Ice Decanters Make Outdoor Parties Magical

Planning a party this spring and summer on a budget? Fill an easy-to-freeze ice decanter with fresh lemonade for your next neighborhood party, and get ready for the ooh's and ah's when friends see the icy wonder! It's a frozen party asset that won't break the bank. Easy, fun, magical, and guaranteed to be cold!

Here's how to create an ice decanter. You'll need:

- 1 clean, empty half-gallon of standard cardboard milk, orange juice or lemonade carton with the top opened wide
- Empty and clean liter-sized glass of sparkling water, or a wine bottle with the top labels removed
- Fresh fruits such as a lemons, oranges, limes and strawberries
- Fresh dill or mint
- Masking tape
- Funnel

Here's the fun: Cut off the top portion of the juice carton if you wish, or keep it in place with the top portion left opened wide. (If you don't cut it, you could fill it near the top with water so that ice reaches up to the bottle's neck.) Set the bottle in the center of the carton and fill it a quarter full with water.

Let kids tuck sprigs of dill or mint and several thick lemon, orange or lime slices in the water around the bottle. Set tape over the top of the bottle and attach to the outer sides of the carton to keep the bottle in place in the center of the carton. Freeze.

Remove the carton from the freezer, then fill with more water, fruit slices and herbs until the water reaches close to the top of the carton. Refreeze.

To use, tear off the carton with your kids to reveal the surprise creation. You may need to run warm water around the carton, or an adult may cut the length of the carton with a knife to release it easily.

Set a funnel on the mouth of the bottle and fill it with lemonade or your preferred beverage. Place the filled ice decanter on a rimmed plate lined with a thin towel. Wrap and tie a cloth napkin around the lower portion of the ice block for easy handling.

Extra Idea: Make a floral ice sculpture. Fill the carton with water, add short-stemmed flowers such as roses, and freeze. The flowers will be suspended in the ice that encases the bottle.

The Bruce Festival Returns to Boundary Fairgrounds

Annual festival sharing Scottish/Irish heritage extends to two days in August

— Monica Thomas —

The Bruce Festival, which hosted its first year last summer in honor of the 750th birthday of Robert the Bruce (aka King Robert I of Scotland), is back for its second year, and this time, they're doubling it!

With so much popularity last year—in addition to more artifacts, more uncovered history, and more vendors—The 2nd Annual Bruce Festival is going to encompass two full days, giving you plenty of time to grab your tickets and make a day of it with your family.

According to John Miller, creator of the event and descendant of Robert the Bruce, "The Bruce Festival is a unique opportunity for our community to come together and celebrate the rich cultural heritage of Scotland and Ireland through the lens of the life and legacy of Robert the Bruce. Attendees can expect to be transported to a world of Sottish and Irish traditions."

This family-friendly event will feature tons of cultural vendor booths including authentic food and drink, guest speakers and storytellers, musicians such as the St. Andrews Society, dancers, a sword fighting arena with a discussion led by a local, trained fencer, genealogy, video and photographic presentations from recent trips to Scotland, adorable miniature Highland Cows, and lots more!

Festival days will run from 11am-6pm Saturday–Sunday, August 16th–August 17th, and will be located at Boundary County Fairgrounds, 6567 Recreation Park Road in Bonners Ferry. Tickets are just $10 for adults, $25 for families, with free admission for children 6 years and younger.

Dressing up is always encouraged, but never required.

How to get invovled:

Do you have something to sell that fits with this festival? They're still accepting vendor applications.

Want to attend for free? They're looking for volunteers for the event! Sign up on their website and receive free admission as well as a free meal ticket.

There are also sponsorship and business advertising opportunities available if you would like to help grow this amazing venture that not only celebrates the rich culture of the Scottish and Irish but also helps educate those interested in learning more about history.

All information can be found at www.thebrucefestival.com or by emailing: john@thebrucefestival.com.

Majestic Moose

There are few things in nature more majestic than a moose, but that doesn't mean you would want one visiting your garden! A typical adult bull moose is about 6 feet tall and weighs over 1,000 pounds, making the species the largest member of the deer family. Most of us with gardens have seen the devastation a deer can wreak on flowerbeds. Now imagine what an even bigger version could do.

Moose are herbivores and can eat about 50 pounds of plant matter a day, and they aren't picky about which plants they eat. Gardeners in the northernmost U.S., especially Alaska, know that not much can get between a 1,000-pound animal and the trees, shrubs and vegetables it sees as a snack. Even a six-foot fence, the most reliable deterrent, doesn't always work. But there are no such worries with this zinc garden figure of a moose, which sold for $3,328 at New Orleans Auction Galleries. At 61 inches tall, it's about the size of a real moose, antlers and all, but this one will accent your garden plants instead of eating them.

Q: I have two newspapers that I found in a relative's historical storage box containing research paperwork tracing their lineage. One is "The Rebel," dated August 9, 1862. The other is "The Daily Citizen" (first edition?) dated July 2, 1863. It is printed on a green floral designed wallpaper. How do I tell if they are authentic?

A: Both of your newspapers have famously been copied and reprinted since the 19th century. The earliest copies were made as souvenirs for G.A.R. reunions. Later ones were made to observe the 50th and 100th anniversaries of the Civil War. "The Daily Citizen" was published by J.M. Swords in Vicksburg, Mississippi. During the Civil War, many publishers in the South ran out of newsprint, so Swords printed issues of "The Daily Citizen" on wallpaper. The July 2, 1863, edition has a note from the Union forces that captured Vicksburg, declaring "This is the last wall-paper edition" and "It will be valuable hereafter as a curiosity." It is extremely

Know Your Family's Heart History

An important step in learning about hypertrophic cardiomyopathy

— Family Features —

Hypertrophic Cardiomyopathy (HCM) Awareness Day, observed every year on the last Wednesday of February, is a chance to shine a light on a heart condition that runs in families but often goes undiagnosed. Knowing your family's heart history could help prevent sudden cardiac death.

What is HCM?

HCM is the most common inherited heart disease, affecting 1 in 500 people in the U.S., according to the American Heart Association. It causes the heart muscle to thicken, making it harder for the heart to pump blood. Some people with HCM feel symptoms like fatigue, dizziness, chest pain or shortness of breath while others may not notice anything at all.

Because HCM runs in families, first-degree relatives – including parents, siblings and children – should be screened if a family member has been diagnosed. An echocardiogram or genetic testing can catch HCM early, helping prevent complications and guide treatment.

Why Does This Matter for Young Athletes?

HCM is the leading cause of sudden cardiac death in young athletes, sometimes with no warning signs. Research shows Black male athletes in high-intensity sports like football and basketball may be at higher risk.

In the past, athletes with HCM were often told to avoid intense exercise. Today, AHA/ACC/AMSSM/HRS/PACES/SCMR Guideline for the Management of Hypertrophic Cardiomyopathy have found many people with HCM can safely stay active. Each athlete should work with a doctor who understands HCM to create a safe exercise plan.

Where Can You Find Support?

Living with HCM can be overwhelming, but no one has to go through it alone. For example, the American Heart Association's Support Network connects people with HCM, caregivers and loved ones so they can share experiences, ask questions and find encouragement from others.

If you have a family history of heart disease, cardiac arrest or HCM, talk to a doctor about getting screened. To learn more about HCM and resources for student-athletes and young adults, visit heart.org/HCMStudentAthlete.

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

On Aug. 11, 1806, while hunting for elk along the Missouri River, Meriwether Lewis was accidentally shot by one of his own men, likely Private Pierre Cruzatte, though Cruzatte, who was blind in one eye and nearsighted in the other, denied it. Historians suspect he mistook the leather-clad Lewis for an elk. Lewis made a full recovery.

On Aug. 12, 1994, Major League Baseball players went on a strike that lasted for 232 days and caused the cancellation of that year's World Series for the first time in 90 years.

On Aug. 13, 1941, Henry Ford displayed his "Soybean Car," the plastic body of which was partially composed of the legumes. It weighed half as much as a steel-bodied car and Ford claimed it was safer, but the model never actually went into production.

On Aug. 14, 1985, the "King of Pop," Michael Jackson, bought the publishing rights to the vast majority of the Beatles' catalog for a cool $47 million. After his death, Sony, one of his primary creditors, assumed full control of the catalog.

On Aug. 15, 1950, Princess Anne, the second child and only daughter of England's Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip, was born. She has long been widely admired for her seemingly tireless work ethic (she does not plan to retire until she's 90) and involvement with more than 300 charities, as well as her general practicality and reliability.

On Aug. 16, 1987, a plane crash at Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Michigan killed 156 people, including Nick Vanos, a center for the NBA's Phoenix Suns, and left just one survivor, 4-year-old Cecelia Cichan of Tempe, Arizona. The accident was determined to have been caused by pilot error, with speculation that the pilots might have been rushing their pre-flight checks to avoid incoming bad weather.

On Aug. 17, 1977, the day after Elvis Presley died, FTD delivered more than 3,100 floral arrangements, not only cleaning out Memphis-area florists, but setting a record for the most flowers sold in America in just one day.

Allegiance

— Vivian E. Bogardus—

Our grand old flag once flew so proud.
We pledged allegiance right out loud with our hand held proudly over our heart.
United then, we loved her name, but now she hangs her head in shame.
It is all of us who are to blame.
Together, we must do what is right
the people of AMERICA must unite.
If war breaks out no one will win, only with unity will peace begin.

"Students' Choice" Corn Dip Is a Snack-Attack Hit

When college kids return home for the summer, they spend the first few days catching up on sleep, seeing friends, and eventually dumping out a semester's worth of laundry from bulging duffel bags. But 21-year-old Tommy Bennett had an extra thought on his mind when he landed in Minnesota after his junior year at Pepperdine University in California. Within moments of arriving, he made a dash to the neighborhood market to pick up ingredients for a corn dip recipe that he and four roommates -- Sean, Mack, John and Erik -- made famous with their classmates. Corn dip!

"I can't live a day without it," he said as he stirred up a taste test for me in his mom's biggest serving bowl. "It's a perfect snack with tortilla chips when friends come by and a good spread on toast and crackers when you need something to tide you over after studying late at night. We always doubled the recipe at school to have plenty to go around. When we ran out after four or five days, we rotated who bought the ingredients. And it only takes 10 minutes to make!" he added.

Not only was I impressed by the simple steps and taste (it gets its kick from the jalapenos), but I was also happily reminded of the pleasure that we adults can experience when learning something new from our kids and their friends.

Here is their easy recipe, which you can make famous in your household this spring and summer. Experiment with it and use it as a dip for raw vegetables or as a tasty filling with coarsely shredded carrots and sliced sugar snap peas in flour tortilla wraps.

CORN DIP

Yields 4 cups

- 2 (15-ounce) cans Southwest Mexicorn with sweet peppers, drained
- 1 (4-ounce) can diced roasted green chilies, drained
- 1 (4-ounce) can diced jalapenos, drained
- 2 green onions (scallions), finely chopped
- 3/4 cup light mayonnaise
- 2/3 cup light sour cream
- 2 cups sharp cheddar cheese, shredded

Combine all ingredients in a large bowl. Chill, covered, for several hours or overnight to allow flavors to intensify. Serve with corn chips in scoop shapes.

Keeps well in the refrigerator (covered) for four to five days. Stir before serving.

3rd Annual “Blazing Fiddles” FUNdraiser Supports Symphony’s Mission and Music Education

— CdA Symphony —

Coeur d’Alene, ID — The Coeur d’Alene Symphony Orchestra is proud to host its 3rd Annual Blazing Fiddles FUNdraiser on Wednesday, August 20th, 2025, from 5:30pm to 8:30pm at the stunning Elk Point Events, overlooking Lake Coeur d’Alene (4176 E. Potlatch Hill Rd., Coeur d’Alene, ID). This cherished summer event brings the community together in support of the Symphony’s year-round performances, youth outreach, and arts education programs.

More than just a festive evening of food and entertainment, Blazing Fiddles plays a vital role in the sustainability of the Symphony’s mission: to inspire, educate, and connect through the power of live orchestral music. Proceeds from the fundraiser help make concerts accessible to families and students, provide music education opportunities, and keep classical music alive and thriving in North Idaho.

This important event is made possible thanks to the generous support of local sponsors including Northwest Specialty Hospital, Allegra Marketing-Print-Mail, and Pinkerton Retirement Specialists. Their commitment to the arts reflects the heart of a community that values culture, creativity, and collaboration.

Tickets are on sale now and include a spectacular evening with stunning views, lively entertainment, and the chance to make a real difference in the cultural life of our region.

Reserve your spot today at: auctria.com/auction/2025BlazingFiddles

To Help Baby Animals Survive, Leave Them Alone

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

If you're out and about outside or even at home and you notice a baby animal alone, don't take pity. Take off. You might think you're saving a life, but you're actually risking it.

It's important to understand that wildlife care for their young much differently than humans. One strategy that some species, particularly those species typically preyed upon by other animals (deer, rabbits, birds), use is to distance themselves from their young for many hours at a time. This helps to keep predators away from their young. For example, fawns are born without a scent, and it is safer for them if their mother, who has a scent, is not nearby. This also can potentially distract a predator into focusing on the doe rather than its offspring.

Wild animals thrive better where they have plenty of natural habitat (food, water, shelter, space). The potential to spread wildlife disease is also a good reason to leave young wildlife alone. Baby ground squirrels, raccoons and rabbits can carry zoonotic diseases, which means diseases that are infectious for humans. Examples include plague, hemorrhagic diseases and tularemia.

If you see a baby animal, whether a goose or a grizzly, keep your distance and leave it alone. Handling baby animals can be dangerous, and usually once young animals are picked up by people they can't be rehabilitated.

FWP does not accept, hold or rehabilitate moose, deer, elk and most other animals, including waterfowl. If you bring a deer or elk to FWP, you'll be asked to take the animal back to the site where it was found. If the animal can't be returned, it may need to be humanely euthanized.

What can you do?

Leave it there. It's natural for deer, elk, rabbits and birds to leave their young alone for extended periods of time.

Control your dog. Keep your dog under control, especially in the spring when newborn wildlife is most vulnerable. Pet owners can be cited and dogs that harass or kill wildlife may by law have to be destroyed.

Keep cats indoors. Many birds nest and feed on the ground. Young birds are also learning how to fly, making them vulnerable to cats. The bacteria in cat saliva are toxic to birds, so even if a cat does not immediately kill a bird, its bite often leads to infection and death.

Keep in mind. It is illegal to possess and care for a live animal taken from the wild.

If you are unsure if an animal needs help, call your local wildlife biologist.

Purple Heart Day

August 7th

— National Day Calendar —

Purple Heart Day, on August 7th, commemorates the creation of the oldest American military decoration for military merit. The Purple Heart honors the men and women who are of the Military Order of the Purple Heart. During the American Revolutionary War, the Badge for Military Merit decorated six known soldiers.

General George Washington created the Badge of Merit in 1782. Washington intended the honor to be presented to soldiers for "any singularly meritorious action." Its design included a purple, heart-shaped piece of silk bound with a thin edge of silver. Across the face, the word Merit was embroidered in silver. While the badge symbolized the courage and devotion of an American Patriot, no one knows who designed the award.

Until Washington's 200th birthday, the Purple Heart persisted as a Revolutionary War footnote. Through the efforts of General Douglas MacArthur, the U.S. War Department created the Order of the Purple Heart. Today the medal bears a bust of George Washington and his coat of arms.

While an accurate and complete list of names no longer exists, National Geographic recently estimated that nearly 1.9 million service members have earned Purple Hearts since its creation. It is the oldest U.S. military honor still bestowed upon service members today. Until 1944, the Purple Heart recognized service members' commendable actions as well. Then in 1944, the requirements limited the award to only those wounded or killed in combat.

Purple Heart Firsts

- The Badge of Military Merit replaced the Fidelity Medallion. At the time, William Brown and Elijah Churchill received the first honors with the Badge of Military Merit during the Revolutionary War.
- Army General Douglas MacArthur received the first modern-day Purple Heart.
- The first woman receives a Purple Heart. Following her actions during the attack on Pearl Harbor, Army Lt. Annie G. Fox received the Purple Heart during World War II.

HOW TO OBSERVE PURPLE HEART DAY

Purple Heart Day encourages us to honor everyone who has received a Purple Heart. We can also learn more about the Military Order of the Purple Heart.

While celebrating the heroes who earned the honor, learn more about them.

- Read For Military Merit: Recipients of the Purple Heart by Fred L. Borch or Purple Heart by Patricia McCormick.
- Watch a documentary. We recommend Purple Heart Warriors: Tears of a Warrior by Tony Seahorn.
- Visit a military museum. The National Purple Heart Hall of Honor or The National WWII Museum both offer in-depth history on the Purple Heart.

Another way to celebrate is by sharing your discoveries. You can also recognize someone who has received a Purple Heart. Express why you think it's important to celebrate Purple Heart Day. When you do, use #PurpleHeartDay to post on social media.

Purple Heart Day History

Since 1932, Americans have celebrated Purple Heart Day on both Washington's birthday and Valentine's Day. Some states and cities observed the day in their own way at different times throughout the year. Each declaration encouraged citizens to support wounded veterans with the purchase of a purple viola.

No matter when the observance occurred, it recognized the men and women killed and wounded in combat and their heroic actions. As the day evolved, it more commonly was observed on the day of the Purple Heart's creation, August 7, 1782.

Paw's corner
by Sam Mazzotta

On Road Trips, Pet Safety and Comfort are Premiums

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: My girlfriend and I are traveling across the country to a relative's wedding in about six weeks. We decided to make it a road trip so that we can bring along our two small dogs, "Jeannie" and "Peppy." Jeannie loves traveling by car, but Peppy gets anxious even on short trips. What's your advice for keeping him calm? Will hotels allow the dogs in? -- Carol and Ginny in Philadelphia

DEAR CAROL & GINNY: A road trip with a dog can be one of the most rewarding experiences you'll ever have. But planning ahead of time for your dog's comfort and safety is really important.

Collaborate with the veterinarian as you prepare -- they can recommend specific training, calm-down techniques and prescribe antianxiety medication as well.

Desensitization and counterconditioning may help. It takes consistent daily training, and could take longer than you have before the upcoming trip. Start outside the car with Peppy on a leash. The moment he shows stressed behaviors (yawning, lip licking, barking, pulling away) pause or back away until he relaxes again. Then, using lots of praise, move toward the car. Ideally, you'll get closer each session until you finally climb into the back seat with Peppy and sit together for a short period. Here's a link with more details on this training method: www.preventivevet.com/dogs/preventing-travel-anxiety-and-carsickness-in-dogs

Meantime, plan your driving route. The major booking apps now have a "pet-friendly" filter setting so you can locate accommodating hotels and reserve rooms. You'll also want to mark rest stops along the highways and set a timer (every two hours or so) to stop and stretch.

Lastly, make sure to include the dogs' medications, food, toys, leashes and medical records in your packing list, and have them wear their collars with vaccination tag and ID tag in case you're separated.

Send your tips, comments or questions to ask@pawscorner.com

Add a Little Sweetness to Any Occasion

— Culinary.net via Family Features —

It's almost impossible to beat the combination of sweet fruit and decadent desserts. This delicious recipe for Apple Cake highlights the crisp fruit but also the cinnamon sugar-flavored pastry. It's luscious but doesn't overdo it on the sweet meter with just the right mix of flavors.

The cake is baked with the apples inside as the middle layer, which creates a moist, finished product. The apples are gooey, baked in a cinnamon sugar coating, making them a sweet and light complement to the perfectly baked cake.

Start by mixing the apples with cinnamon and, of course, sugar. Set the mixture aside. Now it's time for cake. First, mix all the dry ingredients together then mix in the wet ingredients.

The secret to this cake is creating layers that will hold up. Pour half of the batter into a round springform pan first then add apple mixture and top it all with the rest of the cake batter.

Finally, for a little extra sweetness, sprinkle 1 tablespoon of sugar over the top of the cake before baking.

Once baked, this cake can be drizzled with icing (if you'd like) to make it an even more delightful treat to satisfy any sweet tooth.

This cake is perfect for any get-together, families looking for an after-dinner indulgence or anyone who just loves fruity desserts. It's delectable enough for fancy occasions, but also simple enough to make at home for just a couple.

With fluffy cake layers and a soft apple center, this cake does it all. Not to mention the drip of icing at the end that all but guarantees everyone will be asking for seconds.

Apple Cake

Servings: 8-16

- 3 cups Honeycrisp apples, peeled, cored and diced
- 3 teaspoons cinnamon
- 6 tablespoons, plus 2 cups, sugar, divided
- 3 cups flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup oil
- 4 eggs, beaten
- 1/4 cup orange juice
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- icing (optional)

- Heat oven to 350 F.
- In medium bowl, mix apples, cinnamon and 5 tablespoons sugar until combined. Set aside.
- In large bowl, mix flour, 2 cups sugar, baking powder and salt until combined. Form well in middle of mixture. Add oil, eggs, orange juice and vanilla; mix until blended.
- In springform pan, pour half of batter. Add apple mixture. Pour remaining batter over apple mixture. Sprinkle remaining sugar over batter.
- Bake 40-50 minutes, or until top is golden brown and tester comes out clean and dry.
- Drizzle with icing, if desired.

International Left Handers Day

August 13th

— National Day Calendar —

International Left Handers Day on August 13th recognizes all those individuals who have mastered using their left hand in a right-handed world. We take our hats off to you – left-handed!

Approximately 10% of the population are south-paws. Scientists don't know why a person develops left-handedness. But it's more likely a child will be left-handed if one parent is a lefty, too. Parents of left-handed children used to force them to use their right hands. In the eyes of right-handers, the predominant use of the left hand seemed evil. Parents feared their communities would shun their children. While we accept left-handedness more readily than days gone by, its occurrence hasn't increased.

Famous Lefties

Many lefties seek to blend in because they will stand out soon enough. Their unique quality makes them feel awkward. They bump elbows or seem like a klutz. However, in a world designed for the right-handed, those who are other dominant adapt quite well. For example, eight United States presidents were left-handed, including Ronald Reagan, George H.W. Bush, Bill Clinton, and Barack Obama. Would the Sistine Chapel and the Mona Lisa stand the test of time if Michaelangelo and Leonardo de Vinci had been right-handed?

Don't be shy on Left-Handers Day. Show the world how brilliant and unique you are!

How To Observe International Left Handers Day

Left Handers Day recognizes the uncommon individual who throws, catches, writes, and uses a fork with their left hand. They view the world just a little differently, too. At a restaurant, they seek out the seat that will place their dominant elbow on the outside of the booth. Right-handed athletes groan a bit when the southpaw shows up as an opponent on the roster. They present a challenge right-handers aren't always sure how to handle due to lack of practice. And yet, lefties square off against righties all the time.

Use #NDCClassroom to let share your ideas with us.

International Left Handers Day History

International Left Handers Day was founded in 1992 in the United Kingdom. Because of the popularity of this observation in the United States, the Registrar at National Day Calendar added the day to its list of national days.

Pets of the Week: Benson and Moki

— Companions Animal Center —

Don't let the gray muzzle fool you—Benson's still got plenty of pep in his step! This spirited senior has a big personality and an even bigger love for squeaky toys. Watching him parade around with one in his mouth will absolutely make your day. He's the best of both worlds: playful like a pup, but with the wisdom of a dog who's been around the block. His hips aren't perfect, but that doesn't stop him from enjoying his walks—or the occasional zoomies! He's a strong guy, so he'll do best with someone who can keep up. If you're looking for a joyful, goofy companion with plenty of love (and squeaks) to give, Benson's your guy.

Moki is a big boy with an even bigger heart. This older gent is looking for a calm, adult-only home where he can feel safe, stretch his legs, and continue his weight-loss journey at a steady, healthy pace. He's already making great progress, but he'll thrive with a consistent routine and someone who understands the importance of daily walks, good nutrition, and gentle encouragement. Moki enjoys a peaceful environment and does best when things are low-key—loud noises and busy households just aren't his style. What he really wants is a quiet home, a comfy bed, and a human who's committed to helping him live his best life. Before considering Moki, please make sure you have the time, space, and resources to support him through the rest of his journey. He's worth it—and he's ready to be your loyal companion for the long haul.

Adoptions by appointment. Companions Animal Center is located at 10275 N Atlas Rd, Hayden, ID. We are open to the public Tuesday-Saturday noon-6pm, Sunday noon-4pm, and closed Mondays. Visit www.companionsanimalcenter.org or call 208-772-4019 for more information.

Pets of the Week: Willow and Ebenezar

— Second Chance Pet Rescue —

Hello everybody! I'm Willow and I'm a 1-year-old purebred German Wirehair Pointer. I was dumped at a shelter in southern Utah after I did not make it as a hunting dog. You see I don't like that stick that goes boom!! But, I have so many other endearing features. I'm super friendly with all people, especially kids. I get along great with all other dogs. Every size both sexes. I'm fine with a cat that won't run! I'm housebroken crate trained and stay nicely in a 6-ft fence. My off lead recall is pretty good and my obedience while a little rusty, it's there! My foster mom says I'm actually on the mellow side for a Pointer, I like to lay around and relax as much as I like to run, play and chase. Do you have a spot in your home for me?

Hello everybody, I'm Ebenezer! I'm a two to three-year-old neutered male Black German Shepherd mix, possibly with husky or maybe border collie... A DNA test which should be fun for me says my foster mom! I'm seeking a home as an only child. You see I get along great with other dogs, until I don't and then I usually always win! I'm great with adults but have not been around any small children. Probably best to be in a home without them just because I'm quite a large boy and I really love to run and play and be rowdy. I would make an excellent companion for a young outdoorsy exploring person/couple who likes to go camping and hiking and wants to feel safe in the woods. I promise no bears will get you on my watch! Do you have a home where you could keep me exercised and happy? I'm housebroken crate trained and stay nicely in a fenced yard. I can be left home alone all day and you can come home and everything will be the same as when you left! I'm a really good boy.

Please email Idahocoondog@yahoo.com or log on to www.scpr.petfinder.com for more info and an adoption application.
