy to identify even though it is rare. Like most, it has a name in raised glass that is formed in the mold. It says “Gilberds Improved Jar” around a five-point star. On the bottom are the words “Patd Jan 30, 1883 / Jamestown, N.Y.” It probably was made by the Findley Ohio Bottle Co. (1888-1893) for the Gilbert’s Butter Tub Co. of Jamestown, New York. It sold at a Glass Works auction for $188.

This type of jar was used over and over by a housewife making pickles or canned vegetables or fruit. Almost all food was homemade, cooked in season, and stored for the winter.

Q: Do you know of a school that teaches about antiques, etc.? I’ve collected and loved older items since I was 14, when I got my first computer. Since then, I’ve researched and talked to many people trying to learn about antiques. Is there a place that can help me learn where to find information about identifying real items, signatures, marks, etc.?

A: Check schools and colleges near you to see if they offer adult education courses on antiques. Go to antiques shows so you can learn to recognize important makers. Talk to the dealers. They are often very helpful. Keep asking questions. You’ll find lots of helpful information on identifying antiques, makers’ marks, factory history and prices on our website, Kovels.com. There is also a forum on our site where readers can post questions and get answers from other readers.

The lid of this jar has an iron clamp closure, which added to its value because it too was identified in the glass as patented by Gilbert. It sold for $188.
