Nonresident Hunters Can Sign Up Between Now And June 30 For Alternate's List

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

HELENA – Beginning now and running through June 30th, nonresident hunters can register their name to the Alternate's List on MyFWP at <https://myfwp.mt.gov/fwpExtPortal/login/login.jsp>. Every year, Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks gets several unused nonresident combination licenses (big game, general elk and general deer combination licenses) returned by customers. FWP resells these returned licenses through the Alternate's List.

The Alternate's List is an option for nonresident hunters to express their interest in purchasing one of these returned licenses by registering their name to this listing. A hunter can register to purchase their choice of only one nonresident combination license per year (big game, general elk, or general deer combination licenses). The list is randomized in mid-July. The hunter in the uppermost randomized position on the list will be contacted by email in August to finalize the purchase of the license, and so on until the returned NR combo licenses are eventually exhausted.

Payment for the license fee is not required to sign up for the Alternate's List. If your randomized position falls at the top of the listing, you will be contacted by email with instructions on how to complete the purchase of the license. Being on this list or obtaining a license from this list has no effect on your existing preference points.

MyFWP also allows you to check where your position lands on this Alternate's List after the randomization process occurs in mid-July. Please be sure to check back after then.

The odds of getting a license from these lists vary greatly from year to year. Refunds and issuance may occur at any time after mid-July, but availability of these licenses increase between early fall and the opening of general hunting season in late October.

Eliminating energy consuming processes of industries and consumers that add carbon dioxide to the atmosphere is a goal shared by many. But, I feel the building of approximately 500,000 up to 600 foot tall electric power generating windmills across the United States to mitigate additions of carbon dioxide to the atmosphere is a solution to be avoided if at all possible as I feel they are unsightly eyesores.

If electric power consumers cut their need for power generated by electric power utilities enough, these utilities, having no market for their electric power would have to eliminate, by dismantlement, I would hope 100% of their windmills.

In this regard, locally, in the eastern Washington area humanitarian non-profit environmentalist concerns might re-purpose large mothballed or abandoned industrial sites (especially in Spokane County) for installation of solar electric power collectors that absorb sunlight for electric power. People living in the vicinity of a particular facility of this nature could bring their own rechargeable batteries to have them charged. They could (subject to local building codes and municipal ordinances) bring these charged batteries to their homes and apartments to power electric lighting and small appliances.

Grill-Friendly German Potato-Salad Packet

Grill spuds with bacon pieces, then toss with a cider-vinegar dressing.

- 2½ pounds (medium) red potatoes, cut into 1-inch chunks
- 2 slices uncooked bacon, chopped
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoons coarsely ground black pepper
- 2 green onions, chopped
- 3 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 2 teaspoons sugar

1. In large bowl, toss potatoes with bacon, salt and pepper until potatoes are evenly coated.

2. Using 18-inch-wide heavy-duty foil, layer two 20-by-18-inch sheets to make a double thickness. Spray with nonstick cooking spray. Place potato mixture on center of stacked foil. Bring long sides of foil up and over potato mixture and fold over several times to seal well. Fold ends to seal in juices, making sure not to fold in too far in order to leave room for heat circulation inside.

3. Place packet on grill over medium heat and cook 30 minutes or until potatoes are fork-tender, turning packet over once halfway through grilling.

4. Remove packet from grill and carefully open; add green onions, vinegar and sugar to potato mixture, tossing gently to combine. Makes 8 (3/4 cup) servings.

• Each serving: About 140 calories, 3g total fat (1g saturated), 4mg cholesterol, 180mg sodium, 25g carbohydrate, 2g dietary fiber, 4g protein.

Idaho's History Of Brave Heroes

— Nolan Foster —

Memorial Day weekend generally means a fun day hanging out with friends and family at a BBQ or time on the lake. It also marks the beginning of summer to a lot of people (me included), but to others it means a lot more than that. The very first observance of Memorial Day was May 30th, 1868, then called Decoration Day, by commander in chief John A. Logan of the Grand Army of the Republic to honor the union troops who died fighting in the civil war. Fast forward to 1971, when Congress standardized the day of remembrance as Memorial Day weekend. It is a day to remember the fallen troops of past and present for the price paid for our freedoms.

Idaho has a rich history of warriors who fought bravely for their family, God, and country but what most people might not know is amongst Idaho's ranks of warriors is a good sized list of Medal of Honor recipients, which is the highest military award for going beyond the call of duty.

One of Idaho's medal of honor heroes is 1st Lt. Frank S. Reasoner, who was born in Spokane, Washington on September 16, 1937 and when he was ten his family moved to Kellogg, Idaho. After graduating high school in 1955, he enlisted in the US Marines. Frank graduated from Westpoint in June of 1962, he was appointed a marine second lieutenant and was assigned to the Third Reconnaissance Battalion company B in April of 1965. Reasoner was just given command of company A as a platoon leader when he opted to go with a small patrol in Dai Loc where his patrol was ambushed by what was later estimated to be 75 to 100 Viet Cong troops.

During the firefight, Reasoner repeatedly exposed himself to enemy fire giving his men encouragement and guidance when one of his radio operators lance corporal James Shockley was hit Reasoner ignored enemy fire to get to Shockley's side telling him he was going to get out of there, but unfortunately the VC saw Shockley try to move to a ditch and unleashed machine gun fire which hit Shockley a second time. Reasoner then tried to get Shockley to safety when machine gun fire tore through Shockley's stomach killing him. Reasoner died alongside Shockley where reinforcements retrieved their bodies.

Navy Secretary Paul H. Nitze presented the medal of honor posthumously to Reasoner's widow and son. Navy Secretary Nitze said "His complete disregard for his own welfare will serve as an inspiring example to others". Survived by his wife Sally and son Mike, Frank Reasoner died July 12th, 1965. He is buried in Kellogg Idaho. Let's spend this Memorial Day in remembrance of warriors like Reasoner who paid the ultimate price for freedom.

Author Nolan Foster lives in North Idaho and is grateful to our military men and women.

Forestry Shortcourse Offered In Sandpoint Wednesday Mornings June-July, 2023

— University of Idaho Extension —

Many Idaho forest landowners desire a better understanding of how forests grow and how they can better manage their forest property to meet their goals. Furthermore, forest landowners are often required to demonstrate planned, active forest management to qualify for lower forestry property tax rates and cost-share assistance for management activities such as thinning.

This summer, a 6-session program, titled the Forestry Shortcourse, will help enrich forest landowners' understanding of forest ecology, silviculture, forest health, wildlife habitat, and other forestry topics. In the process, participants are coached by natural resource professionals on how to develop a management plan for their forest.

The Forestry Shortcourse will be held Wednesday mornings, 9am to 12pm, June 14th, 21st, 28th and July 5th, 12th, 19th, 2023, at the University of Idaho Sandpoint Organic Agriculture Center, 10881 N. Boyer Road, in Sandpoint. A $38 registration fee includes a large binder of forest stewardship resource materials, including a wooden USB flash drive with over 120 extension publications. To ensure an effective learning environment, the program is limited to 25 people. Those wishing to participate should pre-register by Wednesday, June 9th at the University of Idaho Extension office in Bonner County. Phone: 208-263-8511.

The program is eligible for 7 Idaho pesticide recertification credits. For $120, teachers can also sign up for two University of Idaho credits for the program.

If you have questions on the program, contact Chris Schnepf at 208-292-1288. The Forestry Shortcourse is an Idaho Forest Stewardship program, co-sponsored by University of Idaho Extension, the Idaho Department of Lands, and many other agencies and organizations.

Get National Egg Day off to a Delicious Start With Budget-Friendly Shakshuka

Did you know that National Egg Day is coming up on June 3? I hope you're ready to celebrate and start your day with a delicious and nutritious meal, because I've got a recipe for you that's sure to impress: Shakshuka!

But first, let's talk about egg prices.
Yes, it's true, the cost of eggs has doubled since this time last year, but there's hope on the horizon. Eggs are expected to drop a total of about 30% by the end of the year, according to the USDA. The price isn't back to where it was, but at least it's going in the right direction.

But fear not, dear readers,
because even with these prices,
eggs are still a nutritional bargain.
Not only are they an affordable source of protein, but they're also packed with nutrients like vitamin D, choline and omega-3 fatty acids.

And what better way to enjoy these little nutritional powerhouses than in a classic dish like Shakshuka? For those who are new to this dish, Shakshuka is a Middle Eastern breakfast dish made with eggs poached in a flavorful tomato sauce. It's a delicious, easy-to-make one-pan wonder. And it's versatile enough to accommodate a range of dietary needs.

The history of Shakshuka is a bit murky, with some claiming it originated in Tunisia, while others say it was invented in Israel or North Africa.
Regardless of its origins, Shakshuka has become a beloved dish around the world, and for good reason. It's a comforting, warming dish that's perfect for breakfast, brunch, lunch or dinner.

So, without further ado, here's the recipe for Shakshuka:

SKILLET SHAKSHUKA

Yield: 4 servings
Total Time: 30 minutes

1 tablespoon olive oil
1 medium onion, diced
2 bell peppers (any color), seeded and chopped
1 (4 ounce) can mild green chilis
3 cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon paprika
1 tablespoon cumin
1 (28 ounce) can diced tomatoes
8 eggs
1/2 cup feta cheese, crumbled or sliced
Parsley or cilantro, chopped
Salt and pepper

www.JasonCoblentz.com

Shake up your morning with delicious Shakshuka.

4 thick slices of crusty bread

Note: Don't use a cast iron or aluminum skillet, as the highly acidic tomato sauce may cause a reaction with the metal. It won't hurt you, but the Shakshuka will taste metallic and may harm the seasoning of your cast iron pan.

In your skillet, warm the oil over medium heat. Once hot, add the onion and let that cook for a few minutes to soften. Add the bell peppers and green chilis, cooking for 5 minutes, stirring as needed.

Add the garlic, paprika and cumin and cook until fragrant, about 30 seconds. Add the tomatoes and their juices. Reduce heat and let this simmer for at least 10 minutes to allow the flavor to marry. At this time, if you choose, you can place the skillet on very low heat and let it simmer until you're ready to cook the eggs.

Using the back of a spoon, make wells in the tomato mixture. Crack the eggs into the sauce, spacing them evenly apart. Cover and allow the eggs to cook until the whites are set and the yolk is cooked to your desired consistency, about 5-7 minutes. Taste and adjust seasonings.

Serve immediately, sprinkled with feta cheese, chopped parsley and lots of crusty bread.

Diva Tip: Use a vegetable peeler to thinly slice the feta cheese so it melts beautifully over everything.

And there you have it, folks.
Celebrate the humble egg with Shakshuka. It's a delicious and affordable meal that's perfect any time of day. Bon appetit!

People who get COVID-19 vaccine less likely to die from any cause

DEAR DR. ROACH: In a recent column, you referred to a U.K. source that stated "all-cause mortality is very significantly reduced in people who have had the COVID-19 vaccine, compared to unvaccinated people." I wasn't sure what you meant by all-cause? Does this mean any and all deaths, with or without COVID-19, for any reason, have been very significantly reduced just by getting the COVID-19 shot? Or does it mean that any and all deaths associated with COVID-19 have been reduced in those who have been vaccinated? If it is the first, then fewer people should be dying, people should be living longer, and we should not see a decrease in life expectancy (except for the addition of those dying from COVID-19, which brings the age down). Anyway, if the first is true, then I will definitely continue getting the COVID-19 shot just to live longer, with or without getting COVID-19! – C.P.

ANSWER: The U.K. study looked at all-cause mortality, which means anyone who dies from any reason. The study found that getting the COVID-19 vaccine reduced the likelihood of dying from COVID-19 and non-COVID-19 causes.

One potential problem studies face is assigning cause of death. If a person with a very serious cancer who is expected to pass away within a few months gets COVID-19 and dies, did the cancer kill them, or did COVID-19? If you have to choose just one cause, the answer could be misleading. That's why the results of the U.K. study (and a Florida study that showed similar results) were so important. People who get the COVID-19 vaccine are less likely to die from any cause.

In the last few years in the U.S., the longstanding trend of improved mortality has reversed, and death rates are going up, partially due to COVID-19.

DEAR DR. ROACH: My husband has been diagnosed with cardiac amyloidosis. The doctor has started him on Vyndamax, a very expensive drug. Without this drug, he is lucky to live, at the most, two years. Is this drug a miracle, and does it guarantee that he will live many more years? – T.W.

ANSWER: There are several types of cardiac amyloidosis – a disease in which abnormal proteins are deposited in many tissues, including the heart, where the protein interferes with heart function and leads to heart failure. Tafadamis (also known by its brand name, Vyndamax) is used in transthyretin amyloid cardiomyopathy (ATTR, of which there are two types that both get treated with tafadamis).

Subjects in the trial on tafadamis were followed for two-and-a-half years. Half of the group were given tafadamis, while the other half were given a placebo, which looked like the real drug but had no activity. Of those who got the inactive placebo, 43% died in the two-and-a-half-year time span of the study, but of those who received tafadamis, 30% died. Thirteen percent, or about one in eight people, who received tafadamis lived, when they were expected to die. In addition, there were fewer hospitalizations and less loss of ability to exercise in those taking tafadamis, compared with the placebo. There were no serious side effects that were more frequent in the tafadamis group.

Tafadamis definitely affords a big improvement in the outcome of people with ATTR-CA. However, I would not call the drug a "miracle," nor is there a guarantee of living many more years. To me, a miracle is when someone recovers when no doctor expected them to. I have seen a few in my career, and they are very powerful. I have seen many treatments that have incremental improvements in outcomes, and over time, that has led to dramatic improvements in many diseases.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

1. Name the ice cream flavor Baskin-Robbins created in celebration of the Beatles coming to America for the first time.
2. Which artist wrote and released "Duke of Earl"?
3. What's the name of the street the Beatles are crossing on their 1969 album cover?
4. Name the first rock group to ever play Carnegie Hall.
5. Name the song that contains these lyrics: "It's late September and I really should be back at school, I know I keep you amused but I feel I'm being used."

Answers

1. Beatle Nut. A reporter called Robbins and asked if a new flavor was being created. Nothing was planned and Robbins had to think fast. He said yes, and five days later the walnut, pistachio and chocolate ribbon ice cream was being delivered.
2. Gene Chandler (born Eugene Drake Dixon), in 1962. The song was inducted into the Grammy Hall of Fame in 2002.
3. Abbey Road, near Grove End Road, in North West London.
4. Chicago, in April 1971.
5. "Maggie May," by Rod Stewart, in 1971. The song tells the story of a college boy with an older woman for a lover. The song was released as the B side to "Reason to Believe."

FWP Takes Closer Look At Licensing Mistake, Makes Allowances For Three License Types

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

HELENA – After a closer review of the licenses that were mistakenly over-drawn last week, Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks is going to allow the drawing to stand for one bighorn sheep license type and two moose license types.

For sheep license 482-20 the quota was supposed to be 15, but FWP mistakenly allocated 20 licenses to hunters. For moose licenses 270-50 and 341-50 the quota was two, but FWP mistakenly allocated three. In these three circumstances, the number of licenses drawn are within the quotas set by the Fish and Wildlife Commission and moving forward with the extra licenses will have no biological impact.

“With these three instances, the extra licenses will have no impact on the population,” said Ken McDonald, chief of the Wildlife Division at FWP. “In the remaining circumstances where licenses were over-drawn, awarding additional licenses could detrimentally affect populations.”

Background

As announced by FWP Tuesday, May 17, during the moose, sheep, goat and bison drawings, the wrong quotas were entered into the system for four sheep licenses and three moose licenses. In these four remaining circumstances, FWP will determine who was mistakenly awarded licenses beyond the appropriate quota, and those hunters will not receive a license. These licenses are:

- 482-30: drew 40 applicants, but the quota was five (sheep).
- 622-30: drew 20 applicants, but the quota was 10 (sheep).
- 680-31: drew 40 applicants, but the quota was 30 (sheep).
- 332-00: drew eight applicants, but the quota was six (moose).

Building Your Dream Home Anytime, Anywhere

5 tips to create a comfortable forever home
— Family Features —

For most homebuyers, their dream homes are not something they're likely to find already on the market. With a unique vision of your dream home's look, location and features, building a custom home is generally the easiest way to make that dream a reality.

To keep things moving as smoothly as possible amid what can be a complicated process, consider these tips as you embark on the journey.

Set a Realistic Budget

You'll need to start by determining how much you can spend on your house. Typically, the cost of building a home is around $100-$200 per square foot, according to research from HomeAdvisor. You'll also need to account for the lot price as well as design fees, taxes, permits, materials and labor. Materials and labor should make up about 75% of the total amount spent, but it's wise to build in a buffer for price changes and overages. While building your budget, consider what items and features are "must-haves" and things that should only be included if your budget allows.

Identify the Perfect Location

Think about where you'd like to live and research comparable lots and properties in those areas, which can give you a better idea of costs. Because the features of many dream homes require a wider footprint, you may need to build outside of city limits, which can make natural gas more difficult to access. Consider propane instead, which can do everything natural gas can and go where natural gas cannot or where it is cost prohibitive to run a natural gas line. Propane also reduces dependence on the electrical grid, and a propane standby generator can safeguard your family if there is a power outage.

"As a real estate agent and builder, I have the pleasure of helping families select their dream homes," said Matt Blashaw, residential contractor, licensed real estate agent and host of HGTV's "Build it Forward." "The homes we design and build are frequently in propane country, or off the natural gas grid. Propane makes it possible to build an affordable and comfortable, high-performing indoor living spaces and dynamic outdoor entertaining areas."

Keep Universal Design Principles in Mind

Many homebuyers want to ensure their space is accessible to family members and guests both now and for decades to come. As the housing market slows and mortgage rates rise, buyers may look to incorporate features that allow them to age in place. Incorporating principles of universal design - the ability of a space to be understood, accessed and used by people regardless of their age or ability - can make it possible to still enjoy your home even if mobility, vision or other challenges arise as you age.

For example, the entryway could have a ramp or sloped concrete walkway leading to a front door wide enough to accommodate a wheelchair with a barrier-free threshold. Inside, wider hallways and doorways, strategic lighting and appliances installed at lower heights are mainstays of universal design. Counters of varying heights, drop-down cabinet racks and roll-under sinks in kitchens and zero-entry showers, slip-resistant flooring and grab bars in bathrooms offer enhanced accessibility.

Consider Alternative Energy Sources

With today's electric grid, more than two-thirds of the energy is wasted; it never reaches homes. Unlike electricity, propane is stored in a large tank either above or below ground on the property. A 500-gallon tank can hold enough propane to meet the annual energy needs of an average single-family home - enough to power major systems in a home.

Propane pairs well with other energy sources, including grid electricity and on-site solar, which makes it a viable option for dual-energy homes. Like natural gas, propane can power major appliances such as your furnace, water heater, clothes dryer, fireplace, range and standby generator. Often, propane works more efficiently with fewer greenhouse gas emissions than electricity, meaning your home is cleaner for the environment.

Propane can even power a whole-home standby generator, which is often a big selling point. When a homeowner purchases a standby generator, a licensed electrician installs the unit outside the home and wires it to the home's circuit breaker. When a power outage occurs, the generator automatically senses the disruption of service and starts the generator's engine, which then delivers power to the home. From the warm, comfortable heat of a propane furnace to the peace of mind offered by a propane standby generator, many homeowners trust propane to provide a safe, efficient, whole-home energy solution.

Build a Team of Experts

Hiring the right people can make the process of turning your dream into reality go much smoother. Start by researching reputable builders, paying special attention to the types of homes they build to find a style that matches what you're looking for as well as price ranges for past homes they've built. Consider how long the builders have been in business and if they're licensed and insured.

Depending on your builder's capabilities, you may also need to hire an architect or designer. In addition to your real estate agent to assist with purchasing the lot and selling your previous home, you may need assistance from other professionals, such as a real estate attorney, landscape architect and propane supplier. A local propane supplier can work with the builder to install a properly sized propane storage tank either above or below ground and connect appliances.

Antiques & Collecting

By Terry and Kim Kovel

Lederman Art

In the 1980s, a friend's mother decided to redecorate with unfamiliar modern-style furniture. She bought a small wooden table that was painted red and designed by Jeff Lederman, an Ohio artist. The table had won a prize for design in an Illinois state contest.

Lederman was a busy artist who changed interests and occupations many times. He designed logos for companies in the 1970s and furniture in the 1980s. For a while, he put his art aside for a new career saving wildlife. He painted pictures again from 2014 to 2018 and started making digital art in 2020.

Q I am a realtor and am fortunate enough to go into older homes with many architectural elements still intact. I've become fascinated by the elaborate antique doorknobs I see. I bought one for $25 in an architectural salvage store last week. It appears to be brass. Do you think I got a good deal?

A Doorknob collecting can be a lot of fun. In the early 19th century, people still opened doors with their thumbs. Their doors were fitted with wrought-iron thumb latches. Some of the earliest brass doorknobs in the U.S. started appearing around that same time. They were fixed to surface-mounted locks. Brass, bronze, pottery and glass hardware were popular in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. In the 1950s to 1970s, urban renewal programs caused many aging Victorian houses to be destroyed, with the loss of artistic hardware. The destruction spurred the creation of the Antique Doorknob Collectors of America. Detailed information can be found at their website, www.AntiqueDoorKnobs.org. Knobs can be found in second-hand shops, at demolished building sites, flea markets, malls, online shops and auctions. It looks like what you paid is a fair price.

— Innovia Foundation —

Spokane, Wash. – Innovia Foundation is excited to announce the opening of the fourth annual Photo Contest: Together for Good. We believe we all have something to contribute to the place we call home. In our work, we are joining together for good. We invite local photographers to join us in this effort by submitting images that showcase the unique identity and spirit of our communities.

Free and open to photographers of all skill levels, participants can submit photographs to the following six categories: People, Landscape/Wildlife, Arts and Culture, Community, Nonprofit Mission in Action, and Youth (open to photographers ages 0-17). Photographs must be taken within Innovia Foundation's 20-county service area and submitted by Friday, June 2.

To benefit the inspiring nonprofit organizations serving our region, the first-place overall photographer will receive a $1,000 grant awarded to their favorite 501(c)3 organization, a canvas print of their photograph and a feature on our website. Winners in each individual category will receive a $200 grant awarded to a nonprofit of their choice, a canvas print, and showcasing on our website.

A full list of contest awards, rules and instructions for submission can be found at innovia.org/photo-contest. Any questions about the contest can be directed to Rachel Quick at rquick@innovia.org.

About Innovia Foundation

As the community foundation for Eastern Washington and North Idaho, we partner with people who want to improve their communities and make the world better. We work together to identify and respond to our region's greatest opportunities, help those in need, and leave a lasting impact. Our mission is to ignite generosity that transforms lives and communities. We envision vibrant and sustainable communities where every person has the opportunity to thrive. Each year, Innovia Foundation invests over $10 million into our communities through grants and scholarships.

The Three Birthdays of George Washington

George Washington has had at least three official birthdays. He was born Feb. 11, 1731. But that was according to the Julian calendar used at the time. When the Gregorian calendar was adopted, his birthday was recorded as Feb. 22, 1732. (Read about how the calendar was changed if you've never learned this.)

President Chester Arthur renamed Washington's official birthday as Presidents Day in 1885. Then in 1968, the Unified Monday Holiday Act was passed and became law in 1971. The act moved certain public holidays to Mondays to create three-day weekends, and the third Monday in February became the day for Washington's celebration (and an extra day off work). In 2022, Washington's birthday is observed on Feb. 21.

Glass Works Auctions sold the amber "Simon's Centennial Bitters, Trade Mark" bottle at their auction for $2,640. It is shaped like the bust of President Washington, with the product name embossed on the front below a large, round label panel.

Q.Is there a market for new, unused Woodstock tickets from 1969? We found some in the wall of an old house on our former property in New York, not far from Bethel.

A.The three-day Woodstock Music and Art Fair was originally intended to be held in Woodstock, New York, in August 1969. After objections were raised, the organizers moved the event three times until they were finally able to rent a farmer's field in Bethel, New York. Tickets sold in advance were $6 per day or $18 for a three-day ticket. Those sold on-site cost $8 or $24 for a three-day ticket.

Unused tickets sell at auctions today for a few hundred dollars depending on their condition. A three-day ticket that was originally $18 sold at a recent auction for $250. A three-day ticket sold on-site for $24 auctioned for $500. There are a lot of fake tickets that are worthless, but there's a good story behind your tickets that helps give them provenance and authenticity.

Watermelon And Berry Pizza For Dessert

Pizza for dessert? Here's a guilt-free, ridiculously simple and naturally sweet "pizza style" version of everyone's favorite locally grown foods – tasty watermelon and lots of berries. There are a few things in common with the pizza idea ... well, actually only two. The dessert presentation is round, and it has lots of tempting healthy, fresh toppings.

Plus, there's the wow factor when your kids proudly carry their work of culinary creativity to the table at an informal supper with your family and friends. They'll be so proud.

Kick it up for other events, too. We're making doubles for my son's birthday party this weekend, and topping them off with lots of bright candles.

WATERMELON AND BERRY PIZZA

Makes 6 servings

- 12 strawberries halved
- 6 mint leaves chopped
- 1 teaspoon balsamic vinegar
- 1 large watermelon slice (1 inch or more thick), 10 inches in diameter
- 6 ounces natural lemon-flavored yogurt, or 3 ounces creme fraiche
- 1/2 cup blueberries
- Mint sprigs for garnish (optional)

In a small bowl, drizzle balsamic vinegar over the strawberries, and stir. Set aside.

Let your junior chef wash and dry the whole watermelon. An adult should slice a 10-inch round at the center portion and set on a serving plate. (If your watermelon is smaller or larger, cut the widest portion for this dessert and adjust quantities.)

Evenly cut the slice into sixths. Pinch the cut triangles tightly together on the plate.

Ask your child to spread the yogurt or creme fraiche over the round.

Spoon the strawberries and blueberries over the yogurt. Sprinkle with chopped mint. I like to add an extra sprig of mint on the side or in the middle of the presentation.

Serve slices on a dessert plate.

ALTERNATE IDEAS

- Instead of using yogurt or creme fraiche, whip up a half cup of heavy cream with a 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla and a teaspoon of sugar, or whip cream with two teaspoons of honey.
- Fresh sliced peaches, nectarines and plums also are welcome add-ons to the dessert.

Miniclover is drought-tolerant, simple, stunning and sustainable with low-to-no maintenance

(Joan Casanova) That lush, green lawn most strive for is struggling to survive as our climate experiences “weather whiplash,” meaning abrupt swings in weather conditions from one extreme to another. Last season, drought conditions were so dire in California billboards shouted, “Brown is the New Green.” This season, despite early, extreme flooding in California, evidence suggests the length and depth of droughts will increase in upcoming years, becoming more frequent and severe.

Outdoor water usage is still astronomical, synthetic chemical use is ever-present and fuel-guzzling lawn blowers and mowers sing all summer. Traditional lawn maintenance is expensive, unnatural, untenable and increases greenhouse gasses, wastes water, pollutes ecosystems and reduces biodiversity.

Average American families use 320 gallons of water daily, about 30% outdoors, with more than half devoted to watering lawns and gardens, according to the EPA. Nationwide, landscape irrigation is estimated at almost one-third of all residential water usage, totaling nearly 9 billion gallons daily.

Gas-powered lawn mowers spew pollutants that can cause planet-warming gases, contributing to climate crisis and drought. According to the EPA, gas-powered lawn equipment releases more than 22 million tons of CO2 emissions and estimates over 17 million gallons of gasoline are spilled refueling lawn equipment; that's more than all oil spilled by Exxon Valdez.

There are many issues causing harm to environmental health, from the ridiculous, like billionaires taking 17-minute flights in private jets, producing 2 tons of CO2 emissions, to everyday lawn care wasting staggering amounts of water for aesthetics while polluting the environment through run-off and toxic emissions.

Cash rebates, up to $5,000, are being offered to some for the removal of grass lawns. To get the rebate, other water-efficient options must be put in place. It's time to take a page from the past; sowing clover seed can create a great-looking, water-efficient, sustainable lawn. Decades ago, clover was standard in lawn seed mixes. Then agricultural chemical companies created herbicides to rid lawns of broadleaf plants, killing everything but grass, clovers included, branding them weeds.

“Today, clover is making a comeback,” said Troy Hake, president and owner of Outsidepride.com, offering drought-tolerant grasses, clovers, wild-flower seeds and more. “Tik Tok’s #cloverlawn has over 65 million views, evidencing it’s time for sustainable options, like adding ‘miniclover’ or replacing lawns with it. Miniclover (trifolium repens), is one-third to half the size of white Dutch clover, only grows 4-6 inches and produces a thick, carpet-like look that blends well with turf. Less expensive than grass seed, it’s a natural solution for self-sustaining, low-maintenance lawns that look beautiful and help eliminate the need for fertilizers, herbicides, pesticides and weekly mowing. It’s healthier for people, pets, soil and waterways. You can’t go wrong with it.”

There's nothing you can do about those 17-minute private jet flights. However, anyone with a lawn can add-in miniclover and redefine what sustainable lawns and responsible lawn care looks like. Sales of miniclover rose dramatically last season, surely an indicator that this lawn renovation trend was well-received and continues to grow.

Benefits:

- Nitrogen fixer. Miniclover takes nitrogen from the air and “fixes” it in soil, eliminating the need to apply nitrogen, keeping lawns green and growing while adding natural nitrogen to surrounding soil.
- Drought tolerant. Miniclover is drought-tolerant and can stay green all summer with minimal watering.
- Deters bugs. Grubs that feed on grass roots will not eat miniclover, and adult beetles and bugs are deterred from laying eggs in it.
- Crowds out weeds. Miniclover is evenly dispersed via stolons (stems grow horizontally along the ground), crowding out weeds, preventing new weeds and controlling erosion.
- Low-to-no maintenance. You can mow miniclover – the more it’s cut, the smaller the leaf size – or let it grow. Miniclover only blooms once in summer, providing bees with nectar, or mowing will prevent blooming.
- Thrives in sun to partial shade. Miniclover does well in partial shade that receives some direct sunshine daily.
- Stands up to soil and subsoil compaction.
- Immune to “dog patches.” Dog urine discolours lawns, but miniclover stays green and lush.
- Feels soft and springy on bare feet and looks like ordered whimsy.

So... what's not to like?

Make Crispy Potato Chips in the Microwave

When you hear "farm to table," potato chips probably aren't the first thing to come to mind as a natural food you can prepare from your local grower. Say "potato chips" to kids, and they no doubt associate them with the crinkly bags bulging from grocery store shelves.

With a myriad of choices of tasty chips, I'm not inclined to regularly make my own, but it is super fun to show children how crispy potato chips can come out of your own kitchen in just minutes to accompany a sandwich at lunchtime.

Even if you don't have kids to share the experience with, slice up a spud – a medium potato makes about 35 chips – and give them center stage with appetizers when friends pop over. I season the chips with garlic salt to add zip to the crunch.

Oh, you may be wondering, do they taste great? Just ask my adult son, who saw my fresh batch neatly piled on a plate and declared them the best chips ever. "Umm, Bjorn, they were for the photo for the column," I said when I caught him in the act. "No worries, Mom," he replied, tossing the last chip in his mouth. "Like you say, they only take minutes to make."

MICROWAVE POTATO CHIPS

Makes about 35 chips

- 1 medium russet or red potato, peeled or unpeeled
- Olive oil
- Salt

- Garlic powder, dried herbs and spices (optional)

Use a mandoline slicer or hand-slicing tool to cut the potato widthwise into 1/8-inch to 1/16-inch slices. If you opt to slice them with a knife, make sure the thickness is equal. Place in a bowl of cold water for about 5 minutes.

Ask your child to set the slices on a paper towel or clean kitchen towel. Pat well to dry.

Drizzle a dinner-sized plate with olive oil. (I prefer a clear glass plate.) Your child will enjoy using a basting brush to spread a thin layer of the oil over the plate. Arrange some of the slices in a single layer, making sure they don't touch. Lightly brush them with oil.

Place in microwave on high for 3 minutes. An adult should open the microwave and turn the potato slices over with a spatula (plate will be very hot). Microwave another 2 minutes or more until brown to ensure that they are crisp. You may need to do an additional minute. Transfer to a serving plate and sprinkle with salt and additional seasoning, if you wish.

Drizzle a bit more olive oil on a microwave-safe plate and repeat with remaining slices. Serve the same day.

Note: Times will vary according to your microwave, plate and thickness of the slices.

Fill Your Home with Comforting Color

— Family Features —

In the world of design, what's old inevitably becomes new again, and a similar pattern is inspiring today's on-trend color palettes for home decor. The latest styles reflect reviving and comforting colors influenced by heritage and romance, lending to a look that is familiar in an individualistic way.

Whether living through the romance of rural lifestyles, the comfort of home or the nostalgia from far-off times, some of today's most beloved design aesthetics celebrate the past, present and future while bringing balance, hope and comfort for you and your family to embrace.

Timeless Color

Using color to evoke feelings and emotions is hardly new but combining a carefully curated color palette with other design elements can allow you to create a look that pays homage to the past while breathing new life into your living space.

Reimagining classic, familiar tones allows you to achieve a design motif that is equal parts reminiscent and refreshing.

"The Vintage Homestead Color Collection offers an effortless look that reveals the importance of being hopeful to find stability and balance," said Ashley Banbury, HGTV Home by Sherwin-Williams senior color designer. "Our 2023 Color Collection of the Year revives elements from the past that are perfectly paired with vintage, comfortable and classic colors."

Blending Past and Present

Striking a balance between old and new can take many forms, as these styles show:

- Heritage Revival: An interest in reviving the past is evident in design trends like a remerging appreciation of antiques and vintage elements, such oversized furniture and traditional shapes. To capture this style, your design should focus on contrasting old and new for a mix-and-match look.

A cohesive color scheme can allow the various elements to stand on their own while working in harmony for an intentional design. For example, the HGTV Home by Sherwin-Williams 2023 Color Collection of the Year includes a combination of familiar tones that have been thoughtfully curated by design experts who borrow color and design concepts from the past for a hopeful future and a sense of belonging. Hues like Poetry Plum and Hot Cocoa evoke warmth and depth, while moderate shades like Restrained Gold and Glamour offer fresh ways to incorporate mid-range neutrals. Meanwhile, soft tones like Natural Linen and Cool Beige offer subtle color for lighter, brighter spaces.

- Mixing and Matching of Eras: A new take on retro design is emerging in which eras are blended and new and old furnishing work side by side. To get this look, you'll craft a space that marries historical and contemporary design, celebrating both old and new. To design for longevity, incorporate pieces that are ambiguous in era and stand the test of time.

- Vintage Homestead: Reviving design elements from the past with mixed patterns, classic shapes and vintage decor adds up to comfortable and comforting design. With this trend, prints and patterns encompass a range of styles, reinforcing how interiors connect to fashion. Mixing classic elegance with sleek vintage shapes is refining the concept of polished comfort. To achieve the look, curate pieces in heritage shapes and patterns, along with retro accents. Be sure to incorporate vintage lighting and glass, as well.

A versatile color choice like Darkroom, the 2023 Color of the Year from HGTV Home by Sherwin-Williams, is an alluring shade that is classic enough for heritage interiors but also modernly retro for a throwback-inspired aesthetic. It's a neutral perfect for creating an eclectic yet modern look inside and out.

Get inspired to combine the past with the present for a comforting design that's all your own at hgtvhomebysherwinwilliams.com.
